FOREWORD

*As a bulging storehouse of memories,
Memories of high school days
And the people who made them live—
Memories of the football players,
Of the snowy Abington game;
Memories of the hall patrol—
The boys who zealously left classes early;
Memories of crowded lunches
And the hopeful thought—a new school
soon;
Of satellites and space cadets,
Of open houses and stardust dances,
Of busy afternoons, of evening rehearsals,
Of work, of rest, of crazy excitement—
As a treasurehouse of all these memories
We offer this book to you.*

STIMULUS

DEDICATION

*To Mr. David McIlhenny—
For showing understanding and patience,
Patience with all of his students
As a teacher, and as a friend—
For having faith in today's teenager,
And acting as their champion;
For being an outstanding scholar—
A sportsman and coach to the boys;
For offering a helping hand and a warm grin
To all who needed a boost;
For holding the highest esteem
Of the faculty;
For showing sincere interest in all—
We dedicate our Yearbook.*

Mr. David McIlhenny

Working constantly behind the scenes, the administration staff kept CHS running smoothly. Its many duties included making up class schedules, distributing notices, processing college applications, and writing those all-important notes which got students into and out of classes. A special salute is due to those unsung heroines, the secretaries. Aided by girls from the commercial course, they daily handled piles of papers and notes in the operation of the two offices.

GUIDANCE

DIRECTOR OF GUIDANCE
Dr. Lois Gould Bream

Problems anyone? The able staff of the guidance department listened to hundreds every day, and solved a good percentage. Advising students on courses, college applications, and careers; conferring with parents on how they could best help their offspring; and working with teachers to keep interrelationships smooth and efficient—such activities provided the department with plenty of business.

As the link in the educational chain between the high school and colleges, it had to be doubly strong. The department received and channeled dozens of letters on scholarships and schools, welcomed college representatives, saw that they met their applicants, and forwarded all announcements of teas, meetings, and contests to the right people. Rushed as they were, staff members attempted to talk to each Chelt at least once a year.

TEACHERS

A bug in the bottom!

CHS offered a college preparatory course noted for both its high calibre and its diversity. An efficient faculty guided classes in all fields of academic learning. Enriched courses in most departments gave gifted students the advantage of participating in advanced work. Upon graduation most students were well-prepared for the academic standards of the colleges of their choice.

HOMEMAKING

Waagh! The sound of a baby's wails echoed through the halls. Slightly young for Cheltenham perhaps? Here as a visitor, he helped the girls taking the Domestic Course learn to diaper, to powder, and to perform other duties of motherhood. Required for all lasses not taking five academic courses each year, homemaking taught wives-to-be how to cook, sew, plan menus, make beds containing people, and keep house. Lucky husbands!

COMMERCIAL

The Commercial Department supplied training and practical experience in numerous fields of business procedure. A competent staff, under the leadership of Mr. Ralph Leuf, provided high quality instruction in the various branches of the department.

Several of the outstanding members of the accounting classes exercised their brains in the school bank, helping to keep track of the school's financial affairs. No matter what the time of day, a visitor to the office was sure to observe several girls from the Commercial Department lending their clerical ability to the never-ending task of keeping school records. Commercial students were fortunate to receive both a basic education and training that will be useful in their chosen careers.

INDUSTRIAL

Grinding it out

From the Industrial Arts building came the hum of constant activity. Efficient instruction, modern streamlined machinery, and individual genius resulted in the creation of innumerable wood and metal contraptions for all conceivable purposes. Mr. McCormick headed the mechanical drawing classes, which introduced the student to actual drawing board work. Chelts received excellent training in both of these industrial areas.

LIBRARY

Quiet pervaded the room. A student rose, tiptoed to the dictionary, leafed through its pages, whispered "Ah-hah", and crept back to his seat. Could such a scene really be found at Cheltenham? The library provided its setting every day. Codified by the Dewey Decimal System, its 10,000 books were neatly arranged in order. Stacks and stacks of periodicals waited to be read by young researchers. A phonograph with built-in earphones played music to "classical" fans. Miss Lillibridge, school librarian, proudly presided over all.

