"I wonder what Santa gives to teachers?"

by Rick Conklin

Every prof. at Adams liked Christmas a lot . . .

But the grinchy senior, whose GPA was a rumor, did NOT! Grinchy hated Christmas! The whole Christmas season!

Now, please don't ask why. No one quite knows the reason.

It COULD be his safety goggles weren't fitting just right.

It COULD be, perhaps, that his Izods were too tight.

But I think the most likely reason of all

May have been that his SAT's were 1600 sizes too small.

DoctorED Seuss

GRINCHY: I wonder what Santa gives to teachers. Does he stuff their little stockings with I.P.R.'s? Does he buy them all brand new polyester suits? Does Santa know teachers exist? Was Santa ever a high school student?

Gee, I hope not, 'cause . . .

-Oh, shut up!

-Who said that? Gasp! Not the "Ghost of School Year Present" again!

-No! That was September. Boy are you confused. Don't you recognize me? Pot belly . . . white beard . . . 'HO . . . HO . . . HO!'

-Let me see . . . hmmm . . . red suit . . . male . . . 6-foot 0 inches . . . 275 pounds . . . and reindeer droppings on his boots. I give up.

-Boy, you must be a real jammer in school. I bet the best three years of your life was eighth grade. Can you spell I.Q.?

-E . . . Y . . . E . . . Hmmm . . .

-Look . . . let me help you. I ride all over the world in a big red sled and bring Christmas joy to little snots. And big snots.

-No! You're not . . . Santa Claus?

-Brownie medal for you fella.

-What're you doing here so early?

-Came to see what everyone wants for Christmas . . . and to see Rodney Dangerfield.

-Rodney . . .

-Forget it. You gotta help me. What can I get for your teachers?

-Well, let's see. A one-way ticket to an Eastern Bloc country comes to mind

-Har har. That's about as funny as major surgery. I bet you spend your weekends yelling "fire" in crowded theatres

-Listen, tubby, you asked for advice and I'm dishing it out

-Tubby? Have you ever seen 32 reindeer hoofs up close and personal?

-OK, enough. Why don't you give my chemistry teacher some safety goggles that aren't so crusty I'm scared to put them on my face?

-Now we're getting somewhere

-And my English teachers. How about a two year subscription to National Lampoon and a canary that only sings in Cliff notes?

-Whoa! That's mean. I'll get right on it

-Hey listen . . . I've got this science teacher I really want to challenge. How 'bout some Lincoln Logs?

-Good fun (write, write)

-Oh, and one more thing . . . for my Physics room

-What's that?

-Heat . . . the kind like you find in the principal's office

-Good idea!

-How about this. A sixteen-sided Rubik's cube for my Trig prof. He won't leave his house for a month

-Cruel. Cruel. Great idea . . .

-Maybe YOU can help me. I've got this English teacher who really preps . . . makes me heave!

-How about this AC/DC concert T-shirt . . . or the keys to this '65 Cutlass?

-Fine. Anything else?

-Yeah. Get a whiff of this . . .

-Woooo! What the #!$&* is this?

-Extract of Alligator Intestines . . . keeps the lime-green lovers at arms length

-Bon s'amuse. Hey . . . I've got a Biology teacher . . .

-Say no more. I've got this book book . . . "TOILET TRAINING AND YOUR LAB MOUSE"

-Bullseye! By the way, what am I getting?

-Uh,uh,uhhh . . . I can't tell you that, now, can I?

-Aw c'mon. Pleeceeeeeeeaaase!

-OK. I'm giving you a shovel for the souvenirs Comet and Cupid left on your roof

-Souvenirs?

The National Honor Society is an organization whose main purpose is to recognize those students displaying outstanding qualities in academics, leadership, service and character. In addition, a 3.5 grade point average on a weighted grade scale is required for membership.

Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, is also inducting new members at this ceremony. To qualify, a student must be an outstanding journalist and be in the top third of his or her class.

