INDIANA U. TO SPONSOR CONTEST OPEN TO ADAMS MATH STUDENTS

Indiana University is sponsoring the high school mathematics contests again this year in algebra, geometry, and comprehensive mathematics. The taking algebra or who have completed a course in elementary algebra during this school year. The plane geometry contest is open to students who are now taking plane geometry or who have completed plane geometry this year. Juniors and seniors who have had high school mathematics courses beyond plane geometry may enter the comprehensive contest.

The contest at Adams will be conducted in the library during the first and second period on March 11. The Regional contest will be held at Central High School on March 28, 1953. Students who rank high in the Regional contest will be eligible to compete in the State finals in Bloomington, on the campus of Indiana University, during the last week of April.

Gold medals, silver medals, and bronze medals are awarded high ranking students in the State finals. Two members of our present student body at Adams are medal winners. In 1951 David Jones was awarded a bronze medal in the State finals of the geometry contest. Last year Kent Keller was awarded a bronze medal in the finals of the algebra contest.

Any student at Adams interested in entering the contest should see Mr. Weir in room 112 and enroll for the local elimination contest scheduled for March 11.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED

The Women's Auxiliary of the St. Joseph County Medical Society in cooperation with the school nurses and public health officials of South Bend are making plans for a Future Nurses Club to be composed of high school students who aspire to the nursing profession.

Meetings will be held once each month during the evening in the auditorium of the various hospitals. At these meetings a variety of information will be made available on the fields of nursing and once each semester a field trip will be taken.

Interested students were given an opportunity to sign up in their home rooms this week. If anyone failed to sign up that would really like to become affiliated with the group, be sure to see Mrs. Chamberlin in the nurse's office this afternoon.

IN APPRECIATION

Thanks to Stephen Zeigner, Barbara Hanson, Geraldine Goepfrich, Robert Wolcott, Nancy Miller, Marilyn McGee, Michael LeBurkien, Don Brewer, and Carol Ann Gross who with the students announced as participating in the shorthand demonstration for the North Central Teachers Association workshop on Feb. 14 made up the demonstration class of 20 who displayed typewriting techniques.

Plans were not completed for this demonstration when the other student names were released.

Class Activities Include Trips and Speakers

Eighteen students from the first hour Office Practice class visited the new offices of Remington-Rand Typewriter Company recently to observe at work the kinds of machines Remington-Rand makes available to its customers in addition to typewriters. The students saw filing systems, the payroll machines, and the machine that can photograph and reproduce any document from newspaper copy to a legal paper.

Twenty-one boys from the first hour Machine Shop class toured the three plants of the South Bend Lathe Works on Feb. 18. The boys observed all the processes involved in making a lathe from the very beginning to the final stages of crating and shipping. The boys saw special lathes which were being made for the Government and Air Force and all types of machinery in operation from the automatic machines to simple bench work or hand tools.

Factors to consider in buying hospitalization and health and accident insurance were explained by Mr. John Goldsberry, representative of the Jefferson National Insurance Company, to the Business Relations class last Monday during their regular class session. Similar problems regarding automobile insurance were explained by Mr. Charles Martindale, owner and manager of the Martindale Insurance Company on Wednesday, Feb. 25.

Tournament Games To Be Televised

Basketball fans who are unable to obtain sectional and regional tourney tickets will be able to see the afternoon and night games of Feb. 28 and March 7 on WSBT-TV. The portable television equipment is being installed at John Adams at the present time. Two cameras will cover the play-by-play action.

Because there is a lack of transmission facilities, the semi-finals at Lafayette, Indiana and the final tournament at Indianapolis will not be televised. Radio station WSBT will carry all the games from Feb. 28 on, but station WHOT will carry all the games beginning Feb. 24.

STUDENTS TO SELL ADAMS I.D. PLATES

Beginning March 2, the John Adams junior T. B. Board representatives, Mary Agnes Gingrich and Robert Walcott, will sell John Adams metal identification plates which can be attached to the license plates of your car.

Profits from sales of these 20-cent plates will be used to purchase books and other supplies for our T.B. friends at Healthwin Hospital.

These plates can be purchased any time during the month of March.