GENERAL

The general course furnished a well-rounded curriculum, with the accent on practical applications of subject matter. Offering some academic courses as electives, it prepared its students for either the business world or college.

Consultation

Working in a wide variety of media, Mr. Hoopes' art classes brightened the walls and bulletin boards of Cheltenham's corridors with landscapes, figure studies, and still-lives. Several senior Picassos presented their own "one man shows" in the alcove. Decorations for all dances and for the bazaar, and the design and production of spirit posters and pins kept the department busy and on its toes.

Jewelry makers cut, ground, and polished gems, taking advantage of the new facilities for working in fourteen-karat gold.

The class of '59 made its presence felt throughout the school in many ways this year. In addition to their week-to-week administration duties, the middle classmen undertook two beneficial projects: the sale of class pins and the creation of a novel Fun House on Cheltenham Hi Night last February. The clever circus theme of the Juniors and their efficient planning made the Junior-Senior Reception a memorable night for all.

This year's club program was designed to satisfy the diversified interests of the student body. The fact that this program was part of each student's curriculum, and the great variety of clubs offered, enabled all to participate in their favorite activities. Many clubs, such as Spirit and Student Council, performed beneficial services for the school, and they all provided recreational and educational opportunities.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council, celebrating an exemplary year under the sponsorship of Mr. Joseph Guarneri, served as a guidepost for student activities at Cheltenham. Presenting the opinions and suggestions of the student body was again the aim of the councilites. Among the outstanding accomplishments this year was the establishment of the Faculty Memorial Service Awards, which are book grants given to a boy and girl in memory of deceased teachers. Also accredited to the untiring efforts of Student Council are the success of Mad Hatters' Day and the annual CHS Bazaar.

Student Council Leaders

The Executive Committee, composed of the chairmen of the various Student Council committees, met weekly to discuss the problems involved in the administration of school activities. Joni Weatherley held the gavel and directed the meetings. Among the members were found Kitty Abey, Homeroom; Sue Brooks, Assembly; Mike Brown, Publicity; Mike Jarvis, Property; Carole Kalinowski, Bulletin Board; Judy Kaufman, Affiliation; Carol Martin, Spirit; Naomi Rothstein, Social; Joel Schwartz, Safety; and Harvey Shapiro, Cafeteria.

The planning of school-supported activities and the reviewing of suggestions made at the Leadership Conference occupied much of the time of this hard-working unit.

LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The doors of CHS swung wide open to admit students of various Philadelphia area schools who possessed one thing in common: an interest in leadership development. They gathered on that October day to talk about the duties, problems, and solutions involved in assuming the responsibilities of being both leaders and followers. After Dr. Lloyd Ashby's opening ovation to this second annual conference, students divided into problem clinics to discuss current topics and offer suggestions. The resounding success of the conference is a tribute to the efforts of chairman Harvey Shapiro and the whole-hearted participation of the student body.

CHELTONIAN

Step into that glass-enclosed room and enter a different world—a world of clacking typewriters, sixty-odd voices shouting at the same time, strange words like "make up," "copy," a head hanging out the window observing passing humanity—and out of this disorganized bedlam watch a newspaper take shape: the Cheltonian, our prize-winning publication. Heading the largest staff ever, editor-in-chief Paul Boyd, and Associate editor Dede Solit, assisted by page editors Ellen Gilbert, Carolina Simon, Mike Brown, and Judy Arons, supervised the new staff system. Under the counseling of Miss Jane Neide, writers earned minor credit by working after school, while sophs gained experience in journalism class and club. Trips to Drexel, Temple, and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association served to confirm the local journalists' belief that their school newspaper is one of the finest in the country.

Thirty seniors of diversified interests and talents joined forces in September to create El Delator under the meticulous guidance of Mr. Albert E. Weston.

