Valedictorian, Salutatorian Receive Awards at Assembly

The two 1967 January graduate students earning the highest grade point averages during their high school careers were honored today at the Honors Assembly. Tom Kwyer was honored as Honorary Valedictorian, and Sharon Hunter received the Honorary Salutatorian award.

Valedictorian Tom Kwyer maintained a 3.578 average during his four years of high school, majoring in English, math, and science, and earning minors in social studies and Russian. He has also taken part in many extra-curricular activities at Edsel Ford High School and was a member of the National Honor Society, Class Council, Advisory Council, tennis team, and the Band, of which he was vice-president.

Tom will attend Henry Ford Community College for the following semester and transfer to Indiana University this fall, where he plans to major in math.

Salutatorian Sharon Hunter has maintained a 3.563 average while majoring in math, social studies, science, and English, and earning a minor in French. In addition to her scholastic achievements, she has also been active in many clubs and activities. She has been a member of the National Honor Society, Booster Club, French Club, Y-Teens, Class Council, Student Assembly, and serv-

Happiness, Excitement, Memories Expected at "Twilight Till Dawn"

It's time again. Time for happiness, tears, excitement, fun, and memories. Time for the Honors Assembly, Commencement, the parties, and the prom. This year, as always, the prom will be held at Lovett Hall in Greenfield Village. The date has been set at January 20 and the usual before and after party invitations have been received. The girls have their dresses (and we hope their dates), and the boys have their tux (little do they know of the problems they cause) and are all anxiously awaiting that very special night. Six o'clock sounds awfully early, but after all,

Edsel Ford High School Music Department cordially invites you to attend the "Twelfth Annual Winter Concert" on Tuesday evening, February 7th, at 8:00 p.m. A variety of music will be performed by the Concert Band, Vocal Ensemble, and Dance Band. Tickets will be available at the door.

haven't they been waiting 13 years for this night. This is the time most of the pre-prom "Coketail" parties begin. After ten or twelve of these, it's off to a night of dancing til 12:00 at "Twilight Til Dawn," the theme of this year's prom. When your feet feel as if you'd walked miles, it's about time to go out to dinner. Nothing is too good for the girl that night as couples are seen going to the Fox and Hound, the Kingsly Inn and Top of the Flame. This sounds like the close of a perfect evening, but it isn't half over! Those post-prom parties are really wild! By 5:00 a.m. you think you are really worn out, but remember, there are still four breakfasts to go!

Commencement Day Plans in Progress

The January graduates will remember Thursday, January 26, as one of the last times of being together as a whole class. Commencement Day promises to be as fun-filled, busy, and memorable as it has been for all other classes.

To start off the day, a breakfast has been planned to start at 6 p.m., at the home of Mrs. John Symonds. From there the graduates will go to a rehearsal of the commencement exercises, and then home—only to return again in the evening to participate in Commencement and receive their diplomas.

To finish off their perfect day, the graduates will attend the traditional parent-planned party, "Twilight 'Til Dawn," scheduled to begin at 9:30 in Thunderbird Hall. Dancing to music provided by the Schultheis Band, the graduates will also have time to talk over all the memories they've had, and discuss plans for the future. Sunday dress for the dance is appropriate and the party does not require a date.

Honor Society Awards

The graduating seniors who belong to the National Honor Society were also honored. The requirements for membership are a "B" average and participation in two clubs. These seniors are Terri Best, Carol Ann Gibson, Judy Goth, Angelo Guido, Susan Hayward, Sharon Hunter, William Kozel, Thomas Kwyer, Douglas Radtke, Paul Smith, and Ronald Symonds. Congratulations to the seniors!

Good Luck to Graduates; A Class We Won't Forget

The month of January, 1964, brought approximately 120 new students to Edsel Ford High School. At first they were confused and bewildered (just like any new students at Edsel), but as they got used to the idea of high school, things began to change. They passed the barriers of buying anthologies, joining clubs, and making new friends in their sophomore year; the junior prom, "The Red Badge of Courage," and a wood sculpture in their junior year; until at last they reached their final two semesters at Edsel. By this time, the Class of January, 1967, was ready to leave its mark on the school.