Student Teacher Here

Miss Pat Kepler, a senior at St. Mary's College, will work for the rest of the semester as a student teacher under the supervision of Mr. A. E. Goldsberry. Miss Kepler's home is in Davenport, Iowa, and after her graduation she plans to teach high school in Iowa or Illinois. Her major subject at St. Mary's is social science; her minor, secondary education.

Have You the "Can Do" Spirit?

School spirit is actually school morale. It is a combination of enthusiasm, of determination, and of a desire to do our best regardless of the activity. We must have a spirit of "can do" and really make it a part of every individual.

School spirit must arouse in each one of us the desire to have finer relationships with fellow students and with members of the teaching staff. Each of us should strive to possess a sense of individual responsibility for participation in overall school activity. Remember that the whole is greater than the sum. The school belongs to all of us—and we give it something—bad or good—that we can never get back. The school builds upon what the pupil has when he enters; it ties experiences that pupils have outside with those they have in school; it helps to build a foundation for a life career of successful living. Schools have really only one purpose and that is to help us by teaching us how to live successfully. All living is learning and learning is a life career. The school is what we make it. It can be one of the main tributaries of life if we let it and will remain a real part of us for life. All this requires is willingness to give.

Win or lose—if we have the respect for one another—the determination—enthusiasm of fair play—regardless of the score—our side will be rewarded the greatest gift of all—contentment and peace of soul and mind. The "can do" as exemplified in school spirit is the "can do" of life.

—Mrs. William Carmichael.

Bulletin Boards Attract Interest

A number of teachers have taken a great interest in welcoming their students with decorated bulletin boards that easily catch the eye. The students enjoy looking over a bulletin board that has been arranged in an interesting manner.

Each morning when I walk into Latin class I am greeted by a saying of the late Canadian physician, Sir William Osler. His words have been printed in large letters and placed on the front bulletin board. I asked Miss Kaczmarek if I might pass his thought on to you.

Dr. Osler wrote, "I have three personal ideals. One, to do the day's work well and not to bother about tomorrow. The second ideal has been to act the Golden Rule as far as in me lay toward my professional brethren and towards the patients committed to my care. And the third has been to cultivate such a measure of equanimity as would enable me to bear success with humility, the affection of my friends with pride, and to be ready when the day of sorrow and grief come to meet it with the courage befitting a man."

Each month the chorus room displays a different arrangement on its bulletin boards besides the usual music programs and announcements. The different arrangements include pictures of great artists, holiday decorations, or displays pertaining to the different months or seasons.

The first time I entered Mr. Carroll's room, the one thing that caught my eye was the poster displaying the care of teeth, and another illustrating the importance of good health. Also I noticed the many book-covers arranged on the side bulletin board to interest students in reading.

In room 105 where English classes are held there are three largely printed words which are merely for curiosity. They are "Whence, Why, and Whither." These words were printed by students who wondered whence do we come, why are we here, and whither do we go.

On the front board I noticed the statement "Let's Educate the Rabbits." It must be there for a purpose. If there are any questions, ask Mr. Krider.

In the Spanish classes each student was asked to make a poster illustrating a certain advertisement. All printing was to be in Spanish. These pictures are now on the front bulletin board for all to see.

The bulletin board of the clothing room is decorated according to what is being studied in class. For instance, during the study of the correct way to dress, different types of material and pictures of clothing were displayed illustrating how to dress according to the time of day, the occasion, and the season. — Julie Harris.

Our most humble apologies to Marianne Reish and Sonny Stone who are terribly hard to keep up with. At this writing they are not at all on the rocks.

Interesting couples at the recent charity ball—Jean Woolverton and Dick VanMele (N.D.); Joan Garwood and Johnny McMeel (C.C.).

Congratulations to our new steady Nancy Yoder (Mish.) and Don Root, and Phyllis Stouffer and Ed Hamel (N.D.).

Seen around: Jo Ann Moritz and Pat McKeon.

Question of the week: Why is Larry McMichael nicknamed Yosemite Sam?

Our compliments to the N.C.C.J. Youth Panel for a fine assembly program last Friday morning.

Word has been received that Jay Miller, '52, now a freshman at Indiana University, is cast for a part in the Jordan River Revue, annual campus musical production.

Still in the category of friends: Judy Mellow (Central) and Tom McNulty.