After considering the qualifications of many applicants, Mr. Weston, with faculty aid, selected the Yearbook Club members. These elected as Editor-in-Chief, Tony Wolf; Assistant Editor, Betty Barton; Art Editor, Roz Skversky; and departmental editors Dede Solit, Judy Kaufman, Carol Wolman, and John Serber. Working with cameraman Lloyd Kreuzer, the advising "man behind the lens" was Mr. Harry Lance. Mr. Edward Hoopes served as faculty art adviser.

Busily designing layouts, planning pages, and writing articles, the staff saw March sneak up and doubled its efforts to meet the deadline.

Emphasizing photographs and attractive art layouts, Roz and her group rendered special emphasis to the use of modern and expressive design, serving to draw attention to life around the school.

After days of planning, hours of working, and nights of worrying, here is the result of their labor. They hope you enjoy it!

Serving as an outlet for Cheltenham's creative literary talent, the third annual Panther publication offered contributions from students of all classes. Co-ordinated by the twenty-two members of the Creative Writing Club, mentored by Mr. Albert E. Weston, the literary magazine featured poetry, edited by Louanne Kaliner, and stories, edited by Karen Jacobs, with Cara Sue Mann serving as Art editor.

Spreading the news, public relations reporters provided on-the-spot coverage of school events for local papers. The club, meeting every Monday, did a spectacular job of keeping CHS in the public eye. Extra credit is deserved by "chief" Mike Brown who worked beyond the call of duty regardless of the late hour or bad weather.

MUSIC

The Music Department, with Miss June Taylor directing the choral groups and Mr. Ronald Dellecker holding the baton for the band and orchestra, celebrated a concert season unsurpassed in CHS musical history. Among the outstanding dates on the musical calendar was a demonstration of chord techniques as part of the Schoolmen's Week Program at the University of Pennsylvania with guest conductor Robert Sage, director of choral activities at Temple University. An exchange tour program served to promote amiable inter-school relations, while Friday afternoons found many Chelts at the Academy of Music.

DIRECTOR OF DRAMATICS
Mr. C. Stanley Searle

"Aw, gee whiz . . ."

Once again, as the curtains closed, tumultuous applause burst forth to proclaim another Cheltheater production a success, and Mr. C. Stanley Searle, the sponsor extraordinaire.

In its tale of a teen-age boy, Eugene O'Neill's Ah, Wilderness, given in November, produced an amusing yet moving play. The Night Is My Enemy by Fred Carmichael provided a thrilling change of pace during March. Presented almost entirely by the drama classes, it marked an historic milestone in CHS drama. Cornelia Otis Skinner's Opening Night drew an attentive audience with a delightful account of an actress's trials and tribulations.

As a reward for their hard work, fifteen students with a sufficient number of points were inducted into troop nineteen of the National Thespian Society, our honorary dramatic group.

Adventurers from Cheltenham found the "wild West" fascinating and breathtakingly beautiful as two seasons of reciprocal domestic exchanges proved the program an asset to the school's list of cultural activities. The class of 1958 sent its group under the supervision of the late Mr. David McIlhenny to Greely, Colorado. This year Mr. C. Robert Cunningham and thirty juniors spent Easter vacation in Lakewood, Colorado.

"Bon retour" shouted enthusiastic Chelts as Judy Kaufman returned from Guebwiller, France to relate her experiences as American ambassador to our affiliated school, le college mixte. Heading the Affiliation Club and Committee, Judy shared her unforgettable five months "on the continent" with interested students. The affiliation assemblies during October featured "first impressions of America" by two Alsatian exchange students.

Under the able mentorship of Miss Anne Carr, "hands across the sea" have been established by a vigorous pen-pal program and the exchange of projects. Films on French life and industry and informative lectures by Judy highlighted several Monday afternoon get-togethers.

DANCES

"Shall we dance?" The answer was "yes", and the music played, as gaily garbed socialites whirled about a pirates' den or a winter wonderland. Credit for the magical transformations goes to artists Linda Brenner, Barbara Cohen, and Roz Skversky, who disguised the gym so successfully that even the gym didn't recognize itself.