The induction ceremony for new members will be held on December 14 in the auditorium. All members are requested to attend. The new members who will be inducted are:

When the Whip Comes Down

"When the Whip Comes Down" is the title I give this rebuttal on the recent report in the Tower. In my opinion, the article was written by an inexperienced youth! The Rolling Stones are probably the greatest Rock-n-Roll band still in existence. Before the tragic deaths of Jim Morrison, Jimi Hendrix, John Bonham, John Lennon, and Keith Moon, Rock-n-Roll was at its best. A person had a hard time picking favorites. But a group of people from England managed to make the charts. I'm not talking about The Beatles either. I'm talking about The Rolling Stones!! The Stones managed to make an outstanding imprint on Rock-n-Roll.

It is absolutely unfair to call the Stones out of date or behind the times. The Stones write their songs in the style of today's times and images. But according to the recent report in the Tower, the Stones are on the verge of breakup. I guess that's why The Rolling Stones have sold out every concert in America since their first tour.

The idea that I'm trying to convey is that you should make sure you first listen to the Stones, and really listen, before you go around saying that the Stones are on their way out and have only a select few good albums and songs.

Drama club miracle works

by Leah Lorber and Scott Eggers
 "Very expressive . . . very emotional . . . you're never bored."

"Better than the 1978 production of The Diary of Anne Frank."

"The best performance I've ever seen given by high school students."

These quotes were collected at the Friday performance of The Miracle Worker, one of the best productions seen at Adams.

On Thursday night approximately 75 people, the usual number of spectators for a high school play, attended. Sometime between Thursday's and Friday's performances, word of the excellent production filtered through the school. On Friday night the house was filled to seating capacity, and those without seats stood along the wall or sat on the floor.

Lisa Macri, as Helen Keller, and Lisa Fujawa, as Anne Sullivan, worked together to turn performances in, "comparable to ones seen on the screen." Lisa Fujawa considered that the two hardest things about her character were "keeping the Irish accent and hitting the correct timing with Lisa Macri." The biggest problem in the role of Helen was, to Lisa Macri, "the noises that a deaf child makes." To familiarize herself with these sounds, she sat in on a class for the hearing impaired.

The performances given by John Manier and Jennifer Frieden as the Kellers were also well done. They were supported by Sue Zimmerman as Aunt Ev and Daniel Breen as Jimmy. Lisa Macri's dog Taffy, played the Keller's dog, adding an extra touch of interest to the Keller family.

Although most of the major roles were played by upperclassmen, there is much promising talent in the freshman and sophomore classes. The supporting roles were well-acted and this added much to the show.

Congratulations once again to Mrs. Goerner and the Drama Club for such an enjoyable play.

Prominent biologists Engel, Lazzara awarded grants

by See-Chun Phan

The American Lung Association has awarded research grants to two prominent Adams biologists, Joe Lazzara and Alan Engel. Joe and Alan were chosen from numerous Indiana high school students who submitted proposals for projects in October. There was a total of eight grant winners.

Joe

The grants were awarded on the basis of prior research and a proposal for a new project. Last year, Joe studied the effects of exercising upon atherosclerosis in mice. His work was done using a treadmill to run the mice. Alan's project involved altered diets and aging. He increased the salt, fat, or sucrose content of the diets. This year, both Joe and Alan are continuing their work in the same areas. The funds from the grants, $150, will be used to support the research done this year.

Joe Lazzara's research project involves exercise. Exercise, which is the current health fad in the United States, improves the physical fitness of the body. Because exercise effectively lowers body weight, it has been recommended as a deterrent to obesity and heart disease. In addition, running may lower the cholesterol levels. Joe hopes to find the difference between the weekend jogger and the armchair quarterback.

In his previous research, Joe exercised two groups of mice (one group once a week, the other daily). Through this, the difference between the daily jogger and the weekend jogger can be seen. The purpose of Joe's research was to see if exercise prevented atherosclerosis. His data showed that running caused a decrease in body weight. This was caused by increased calorie usage by the body. Also, the food consumption of the mice that ran was significantly lowered. Most importantly, cholesterol levels were lowered by daily exercise. Because of this, Joe was able to conclude that exercise can prevent atherosclerosis which leads to heart disease.