And what a mark this class left! From these students, in their 12A semester, came the Homecoming Queen and a member of her court, the prize winning Homecoming Float for 1966, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, and a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Also found among the members of the class were two cheerleaders and the Booster Club president. There were also some sports-minded class members. In fact, our championship football team and our so-far-undefeated basketball team contain some January, 1967, graduates.

And so, we find another semester almost coming to a close. And with the end of the semester comes another graduation. The Class of January, 1967, will be remembered, not because it was the largest or smallest class, but because of the accomplishments of its members. Good luck to every member of the graduating class! We hope your success in life is as great as your success at Edsel Ford.

Counselors At Graduation Time

A great amount of hard work, in addition to much responsibility, is involved with being a counselor, especially at graduation time. This year, Mrs. Victoria Stock and Mr. Ralph Cornell took over the work of graduation, as their 120 students eagerly planned for commencement.

Some of the responsibilities that the counselors have are ordering name cards, announcements, and caps and gowns; planning for the senior prom; and meeting with parents to plan the commencement party. Of course, there are many other things that must be done, but the most important is that of counseling the students about their after-graduation plans, and processing all the applications for entering college and obtaining jobs.

Mrs. Stock commented on how much she has enjoyed working with the graduating class and that she feels they are a group who has been able to take a great deal of responsibility.

The 12A class would like to wish Mrs. Stock and Mr. Cornell the best of everything and to express their deepest appreciation for the interest the counselors have shown in the class and the help they have given the 12A's.

Outstanding Students at Edsel Ford Leave Gap in Student Government

Along with the January graduating class go many students active in school government. The mid-semester classes are smaller than the June classes, but the quality of the students remains the same. The 12A's have two Executive Council members. They are Andrea Curiak and Paul Smith. Paul has been an active councilman for two years and is a member of the student-faculty committee. Andrea has also been on the council for 2 years and this year took part in the selling of yearbooks.

The Student Assembly will also lose members this January. Those students, outstanding in their assembly work, are Sandy King and Lynn Burkholder, who have been on the Assembly for their three years at E.F. One of the Assembly's big jobs is the selling of the yearbooks. Seniors who sold yearbooks this year were Holly Carter and Sandy King. Other 12A's who were active in Assembly work are Russ Du Chene, 1 yr.; Maren Griffith, 1 yr.; Judy Goth, 1 yr.; Sharon Hunter, 2 yrs.; Frank Raidl, 1 yr.; Judy Whisner, 1 yr.; Janice Bandli, 1 yr.; and Stan Kuzdzal, 1 yr.

Thanks are in order for those graduates who have put their "best" forward in the development of their school government. It must be reassuring to know that even though you are leaving Edsel, a bit of you will remain. You shall all be remembered for what you have contributed.

The Bolt staff would like to wish the graduating seniors the best of everything in the future.

Long Sought Goals Will Soon Be Achieved

For many years the 12A's have been dreaming about the future. Now some of those dreams are rapidly becoming a reality.

When they were about seven or eight, the future was always referred to as "When I grow up . . ." Then, when they were about junior high school age, it became "When I graduate . . ." Well, now they are very close to achieving the goals they have had for so long, maybe not so long for some.

Holly Carter will attend Eastern Michigan University and major in art. Andrea Curiak will also attend Eastern where she will major in elementary education. Majorette Debbie Gallmeyer is going to Wayne State, majoring in Russian, and Janet Kondziola will attend Arts and Crafts School.

Class president, Angelo Guido is planning to attend the University of Detroit; Judy Goth will go to the University of Michigan, Shirley Bradshaw will take up general business at Michigan Christian College; Doug Radtke will attend G.M.I.; and Pat Whitehead and John Karwowski will go to Michigan State.

Many seniors have decided to go to Henry Ford Community College. Some of them are Joe Goldsmith, Kathy Pytleski, and Bill Kozel (who Kathy Pytleski; Bill Kozel, Alice Gourd, Stan Kuzdal, and Bill Ranpach.

Out of state, Sam Kachaturoff will be attending Tampa University on a football scholarship, and Paul Smith will be going to Iowa State University.

to do so. We could have made it the main story on the sports page which would have been fine, if we had known that we would win. However, no matter how much confidence we have in our team there's always the chance we could lose, and if we did, we are sure that a huge headline announcing our loss would not be especially appreciated by the team or student body. We hope you can understand our side. By the way, could you please help us understand why you took so long in letting us know how you felt.