Social chairman Naomi Rothstein organized a program of events which kept everybody stepping, especially at open houses where Chelts really "had a ball." A highlight of the season proved to be the election of Linda Webster as football queen.

OPEN HOUSES

Sounds of the latest dance tunes again burst forth from the CHS gymnasium during another successful season of open houses. Dancing, games, contests, and raffles were just a few of the exciting happenings of these memorable evenings. "Win a turkey for Thanksgiving!" And someone did! With stunts and games ingeniously contrived by Jani Weatherley and the Activities Club, the open house program could surely proclaim "fun for all" as its motto.

"Communism will work in China!" "No, it won't, because—" Arguments flew back and forth as young politicians whetted their wits on the grindstone of world problems. Led by Judy Arons, president, and Mimi Schiff, secretary, the club, under the advisanship of Mr. Robert Hanson, held many interesting debates. A talk by a pacifist and reports by delegates to the Philadelphia Council and the model United Nations enlivened sessions.

The exchange of ideas, grasp for understanding, desire for tolerance, and quest for knowledge have permeated many senior Inter-faith meetings for the past three years, as enthusiastic students volunteered their homes for informal get-togethers. Munching on pretzels while listening to and talking with various guests, our group has featured clergy of all faiths, a representative from Fellowship House, an Indian doctor, and a Rosicrucianist.

Next came the markets of the world, which elegantly displayed their beautiful wares. Everything, including world-renowned talent, was aboard for our bazaar. It was truly a memorable voyage for the estimated two thousand tourists.

The best team to take the field for Cheltenham in three years thrilled snow-braving boosters by trouncing Abington, 21-13. The long-awaited victory, in which Walt Schairer (voted outstanding player of the game) passed and ran for two TD's, climaxed a hard-fought season which saw the gridgers compile a 3-5 record, losing two games by only one point. Most thrilling contest of the year was the 24-20 see-saw triumph over favored Haverford, via a T.D. pass from Schairer to Tom Rice. Under coaches Joe Nejman and Charles Mehelich, linemen Simkins, Stremic, Mogelefsky, White, Strange, and Ewing gave strong support to the backfield of Schairer, Rice, Eddowes, Gaines, and Lobofski, who heaved passes to ends Smedley, Miller, and Westerman.

SOCCER

The Abington game proved the highlight of this year's season on the soccer field, a season which saw the Panthers, although plagued by injuries, post a commendable 5-9-2 record, with wins over Ridley Township, Delhaas, Norristown, and Abington. Trampling the hard-fighting Ghosts, Bill Friebe, all-suburban trophy winner, booted a goal in the last minute of play. Flanking Friebe ran forwards Rosen, McQuary, Spector, Misalove, and Herwaarden, a star import from Holland.

In the backfield were Pattison, Conner, Weiss, Pappas, Sonneborn, and Whann.

TRACK COACH

Mr. Lawrence Delaney

Speeding over the rough two and one half mile course, CHS's long distance runners posted wins over Haverford and Ridley Township but lost six of their meets. Under coaches Lawrence Delaney and Joe Prusan, the Chelt harriers kept the fast pace set by consistent high finisher Bert Spilker and Holden Award winner Richard Zink. Also going to the post were John Carson, Paul Goodman, Tom Bauer, Bill Wagner, Walt Kahle, and Lance Balderson.

Displaying consistent fighting spirit, the Chelt Grapplers were outclassed in most meets, as they compiled a 2-7 record, with victories over Lansdowne-Alden and Haverford. The latter contest, a 25-16 thriller that terminated a long losing streak, was pulled out of the fire with quick pins by Larry Brown, Jerry Stremic, and heavy-weight Larry Strange. Also struggling for coach Raymond Higgins were R. Greenberg, W. Greenberg, Magill, Behr, Linshaw, Labiosa, and Hutchinson.