Joe's research this year concerns exercise and stress. Some scientists believe that the weight loss accompanying exercise is caused by stress. To study this, Joe is administering vitamin C to his mice. Vitamin C or ascorbic acid is believed to relieve stress. Through this study, Joe hopes to determine the exact benefits of exercise. This project, "Studies in the Possible Anti-Respiratory Stress Effects of Supplemental Ascorbic Acid on Treadmill Running," is being funded by the grant.

EXPERIMENTATION

Alan

Alan Engel's research involves the study of the effects altered diets are upon the body. Alan is interested in the physiological changes caused by increased salt, fat, or sucrose intake. These substances are vital to the body's nutrition. However, increased amounts in the diet may be harmful. Last year, Alan studied specifically how the aging process is affected by dietary alterations.

Aging is a natural body process which has puzzled man for many years. Scientists still do not fully understand the aging process. Various theories have been put forth though. One such theory states that the body deteriorates because of wear and tear. According to this idea, the body will wear out with use. The goal of researchers is to understand this process so methods of delaying aging can be found. This was the purpose of Alan's project. He hoped to see how altered diets speeded or slowed aging.

Alan administered diets with increased salt (4 times normal), fat (plus 10%), and sucrose (plus 10%) to mice and performed various tests. His results show significant changes caused by the altered diets. Salt retention was increased by the additional salt. This could cause hypertension which would lead to an early death. Food consumption was lower in the groups given different diets. This indicates that the mice given the altered diets did not adjust to the diets. Overall, the data indicated that the diets would cause early aging.

Alan's current project, which is being funded by the grant, is titled "Possible Effects of Altered Diets on Allergic Reactions to Ragweed Pollen." He will determine if the diets weaken the body's defenses and thus cause premature aging. Alan would like to thank Mr. Longenecker for his guidance, Brad Sakaguchi and Joe Lazzara for their help, his mother for typing his report, and his father "for not helping" so he could do the project himself.

Good Morning!!

Players by Greg Burns

"Watching her play is like sitting through a volleyball training film" exclaimed one awed spectator. "She's fantastic." Well, she's not immortal, but Junior spiker Julie Yazel certainly has what it takes to gain state-wide praise and recognition. Combining 193 spike kills with 57 solo blocks and 85 assists, Yazel has consistently exhibited an awesome show of power at the net as well as in the back court. Her incredible .229% spiking average along with strong serving, digging and passing skills have earned Yazel a berth on the N.I.C. squad and recognition as the Tribune's athlete of the week. But last week both those awards were dwarfed when the Indiana Coaches of Girls' Sports Association (ICGSA) announced the formation of the first all-state girls' volleyball team. Out of 89 girls nominated statewide, Yazel was one of only 18 starters actually chosen for the team, making her the first all-stater in the history of Adams volleyball. "I was shocked!" smiled Yazel. "It's a great honor."

A highly talented girl, Yazel attributes her recent excellence to her coach, Sue Ganser and claims she has helped her immensely. "She's an extremely coachable kid," explains Miss Ganser. "She always gives 100%."

As a Junior, Yazel has one more year at Adams and next year she will undoubtedly prove to be an even stronger asset to one of the most reputable volleyball programs in the state of Indiana.

Six-foot-two, two hundred and fifteen pounds - definitely a force to be reckoned with, senior letterman Lamar Taylor has proven he can move his weight extremely well. Operating from his starting position at defensive noseguard, Taylor tallied 27 solo tackles and 14 assists for the Eagles this season, giving him the second highest number of tackling points on the team. Causing three fumbles and recovering one, Taylor continually made his presence known in the opposing team's backfield. By earning the respect of many area coaches throughout the season, Taylor has recently been named first string all-N.I.C. making him the highest ranked noseguard in the conference. "I think the other teams found Lamar in their backfield a lot, messing things up," says Head Coach Andy Mihail. "He has incredible speed and agility for a big man." Taylor proved equally impressive offensively. "Actually, I feel I played better on offense than on defense," he explains. While at right guard, Taylor exhibited string blocking skills as he cleared the way for fullback Joe Ferry on several successful fullback dives.