Quality of Paper Is Questioned

Dear Editor:

The quality of our school newspaper leaves much to be desired. It would seem logical that the most important stories would get the front-page headlines. Upon the football team's defeat of Dearborn High, the front page heading was "See How They Run Begins to Shape Up." This might be excusable had the football team gotten top billing on the sports page. But, no! The major story concerned the winning field hockey team. Not wishing to be derogatory, it is my opinion that the Bolt falls short of excellence.

—Mike McCartan

Before you convince yourself that the Bolt is of such poor quality, we think you should be aware of some of the problems of putting out a newspaper. We realize that the victory over Dearborn High is important enough to rate page one headlines. However, our page plans were planned about two weeks in advance for the issue which included the story about the game. Although it may have been important, it is the policy of the paper to put sports stories on the sports page, and we will continue

Seniors Skip Days Ski At Nub's Nob

by Dennis Dimoff

The Senior Skip Days will be remembered by sixty members of the January '67 Class. This year the students will sponsor a ski trip to Harbor Springs. This activity has been on the planning board for three months; Dennis Dimoff is chairman and Lynn Burkholder the co-chairman. Lodging will be at the elegant Harbour Inn located on the shores of Little Traverse Bay. A chartered bus will leave Sunday noon and return Wednesday evening.

Skiing at "Nub's Nob"

Skiing will be done at one of Michigan's biggest resorts "Nub's Nob." For the amateur skier there will be a professional ski instructor on hand to demonstrate the fundamentals of skiing.

After a good hard day on the slopes, the group will relax by swimming in the heated outdoor pool at "Nub's Nob." Other activities will be ice fishing, ice skating, and toboggoning.

Fireplace Gathering

Following dinner everyone will gather at the huge fireplace to talk over the day's events, play records, dance, sing, bring a happy day to a close by roasting marshmallows over the hot coals.

For a grand conclusion of the complete trip, slides will be shown at the Commencement Party, Thursday night.

Memories Of Years At Edsel Will Linger In Minds Forever

by Andrea Curiak

In February of 1964, Stout, O.L. Smith and Edison Junior High Schools' graduating classes came to Edsel Ford as new 10B's. This group, being almost strangers, joined together to form the close knit class that it is now. With Mrs. Stock and Mr. Cornell as counselors, our class made many accomplishments which included partially sponsoring the Junior Prom, holding two carwashes, selling halloween candy, and vending popcorn, potato chips, candy and pop.

Along with the above-mentioned activities, building the homecoming floats played a big role in class participation and enthusiasm. In tenth grade a large red and white tissue paper ketchup bottle saying "Kick 'em in the Heinz 57 times" was made,

January 1967 Class Officers Keep Hard Working Reputation

The January class of '67 is one of Edsel Ford's smallest but most dynamic classes. There are many outstanding members of this class who have helped to maintain the hard working reputation that they established. Through the past three years at Edsel, the January class has been lead by many outstanding officers.

In the spring of '64, the then 10B's had their first election. Dennis Nowlin unanimously won the position of president and Tom Kwyer was victorious as vice-president. Judy Goth was to be secretary, and Sharon Hunter became treasurer.

In the eleventh grade, there was a big change in the election of officers. Angelo Guido took over the position of president, and Holly Carter was the new vice-president. Sue Hayward was victorious as the new secretary, and Kathy Pytleski reigned as new class treasurer.

Then came their senior year which brought only two changes. Angelo Guido continued on as president, and after the votes were counted, Doug Radtke became the new vice-president. Lynn Burkholder unanimously won as the new secretary and Kathy Pytleski remained treasurer.

Angelo has plans to attend the University of Detroit. He said, "I have really enjoyed being president of my class, and I've tried to do my best."

Doug will be attending General Motors Institute after he graduates. He has been an outstanding vice-president and he remarked, "We always got the job done."

Lynn said that "being secretary has been an interesting and pleasing experience." She plans to attend Wayne State University.

As an outstanding treasurer, Kathy has worked hard. After graduation she will attend Junior College. She commented, "It has been a rewarding experience to work for a class who has worked so hard for itself."