It seems Pat Scott is super efficient in her work at one of the local banks; she sent an over-drawn notice to the president of the bank.

Happy Anniversary: Patt Pask and Bill Inks—one year ago they started going steady.

SENIOR REBUTTAL

My dear child, pity us poor seniors who are so persecuted

That freshmen, sophomores, and juniors alike all want us electrocuted

Be merciful to us in our daily strife

To improve this building, faculty, and all for the betterment of your school life.

Look upon us from your lofty middle classman position

And see that we are noly trying to save the class of '54 from its ultimate perdition.

We do our best in all we can to keep our record high

And we're slammed, mistreated, persecuted, etc., but then "Our's not to reason why."

We sacrifice gladly from day to day the things we could have had

To give the freshmen a foothold, to make the sophs feel more at home; you juniors never had it so bad.

We're crowded, pushed, and cramped for room,

But being stout fellows we take this with a minimum of gloom

I dread to think of '54 when you juniors seize the wheel

You cynical, wise, and cosmopolitan ones who unduly criticize us, I feel,

What then will be your feelings as you walk down the hall

And see those little neophytes, the cradle roll, with their knowledge like yours now, heaped so tall?

I say now that you don't know the pain you cause us as we are stretched across the grill; however,

You will, my children, you will.

—David Coverdale.

Adams' 13-Year Dream Comes True

Never have we had it so soft kids—dies! Assembly line lunches! Goodies hot out of the pan and ready to eat! (no more gummy peanut butter sandwiches and leathery carrot sticks. Those days are gone forever.)

Yes sir, the good ship "cafeteria" was launched two weeks ago amid flying silverware, dirty dishes, and general hilarity on all fronts. We're happy to say it has been acclaimed a tremendous success by all concerned.

We wish to pin a special orchid on the enterprising young hash slinger who swings such a mean potato scoop, Tom Sears. It took him only three days to learn that gravy goes on top of the potatoes, not under them, and that the peas go beside the meat, not on it.

We are considering a collection for an anchor for Ronnie MacGregor's foot. If he should lose his footing on that slippery floor he'd fall in the garbage and drown.

Amid all the excitement and confusion on the first day we were anxious to see who could be the first to flip mashed potatoes into someone else's lap and who, up in the mezzanine, would be the first to drop a milk carton into a plate below. But oddly enough no great catastrophe occurred. One of these days, maybe—

The only unpleasant thing about the whole process is the waiting in line. When the dust clears, the aroma of delicious food nearly has us drooling on the floor. What makes

The Week's Eagle

Richard L. (he won't tell) Northrop greeted the world on November 30, 1935. After ten years of preparation he came to Adams in the fall of 1950, with other fellow sophomores. He is robe chairman of the glee club, a board member of the drama club, secretary of the Hi-Y, and sports editor of the Album.

Outside of school Dick participates in DeMolay, and is vice-president of his youth group at the First Presbyterian Church. Although he has little spare time, he uses it to work in photography, his major hobby. After graduation from Adams, Dick plans to attend Wabash College and then to do graduate work in business administration at Indiana University.

Dick calls himself a music-lover, and says he enjoys the work of Bach, the Four Aces, Hank Snow, and the late Hank Williams. He likes to see a girl wearing a brown sweater and beige skirt. High on his "Irk List" are boys whose socks, shirt, and trousers don't go well together.

It even worse is that we must look in the doors and see everyone lapping up goodies. By the time we reach the door we're ready to eat the counter and silverware. One of the first comments heard during the "C" lunch period on Monday was, "The end of a dream, the beginning of a nightmare." Only time will tell.

Scowling or Smiling — How Is Your Face?

The silliest things
That I've ever seen
Are the facial expressions
That show on one's beam!

Take the scowl and the frown
On the typist's young face
He frowns at his paper
While he sets a fast pace.

There's a gleam in the eye
Of a student named Quinn
He flips for your quarter
And can usually win!

Don Pearson's the guy
With a "good night" expression
He's tired at school
Or gives that impression.

One always finds the devil
In every young face
S. Moran, for example,
She's our number one case!

Think of the gals
That you pass in the hall
Judy Hunneshagen's one
Who wears a smile for us all.

And so on we go
From the dawn until night
Scowling or smiling
Is your face all right?