Coach Mihail feels Taylor's chances for playing college ball are "excellent" as he is currently being recruited by Ohio Wesleyan and Indiana State.

Any regrets? "I could have played better, and I wish more Adams players could have made the N.I.C. team. We have a lot of individual talent, we just had a problem getting it together."

Mihail moves on

by Kerry Kinney

On Nov. 25, 1981, Andrew Mihail, Head Coach of John Adams football team, resigned his post. This ended Coach Mihail's four year term as the helmsman of the Eagle's football program. These four years spanned periods of both frustration and satisfaction, of victory and disappointment.

Coach Mihail's resignation was both expected and unexpected. Although the general disappointment of another lagging season (2-8) was great, some didn't believe that Mihail would resign. Many, however, including Adam's principal, Mr. Przybysz, and Athletic Director, Ed Szucs, weren't as surprised at this action, sympathizing with Coach Mihail over presiding over yet another losing season.

Mr. Szucs explained, in an interview, that Mr. Mihail, when interviewed for the job four years ago, expressed an outline of goals he would like to achieve as head coach. When these goals weren't met, Mr. Szucs continued, then Coach Mihail decided to resign his post in order to usher in a new program, and to look for another course of action for himself. Mr. Przybysz concurred, largely, with Athletic Director Szucs.

Coach Mihail described his career at Adams as one of unmet goals. Success as a football team, he explained, had not been reached during his nine year tenure, both as assistant coach for five years, and head coach for the past four years. He cited his team's dismal 8-32 record for the past four years as evidence of this.

Mr. Mihail will be missed as a football coach at Adams. When interviewed, assistant football coaches Rich Coffey, Bill Farrel, Mark Ingole, and Jim Kominkiewicz all agreed that as far as leadership, organization, and personality go, Mihail was undoubtedly the best. Mr. Przybysz and Mr. Szucs also praised Mihail as one who was an extremely hard-working, dedicated coach and teacher. Coach Kominkiewicz could find no fault with Mihail, while Coach Farrel found that the problems besetting Mihail as a coach were those of the team's 'make-up'; saying that the team's 'chemistry' didn't work toward the team's and Mihail's advantage.

While Mr. Mihail has expressed wishes to move on and to be an assistant football coach at another South Bend high school, he's made no immediate plans, but hopes to just 'look around' for another position.

A replacement for Mihail's position will hopefully be filled sometime in mid-January, possibly on Jan. 15, says Mr. Szucs.

Better than Not

by Alan Engel

The Eagles opened their '81-'82 season with a slim victory over Crown Point two weeks ago. Coach Hadaway had a five year history of rocking Crown Point in the season opener but this time he narrowly escaped with a two point overtime victory. Adams gave up a 41-31 third quarter lead but with the well balanced scoring of Andre Robertson, Don Scheel, Eric Moore, and Mike Marable the Eagles proved to be too much for Crown Point.

The Eagle hero was 6-6 Don Scheel. Scheel tipped the ball twice and his second ripped the net to put the game into overtime with 0:01 remaining in regulation time. Hadaway commented, "Don's tip was probably the best high school play I've ever seen. It was just a tremendous play under great pressure." Adams won 68-66.

The next night Adams faced thirteenth ranked Merrillville for home season opener. With the help of sixth man Ron Verduin's 11 points the Eagles stunned the Merrillville Pirates 52-47. Although the Pirates owned a considerable height advantage, Adams got physical inside and scrapped for a 33 to 33 rebounding tie. Adams spent the first quarter getting adjusted to Merrillville's zone and the Eagle sharpshooters only shot two for nine from outside fifteen feet. But that was all Adams needed. Ron

Athletes Honored

The John Adams Fall Sports Banquet was held on Tuesday, Nov. 24, in the dining hall of the First Methodist Church in downtown South Bend. The co-speakers for this event were Ron Joers, Adams Adult Booster Club President, and Ed Szucs, Adams Athletic Director. Also present to present awards were Mishawaka High School Asst. Principal Mac Keefie, and Roland Kelly, President of the St. Joseph Bank Co.

