

Presiding over the 1966 Junior Class was Steve Hetherington.

Gigi Bolles, vice-president, and Pat Boyd, secretary, finish putting up a sign for one of our money raising projects.

Juniors '66

Concluding our sophomore year we went into our Junior year with the vigor and enthusiasm of our A-Go-Go generation. We worked hard on the bottle drive, car wash, style show, and the various money-making projects to earn money to make our prom the very best, and the most successful one ever. With the help of our officers, sponsors, and each individual, we did succeed in making the 1966 junior class one we could be proud of. With expectation and maybe a little fear we will promote into our senior year and finally say, we made it.

The Junior Class could not have achieved many of its goals without the help of its Class Sponsors, Miss Jean Sugden, Mrs. Virginia Hughes, Mrs. Davis Wrights, Mrs. Cleo Mosley, Mr. Grover Sawyer, Mr. Dale Ernst, Mr. Jerry Glasgow, Mr. J. J. Brown, Mr. Starlin Powell, and Mr. W. C. Kincannon.

Juniors Look Forward To '66

Larry Huffman is trying to get away with enrollment cards while Mrs. Peterson enrolls Gail Patnode.

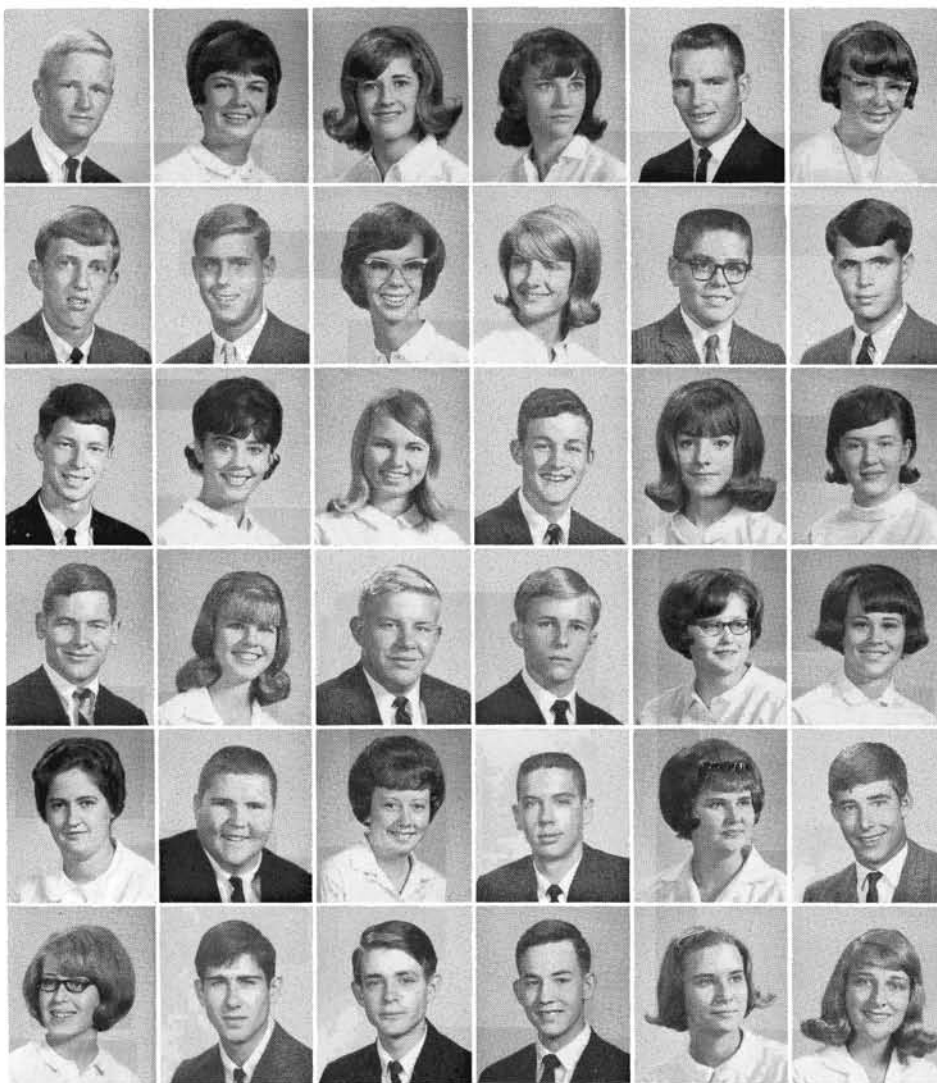

EEch! "What's that wiggly black thing in the cake?" questions Janet Beeson, as Mrs. Mosley ponders over the pastries at the F.T.A. Bake Sale.

David Stricklin seems to be telling a funny joke to Mimi Lowe as Vicki Cox and Wayne Veal listen attentively to the talents at the first hootenanny of the year.

"Would you believe two Barbie dolls?" says Bob Campbell, as he laughs at his own joke.

Setting an example for the sophomore class is its president, Gary Dickinson.

Sponsors for the class were Mr. Edward Kitchens, Mr. Ronald Hammons, Mrs. Clinton Brandt, and Mrs. Gaiser Maddox.

Sophomores Spark Interest

The sophomore class secretary and vice-president for 1966 were Suzanne Logan and Lisa Kimrey.

We, too, are a part of the A-Go-Go generation. From our first reluctant days of enrollment to the adulthood of a year well done, we, the sophomores, kept our spirits high, goals near, and minds busy. We strived to maintain the best in mind, health, and intellect throughout the year. Our sponsors, Mr. Edward Kitchens, Mr. Ronald Hammons, Mrs. Clinton Brandt, and Mrs. Gaiser Maddox, with the help of Gary Dickinson, class president; Lisa Kimrey, vice-president; and Suzanne Logan, secretary, gave our class careful guidance during the year. With their leadership and with enthusiasm from the sophomore student body we worked to advance in academics and school life. Other years will come and go, but we will always remember 1966—that Go-Go year.

Marla Johnson and Melinda Upchurch study industriously in the Student Center.

"But I didn't know it was boys' gym!" Becca Poston Kyle Hockman, DeeAnne Barbour, and Judy Behrman seemed confused at enrollment.

"Do you think we'll ever be Seniors?" asks Jimmy Belden of Suzanne Logan and Lee Ann Naifeh as they chat together in the Student Center.

"Finals coming up, and they're laughing?" Andrew Charles seems disturbed at Becky Rheudasil and Ann Key, as they take a break from cramming.

"And you expect me to believe this?" Carl Stevens seems skeptical as he reads his latest mail.