Graduating Class May Be Small But Prove Favorites of the Students

The 12A's may be small, but they sure do get around. They are well liked too. Every time the student body got to choose their favorite seniors, the 12A's always came through in flying colors.

Just think back to October when thoughts of homecoming occupied everybody's mind. The five finalists for the Homecoming Queen were chosen and everyone was anxious to discover who would be the queen of 1966. Lynn Burkholder, 12A, was fortunate enough to be the lucky girl, and Sue Hayward, 12A, was a member of the court. Lynne made a beautiful queen and she well represented her class.

The months rolled by and before long Christmas was in the air. Along with Christmas comes the selection of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus who reign over Edsel Ford's Christmas Dance. Again the student body chose a pair of 12A's. Kathy Pytleski and Paul Smith, both graduating seniors, had the honor of being Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus.

Projects For Money Prove Big Success

Looked in your wallet recently? Surprised to see you were short of cash? Wondered where all that hard-earned money went to? The answer is simple. Ask any 12A.

The past year the graduating seniors have been quite busy exerting their efforts on money making projects. More specifically, they have spent the last semester by trying to "pile in that money."

Now, maybe you can faintly remember where all your cash-on-hand went to. Remember last spring, or for that matter, last fall when your car was so dirty and yet you just didn't have the time or energy for a good do-it-yourself cleaning? Not those seniors! They were out there bright-eyed and waiting to give your car a shiner—for a minimal fee that is.

Or what about the time when Halloween was coming up and candy was sorely needed to give to those who would rather be treated than to trick? Even though all the other classes were selling the goodies too, the seniors did their fair share of selling.

Then after the excellent football season Edsel exhibited, the 12A's were still pushing. This time they got together with the 12B's and gave the dance with the very catchy title, "The Football."

But the seniors weren't satisfied yet. They still kept themselves busy. So what other project draws more crowds than the mention of pop, suckers, potato chips, and popcorn? Quite naturally the group steadily worked at the concession stand selling these snacks to hungry sports viewers.

Yes, this last semester did prove to be one of work and then prosperity. It's about time they took a rest; they've earned it.

12 E.F. Athletes Graduate

This month Edsel Ford will lose twelve talented athletes, including three team captains and two managers. Several of these boys have been honored for their outstanding ability in athletics.

Leaving the swimming team are Rich Roach and Rich McDonald. Both boys have lettered in the sport for two years.

Tom Kwyer has played tennis for one year. Mike Archer lettered one year in baseball, and Tom Schubat lettered in tennis for two years.

Graduating track team members are Stan Watkins and Larry Zelanka. Stan has received three letters in track and Larry has lettered two times.

Mike Cipko was captain of the tennis team and co-manager of the basketball team. Also leaving is Mike's co-manager, Bob Crocker.

Paul Smith has been a member of the football, basketball, baseball, and track teams. He was named All-City in basketball and football for one year and in baseball for two years. Paul holds three letters in football, four in basketball, three in baseball, and one in track.

Graduate Sam Kachaturoff was football co-captain, basketball co-captain, and also played baseball. He was named All-City in all three sports for two years. Sam was also All-League in football for two years, and held the number thirteen position in All-State football last season. He has earned three letters in each of the sports.

Craig Peck was named All-City in both football and baseball for two years. He has played football for three years, and has pitched a no-hitter game in baseball.

We've Got A Secret!

by Rick Matton

If there were a recipe for the successful basketball team, it would probably go something like this:

1. Select twelve choice players; mix in height, speed, and agility thoroughly.
2. Stir in six foot, 4 inches of solid, forward rebounding power.
3. Add a fine touch of shooting skill for the guards.
4. Blend in a defense that yield only 50-some points a game.
5. Add a coach that blends well with the team.
6. Sprinkle in a touch of drive, spirit, and determination.
7. Mix well, and you will have a winning team.

Even if this recipe were for sale, Dearborn High couldn't produce the team, because what good is the recipe without the ingredients?

On the other hand, Edsel Ford doesn't need to buy the recipe because they already have the finished product—a winning team!

Edsel Ford has two special ingredients. "One" is to have four players score in double figures, and "two" is to have a constantly changing leading scorer each game.