All of the many fall sports were present, and all were presented with various awards and trophies. Teams such as Boys' Tennis and Volleyball, were presented special trophies and plaques in recognition for these teams' successes and triumphs.

Besides this, the traditional letter sweaters and chevrons were awarded to many outstanding athletes in all sports. Along with this, Most Valuable Player (MVP) and Kiwanis Awards were presented to their respective recipients for all the sports. Recipients for each sport were: for Boys' Tennis, Paul Koscielski-MVP, Kiwanis Award; for Boys' Cross Country, Jeff Synpniewski-MVP, Lenny Randazzo-Kiwanis Award; for Girls' Cross Country, Linda Lowman-MVP, Beth Carter-Kiwanis Award; for Football, Todd Parker-MVP and Kiwanis Award; Girls' Swimming, Jennifer Parker-MVP, Tess Doering-Kiwanis Award; for Volleyball, Karen Gillis-MVP, Chris Allsop-Kiwanis Award.

Each of the coaches who spoke about his/her team was impressed and pleased with their players and the effort and dedication, as well as the skill, each athlete displayed.

All coaches, as well as each teams' athletes, should be congratulated for another successful fall season in athletics. The planners and all others involved in preparing the banquet should also be commended for the success of their delightful dinner.

Icers heading for Sectionals

by Charlie Miller

The Eagles-Panther hockey club is already five games into the season, and stands at 1-4-0. It's first game against Niles was a long contest, with a final score of 7-4, in favor of Niles. Goals were scored by Scott Weaver, Steve Gruenig, Gordon Wheeler (Wash.), and Rick Maldonado.

Next, the Eagles faced Riley. The game was close until the final period, when the Wildcats broke it open: Goal scorers were Rick Maldonado, Scott Weaver, Steve Gruenig, and Gordon Wheeler (Wash.). The final score favored the Wildcats, 9-5.

In the following competition, the Eagle-Panthers rolled over Laporte, 11-0. Goal scorers for this game were Steve Gruenig, Gordon Wheeler, Rick Maldonado, and Scott Weaver.

The last two games were tough for the Adams-Washington team, as they first met Clay, runner-up to the city champions; they then faced Culver Military, three-time state champs. The Icers came up on the bottom half during both games, but were never forced out. They played a very hard-cutting game against Clay, and were in the game all the way. Goal scorers here were the familiar foursome of Maldonado, Weaver, Gruenig, and Wheeler. The final score against Clay was 9-6, in favor of the Colonials. The try against Culver was as well as could be expected. A hard-hitting game was played, but Adams-Washington couldn't hold on. C.M.S. prevailed; final score, 10-5. Scoring for the Eagle-Panthers were Gordon Wheeler, Rick Maldonado, Scott Weaver, and Steve Gruenig.

The Icers only have one returning starting senior, Scott Weaver. Junior Rick Maldonado, a 3-year starter, is the leading scorer and a leader on the defense. John and Steve Gruenig do a great deal on offense, along with John Rohan. On defense, are Jeff Ellis and Andy Byers; John Slafskowski tends the net.

Fall Soccer awards

by Kevin Baer

The universal Kicks fall team ended their season on November 24 with an awards party. The Kicks finished their season 12-1, with 5 shutouts. They outscored their opponents 51-11.

At the beginning of the season, the Kicks looked very inexperienced. Four of the ten starters had never played soccer before this season. The first game of the season was on September 10 against a tough and very physical Elkhart team. The Kicks slid by 1-0. The Kicks second game was against Penn. The game was very hard fought by both teams but Penn came away with the victory 3-2. The Kicks then had an easy streak. They blew Niles and Buchanan away each twice and Marian once. They then faced a very rough and physical Elkhart squad. The Kicks won it in a hard fought battle. The real test of the season came on October 6 against a very experienced Lakeland team. The Kicks, led by John Croy with three goals, won with a thrilling come-from-behind victory. The Kicks ended their season with two victories over a St. Joseph, Michigan team.