HOCKEY COACH
Miss Virginia Redford

This year's girls' hockey team completed the fall season victorious over both the opposing squads and the inclement weather. Captain Debby Shaw led the team in its four wins and three tie games. Other varsity letter winners were Joni Weatherley, Nina Wagner, Marilou Pollack, Linda Webster, Susan Ehrlich, Doris Rosenthal, Winifred Miller, Carol Goehring, Kathryn Draeger, Bonnie Faust, Frances Hackett, and Diane Phillips. The most exciting games were played with Abington and Lower Merion, won by scores of 2-1 and 4-3 respectively. Coaches Virginia Redford and Adele Boyd are hoping for another fine season next year with the highly ambitious Junior Varsity squad.

Cheltenham's lady athletes made a successful showing on the basketball court this year, as they posted wins over Plymouth-Whitemarsh, Springfield, Abington Friends and other rivals. A thrilling triumph over Lower Merion illustrated the girls' tendency toward close games, as they squeaked by 30-29. A week later the basketbells came from behind in the fourth quarter to defeat Plymouth-Whitemarsh with seconds left, 27-25.

Co-captains Jani Weatherly and Winnie Miller led the team, which was paced by the season's high-scorer, Caroline Scott. Also dunking them for coach Adele Boyd were forwards Bonnie Faust and Sue Franklin, along with guards Debbie Show, Barbara Goldman, and Mary Somerset.

Splashing their way to an unexpectedly successful 10-4 season, the Blue and Gold mermen posted double victories over Eddystone, Lower Moreland, and Lower Merion, plus wins over Northeast, Upper Darby, Plymouth-Whitemarsh, and Norristown, to place third in the league.

Coach William Johnston's boys displayed a never-say-die spirit as the team rallied to defeat previous conqueror Norristown, 48-37, when Sonneborn and Shapiro won close races. Also racking up points were swimmers MacFarland, Hoffman, Guthrie, Stern, Pattison, and Serber, along with divers Cross and Lipan. In the past-season district finals Sonneborn took a first and a second place and the free-style relay team copped a third.

Spring 1958 saw a group of Cheltenham athletes practicing on the fields, who in coming days, would endeavor with all their strength and skill to throw farther, jump higher, and run faster than their opponents. This is the Panther track team, under the able tutelage of first year Coach Joseph Prusan.

Mr. Lawrence Delaney and Mr. Raymond Higgins lend their talents as assistant coaches. Distant runners Zink and Shipley, sprinters Freed and Carson, and shot putters Magilefsky and White form the nucleus of the team.

GOLF

All ready for their "tour" of local courses and country clubs are C.H.S.'s "amateur" golfers under the direction of Mr. Ralph Garreth. The team, sparked by returning Varsity players Joe Meyer, Biff Holden, Dick Stern, and Steve Korman, plus newcomers Gil Speigel and Lester Goldman, hopes to continue the fine record of previous Panther putters. Playing against both league and non-league competition, the divoters' season will be highlighted by tough matches with Lower Merion and traditional rival Abington. The district and state championships are added incentive for those holes-in-one.

Although they possessed the shooting skill and the drive, CHS's hoopsters were hurt by their lack of height and by a shortage of experienced players. Only Klein, Westerman, and Chang returned from last year. Yet close games, such as the thrilling two-point triumphs over rivals Jenkintown and Dobbins, and fine performances such as Steve Klein's 33 points against Jenkintown and Bob Westerman's 23 goals in the Ridley Township game, provided Chelt fans with moments of excitement. Under the patient direction of coaches Warren Jordan and David Harr, Varsity men Walt Schairer, Steve Klein, Bob Westerman, Phil Smedley, Sherwood Chang, Mike Risen, and Ted Koerner took the floor.

BASEBALL TEAM

(Baseball)

The popcorn and crackerjack were missing but the action certainly was there, as a spirited Cheltenham nine dropped the opener to Edison in a loosely played, high scoring game.

Although they are inexperienced (5 Varsity men return), Coach Charles Mehelich has confidence in his squad, and expects them to do well in their tough, 15 game league schedule.