The biggest ingredient used by the T-Birds will have to be substituted. Big Sam Kachaturoff will graduate along with Paul Smith. Sam had his best game this season against Dearborn High by scoring 23 points and grabbing 17 rebounds. Paul has been the highest point-getter this season for the T-Birds. He also played well against the Pioneers scoring 12 points and snatching 14 rebounds.

The question is—can Edsel Ford remember the recipe after losing Kachaturoff and Smith? Sure, all you have to do is add another ingredient—the habit of winning!

Edsel Ford Loses Three Star Athletes

by Mike Lebert

Graduation is a pretty sad time when you stop to think about it. Every year it has been, and this will be no different, especially for the athletic department of Edsel Ford, because out of this relatively small graduating class, some of the best athletes in Edsel's history will be leaving.

Three Stars

Sam Kachaturoff, Paul Smith, and Craig Peck, finishing out their three years here, have been mainstays on the sports fields of Edsel Ford. Their departure will leave some big gaps in a few major sports around here. The basketball team will have to replace Smith and Kachaturoff who have been pacing the cagers to an undefeated season thus far. It will be like running an eight cylinder engine on six cylinders . . . not quite as efficient or effective. I'm not saying that two guys make or break a team, but it stands to reason that if a team loses its two best scorers and rebounders, it's going to hurt the overall play. Right?

As for the football and baseball teams, they too will miss all three of these stars. It just won't seem quite the same without big Sam snapping the ball to the quarterback on each play, and not having him punting and place-kicking. The great hands of Smith will be hard to replace at split end. Certainly Peck's hard running will be missed, not to mention his great defensive play which won him a berth on the All-City team as a safety this year.

For that matter, all three of these boys had fine football seasons, and all three were picked to the All-City team. But the big highlight was Sam Kachaturoff's making the All-Suburban Team at center.

Baseball's Problem

In the spring when baseball season rolls around the T-Birds will be missing two fine pitchers and three good hitters. Peck, of course, had a great season last year, hurling a memorable perfect game against Dearborn, and ending up with a 4-0 pitching record. He and Kachaturoff combined for quite a few Edsel victories last year. As their battery-mate, catcher, Larry Suarez put it, "Sam's arching curve-ball and Peck's blazing speed, and both their control will be sorely missed," and then he quipped, "but maybe next year at the end of every game, my hand won't be swollen up to twice its normal size either." As for Smith, his big "bat" will be sorely missed too. His hitting and Peck's pitching won them berths on the All-City baseball team.

So if you happen to see Coaches John D. Davis, Jon C. Davis, or Bill Kilpatrick with tears in their eyes at the end of this month, have some compassion for them. After all, Peck, Kachaturoff, and Smith might not be missed by the English humanities or social studies departments, but they certainly won't be forgotten very soon by the athletic department.

E.F. Says Bye Sue And Kathy

Graduation means different things to different people. To the cheerleaders of Edsel Ford High School it means a loss. The squad will lose two of its members, Sue Hayward, co-captain, and Kathy Pytleski.

Sue and Kathy have been on the squad for one and a half years. The experiences they have had during this time are ones that will be hard to forget. Sue, who has been co-captain for a year, remembers those "pant-splitting" practices during the summer. Kathy remembers the time she tore a muscle while cheering at a basketball game. She wasn't able to cheer for almost a month after that. Among these and other incidents, the girls will probably always remember the banquets they attended, especially the one given in their honor.

Last Tuesday, the remaining seven cheerleaders held a dinner for Sue and Kathy. After the dinner, both girls were given necklaces to remind them of their years as leaders in building school spirit. But, their job isn't over quite yet! You will find Sue and Kathy cheering at their last game as E.F. cheerleaders next Friday.

G.A.A. Member Now Graduates

The only girl in 12A to be a graduating member of G.A.A. is Pat Baker. She joined G.A.A. in January, 1965, and earned her numerals, or 300 point pin, in June of 1965. At the G.A.A. banquet last night she earned her last award, that being her letter. She earned this very easily with 118 points over the required 600 points needed to earn a letter.

This semester Pat participated in field hockey, bowling, and badminton. In past semesters she has also participated in volleyball and has worked on many committees for the club.
