Mount Olympus, 30 yr Hike

Optional activity

When: Saturday August 10, 2013

Time: Meet at Einstein Bagels on Wasatch Blvd at 8:30 a.m. (You can grab a bagel if you want and we can carpool to the trailhead) Hike will start around 9:00.

Hike info:

Name	Mount Olympus
Hike Length	6.4 miles round trip
Elevation gain	4,200 up
Summit elevation	9,026 feet
Time to complete	5.5 hours (30 minutes of those spent at the top)

The trail divides up into three portions. The first part is mostly out into the open and is a series of switchbacks with little cover from the sun. There are a lots of rock and it's mostly uphill, though the grade isn't too bad.

The second part is MUCH steeper and a large part of it goes through a fairly dense area of the oak trees here so a good share of the sun is blocked. There are no switchbacks here and it is up hill ALL the way. You will need to bring plenty of water, sunscreen, and moleskin or tape for possible blisters.

The third part is a scramble up a very vertical rocky part of the mountain. But before that you do reach a local summit. This is a very pretty area with many trees. At this point your elevation gain has been more than 3000 feet and you have gone over 3 miles. If this is as far as you go it is still well worth the climb.

The final climb is a near vertical climb of 500-600 feet. It requires you to use your hands and feet to make it. The views are spectacular in all directions. It'll be well worth it! What better way to share this accomplishment then with old friends and classmates. You are also welcome to bring your partners, spouses and older children along with you.

Number of children

Years married

How and where did you meet your current spouse or significant other?

Share some interesting events or unusual things about your children.

Share something funny that has happened to your family or something funny that happened on a trip or outing.

How would your kids describe you? How would your current friends describe you?

Have your spouse describe you. (This is where you leave the room and let them take control of the computer)

What was one of your favorite memories of High School?

Do you have a funny story about a friend from high school, during those years?

What is something about you that we might not know?

If possible would you share something that has shaped your life or had a dramatic shift on who you are today?
(i.e.: Adopting children from a foreign country, taking care of an older parent, or even an illness that had an effect on you, possibly even a child with some type of disabilities or struggles that had a life altering effect)

Do you know of a fellow Alumni who WE might contact that you know would have an interesting event that others might want to know about?

If possible could you upload approximately 5 photos that help us better understand you and your family? If you would rather choose to make a 2-3 minute video that would also let us better understand you and your family 30 years after high school.