The Kicks now have an indoor team which is 1-2. This team is composed of 10 of the 27 fall players.

Pinning the competition

by Matt Bauer

The Adams' Grapplers' season in back on track, after dropping its' first two matches against Marian and M.C. Elston teams. They achieved this through a victory against Clay Dec. 3, 42-18, followed by a strong showing at Culver Military School, on Dec. 5.

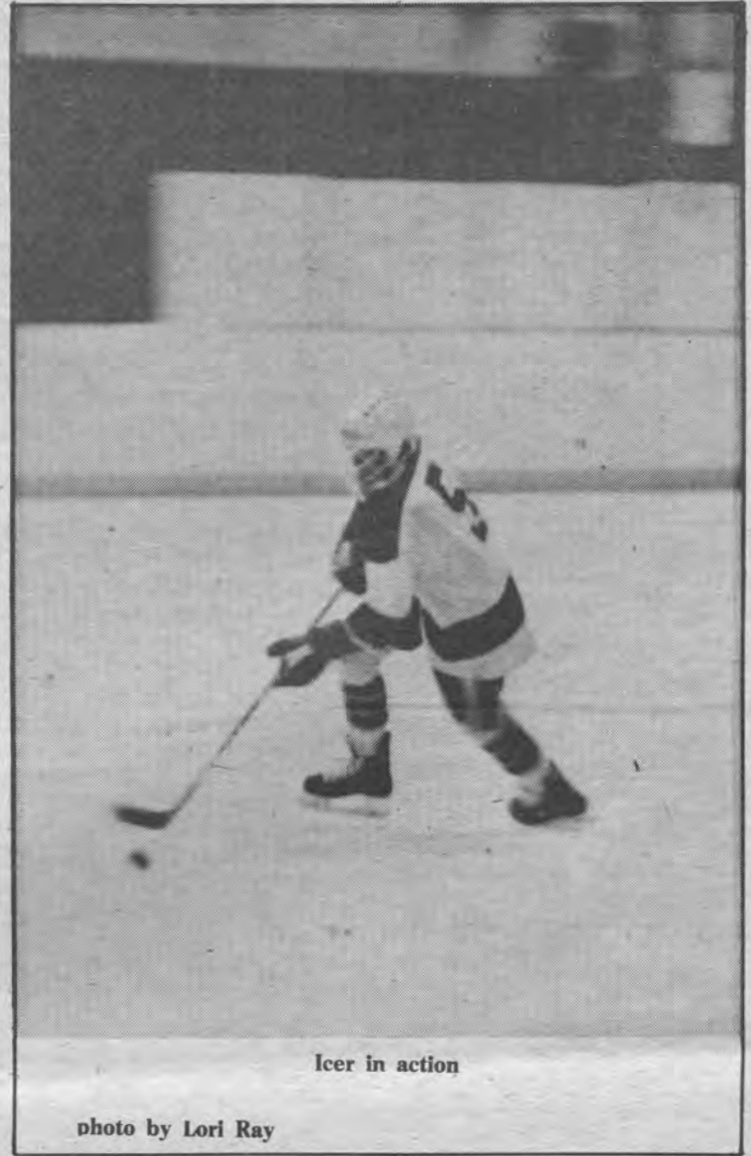

In Adams' match against Marian, on Nov. 24, the Eagles lost a hard fought match, 40-21. Winners for Adams were: Jerome Sherman-98 lb. class, 6-0; Senior Dave McNarney-126 lb. class, 11-2; Cecil Gilbert-167 lb. class, 6-0; and Lamar Taylor-Heavyweight, who pinned his opponent in just 33 seconds, thus winning 6-0.

A week later, the Grapplers also fell at the hands of M.C. Elston, 38-33. Winners for the Eagles were: Paul McNarney-105 lb. class, 6-0 Dave McNarney, who achieved a pin in 56 seconds to win 6-0; Cecil Gilbert, by forfeit; and Senior Lamar Taylor, who pinned his adversary to win, 6-0.