DOODLING

New books are given out and students groan. Teachers, there is a reason for these groans. Have you ever looked through your old books to see the interesting things in them? You'll most likely find Kilroy doodlings, translated Morse codes, phone numbers (you might try 2-6258), geometry designs in English books, "wise guy," "oh babe," and "speed-ball." One sees sayings such as "Love me or leave me" and "Do what you may." Above a cartoon showing the American Eagle before and after the Mexican War, was found: Adams — before and after the Washington game. Perhaps Washington presented a hazard in those days.

EAGLES END SEASON ON VICTORIOUS NOTE

The Adams basketball team ended its regular season last Thursday in the Eagles' gym on a victorious note as they defeated Fort Wayne North Side's hoopsters 68-57. The victory allowed the Eagles to finish in the first division of the loop race with a 5 won, 4 lost, record.

Adams started fast against the invaders jumping off to a 10-3 lead early in the game, but the Redskins rallied to move to within 3 points at 16-13 with less than a minute to go in the first period. However, the Eagles scored 4 quick points in the last six seconds to take a commanding 7 point lead at the quarter 20-13.

The Eagles scored their two quick baskets on Larry Kedzie's one hander from mid-court and Joe Kreitzman's lay-in after he intercepted the Redskins throw-in.

Fort Wayne bounced right in the second period however as they narrowed the Adams lead to 22-20 early in the frame. Things remained nip and tuck the rest of the quarter with the Redskins always a step behind the Eagles. Adams held a 35-31 lead at intermission.

In the third quarter the Redskins continued to make things hot for the Eagles as they moved to within two points 49-47 at the end of the period. Fort Wayne displayed a sharp passing attack in this frame, passing circles around the Adams players on a couple of occasions, but it wasn't enough.

The fourth quarter was all Adams as the Eagles outscored the Redskins 19-10 to win going away. The Eagles moved in front 56-47 at the start of the fourth frame and from then on the Redskins failed to get close.

Jerry Thompson led the Eagle scoring with 29 points followed by Tom Troeger with 10. Joe Kreitzman and Larry Kedzie each added 9 to the Eagle cause.

B-Team Drops Final To North Side

In the North Side game Adams pulled out in front in the early stages of the first quarter 6-3. However, North Side began to hit at this point, and at the end of the stanza, they led 8 to 6. Then during the opening minutes of the second quarter, North Side's "Bees" poured in 8 points without return from the Eaglets. At this point Adams began using a fast break and a weave, and as a result, they closed the gap to 18 to 15 by half time. The last two points of the Eaglet's surge came on a 25-foot shot from mid-court with but 6 seconds remaining, scored by Waechter.

The home team "Bees" came out in the second half and tied the score 21 to 21 in only three minutes. They couldn't keep up the pace, and as a result the Redskins boosted their total to 27, while our total went unchanged. During the last quarter the Eaglets had many opportunities to score, but they didn't, as the North Side went on to win 36 to 32 in a fast finish. LaPierre and Waechter led Adams' attack with 11 points and 8 points. Pellman followed with five, and the rest of the points were scattered among Rodgers, DeLong, Fenimore, and Vanderhayden. The team went without services of Troeger and Green, their leading scores, who dressed for the varsity game. This loss brings their season record to 14 wins and 5 losses. All five of these losses came at the hands of conference foes. They won 6 and lost only one against twin-city teams.

"FROSH" WIN TWO

The John Adams freshman basketball team finished its successful season in grand style by sweeping both games from the Riley freshmen by scores of 53-36 and 38-26. These games were played in our gym on Thursday, February 19.

In the "A" game Adams jumped out to a very commanding lead to be on the long end of a 16-2 score at the quarter mark. Riley was not to be denied and rallied to jump within only three of the Eagles at 18-15. But then the freshmen put in three points before half-time and left at intermission leading 21-15. This was the last time Riley threatened as the Eagles kept pace in the third period and then poured it on in the final frame and thus finished a successful season by trimming Riley 53-36. Don Severeid was high point man for the Eagles by scoring 15 markers.

The "B" game was played on more of an even scale until the final frame when the freshmen came into their own and won the game by a very comfortable margin of 38-26. Lynn Wickizer was high for the "B's" with 11 points.