Ewing and Smedley plus Klein, Weiss, Friebe and Faraco hold down the catching and infield positions respectively. Schairer, Rice, Labiosa, and Dulaney roam the outfield, while pitchers Rosenberg, Eddowes, and Tobias try to provide their defensive teammates with very little action.

Fourth row: Coach Virginia Redford, Fischman, Freed, Moskowitz, Stillman, Mark.

Prospects looked excellent for Mr. Donald Bonney's racketeers after they shut out Central and Lincoln and decisioned Haverford, 4-1, in their opening three matches. However, the strong team of Langsfeld, Katzenberg, Myers, Conway, Wolf, and Isard has yet to test the strength of its most formidable opponent, Lower Merion. In the after-school practice sessions, Mr. Bonney worked on sharpening the serves, developing the backhands, and strengthening the forehands of his men.

Meanwhile, on the upper courts, the boys' feminine counterparts were engaged in an elimination tournament, under the guidance of coach Virginia Redford, to see who would fill the three singles and two doubles positions. Fleisher, Kauders, Weintraub, Simon, and Kaufman appear to be the probable starters.

CHESS

Chess Team

Left to Right: S. Isard, P. Glickler, S. Goregliad, R. Thompson, M. Linshaw. Not Pictured: K. Spear.

The Blue and Gold chessmen, turning in a record of seven wins, one loss (Upper Darby), and one tie (John Bartram), tied with Olney and Central for first place honors in the city. The triumph over Central, in which Ken Spear, Sergei Goregliad, and captain Steve Isard scored check-mates, marked the first time that the Mirrors had been defeated in recent history. Also at the boards, under sponsor Robert Hanson, were Paul Glickler, Ray Thompson, Bob Kaplan, Steve Korman, and Ed London.

BOWLING

The Cheltenham bowling team, active again after a three-year absence from our school, distinguished itself by conquering Central and Northeast, the two top rated teams in the city. The Central victory was won by a scant 40 points, the closest match of the year. Coached by Mr. Albert Snite, the Blue and Gold pinmen suffered only one defeat, that at the hands of Olney High. Top game of the year was Bart Freedman's striking 228. Contributing to the outstanding record were Pete Frank, Joe O'Donnell, Bud Newman, Mike Silverberg, Larry Whitaker and Mickey Langsfield.

SOFTBALL

Able to schedule only three softball games this season, Miss Adele Boyd's pantherettes have high hopes of achieving their second straight undefeated season. With games against Souderton, Northeast, and Upper Moreland, the team will be aided by returning varsity lettermen Barbara Goldman, who will pitch this year, Debby Shaw, Betsy Brown, Carolyn Scott, Doris Rosenthal, Sue Good, and Linda Webster.

Because of the switch by local schools from softball to lacrosse, Cheltenham has decided to make this season the last for inter-school softball. Next year clinic sessions will be set up, at which girls will learn to play and practice lacrosse. The aspirants will see actual lacrosse games during this training period.

SPONSORS

Mrs. Margaret S. Jones and Mr. Warren Jordan efficiently and sympathetically sponsored the Class of '58 during its three years at Cheltenham. Mrs. Jones, who guided the Administration Club during its first two years, became solely class counselor last year. In this capacity she advised many Seniors on their plans for the future until her much lamented illness in February. Mr. Jordan sponsored social activities and advised the Administration Club during the senior year. Enthusiastic and devoted, he infected all with his good-natured joviality.

SENIOR ADMINISTRATION

In a whirl of fun and friends, the Class of 1958 glided through three years of teeming activity.

Sophomore days, and the newcomers eyed the large, menacing high school at the coke party, having their first realization of being a class.

Junior days, and the middle group sold mints for Demetrius, hosted the Junior-Senior Reception, and bathed beneath the sun at Montgomery County Park.

Senior days, and the confident upper classmen felt less confident in the face of college preparations and job-hunting. Gay times at the "Pirate's Den", on the Class Trip, and at the Commencement Dance reached their peak at Graduation—the culmination of high school years.