Against Clay, Dec. 3, the Eagles achieved their first victory of the season, 42-18. Winners for Adams were: Jerome Sherman, 9-2; Paul McNarney, 6-0; Todd Lentz, 9-3; Senior Steve Quimby-185 lb. class, 4-0; and Lamar Taylor, 7-3.

The Grappler B-team is particularly impressive. under Coaches Kominkiewicz and Baxter, the Eagles, after losing its' opener to Marian, overwhelmed both M.C. Elston and Clay, 51-12 and 52-16, respectively. The fact that, in its' last two matches, this club has won in almost every weight class, is a tribute to this exceedingly good wrestling team.

Seagles begin season

by Tess Doering

Starting their season with a loss to Culver, the John Adams Seagles face a grueling schedule. Lack of participation is their main weakness. The team, made up of eight swimmers, one recently injured and on the bench for four weeks, and three divers, began an intensive yardage and weight training program over a month ago. Because of the numerous transitions of coaches over the past few seasons, the Seagles have lost a portion of the dedication and support necessary for their success. The establishment of Geanne Protto as coach, however will provide them with the required leadership and senior captains Andy Jacobs and

Jeff Dennen will lead the Seagles, followed by senior John Overmeyer and Junior Curt Clarissey.

Sophomores Shaun Broecker and Mike Hanlon will fill the distance and the individual medley events respectively. Rookies Allen Abusamra and Scott Terlip have already shown drastic drops in their times.

Senior diving captain Pete Stinchcomb has already proven himself a valuable asset despite lack of competitive experience. Sophs Todd Hammon and Kelly Keller will provide the depth for the diving team.

The Seagles next meet will be against Valparaiso on Dec. 12 at Valparaiso.

Girls b-ball starts off strong

by Greta Roemer

The Girls' Varsity Basketball Team under the direction of Coach Bob Elum has quickly made a name for itself. The team is composed of five experienced seniors, six talented juniors and two promising sophomores. St. Joe, a team of obvious high caliber, bowed out 50-48 to the superiority of the Eagles. High scorer Beth Carter contributed 14 points and Judy Hamilton grabbed 15 rebounds.

Plymouth put up a good fight but Stacy Adams could never miss and Adams and the Eagles prevailed 46-36. Stacy was responsible for 19 points.

This week the Eagles had two tough games against a very strong LaPorte team and Elkhart Central. The team believes that its potential has not been reached, so the future looks even brighter.

The B-Team under Coach Kelly Adelsperger, has an identical and equally impressive 2-0 record. Made up of freshmen, sophomores and juniors, it will be drawn on heavily next year with the loss of the seniors.

and two points.

e Dame

Verduin and Mike Marable both had breakaway lay-ins and Adams only trailed 10-8 after the first quarter. In the second quarter the Eagles had an unanswered nine point surge to go into the locker room up 20-17. Adams' sharpshooters did come alive in the third quarter taking part in a good one, two punch of the fastbreak and outside shooting. Highlights included three alley-oop scores; two to Robertson, one to guard Mike Marable. Adams led at the end of the third 36-30. After the Pirates tied the score 36-36 early in the fourth quarter Adams reeled off 10 straight points in less than two and a half minutes. In the last four minutes of the game the Pirates outscored the Eagles 11-6 but Adams already had the game tucked away.

Last Saturday Adams fell to Ft. Wayne Northrup 45-37. The ball just wouldn't fall for the Eagles as they shot only 27 percent from the field

Ft. Wayne didn't play a spectacular game either, only shooting 39% from the field and 49% from the line. But that was all the Bruins needed. Adams did threaten once, Marable and Robertson rallied the Eagles from a 28-21 deficit to a 33-32 lead but Don Scheel was given a technical foul for grabbing the rim and Ft. Wayne converted the free throw, never looking back.

Jennifer, You're a very special person and I'm glad that we've become so close. Never forget the times we have had or the special moments we've shared. Have a very special holiday.
