

daniel f. murphy

130 Park Avenue Hoboken
League Leaders 1, 2, 4; Honor Pin 1, 2; Class
Officer 2, 3; Basketball Manager 1, 2, 3; Baseball
2, 3, 4; Intramural Council 4.

"Shylock" . . . "But Mister" . . . "What are you,
some kind of nut?" . . . "Demarest looks tough;
watch out." . . . "Hey, remember Mulvihill's camp?" . . . spunky catcher . . .

2

on

June 2

walter f. baile

307 Pearsall Avenue Jersey City
League Leaders 2; Sodality 1; Basketball Manager
1, 2, 3, 4; French Club 3.

"Basil" . . . "Greenville Boy" . . . got lost during fire drill in freshman year . . . summertime mosquito killer . . . shotgun to school in Netchert's Pontiac . . . member of Mr. Hanlon's "raven club" . . . "I should take two points off your mark for that!" . . .

CITY FINAL

The Weather Ahead

Mostly sunny and less humid, high in low 60's today;
fair and mild tomorrow with high near 80.

THE JERSEY JOURNAL

and Jersey Observer

96th Year — No. 27

Second Class Postage
Paid at Jersey City, N. J.

Saturday, June 2, 1962

5 cents

TITLE RESEARCH — Lucretia Liberatore, Hudson County's spelling champion, pores over a volume of her recently - won Encyclopaedia Britannica for the spelling of what may be a crucial word in next week's National Spelling Bee finals in Washington, D. C. Lucretia, 14, finds a pleasant atmosphere for the job in the kitchen of her parents' home at 412 Van Nostrand Ave., Jersey City. (Van News Photo.)

Leaves Tomorrow

Hudson Spelling Champ

Nuclear Test Off Till Sunday Many Nations Protest Firing

HONOLULU (UPI) — The first in a series of United States nuclear tests in the skies over Johnston Island in the South Pacific was postponed today and rescheduled for tonight at 10 p.m. (4 a.m., EDT, Sunday).

The Atomic Energy Commission office confirmed the postponement but declined to disclose any reason for it.

The test had been scheduled for 10 p.m. last night, but was put off repeatedly. The hundreds of Hawaiians gathered to watch the awesome display had dwindled to a hardy few by the time the final postponement announcement was made.

Leftists Protest

Thousands of leftists and students protesting the tests demonstrated in Tokyo before the residence of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and the U.S. Embassy.

In San Francisco, pacifist demonstrators ended their second day of protests against the arrest of the crew of the trimaran Everyman. The craft's three-man crew intended to sail into the test zone, but was intercepted under a federal court injunction nine miles off the California coast.

British. French. Japanese. Aus-

DOGGONE HAPPY — Princess, the kitten owned by little Deborah Vegular of 3223 Liberty Ave., North Bergen, snuggles up to her best friend, Puddles. Puddles, a mother herself, has been caring for her feline friend.

Market
Officers
Mop Up

Publisher

Walter Dear Dead at 85;
Was Co-Owner of Journal

Own Men Kill Red G.I. Shot, Spy Dead in Korea Battle

It Happens

Worthy Cause Loses Funds

A new candidate for Union City police's "meanest thief" title is the person who stole a Cancer Society container from a candy stand at the Colony Theatre, 140 43rd St.

What Price Neatness?

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — A U.S. Army soldier was wounded yesterday during a running gun battle with three Communist North Korean spies near the truce line, a U.S. Army spokesman reported today.

The spokesman said one of the spies was killed, apparently by his two other companions who escaped.

THE INCIDENT occurred about 5,000 yards south of the demilitarized zone in the U.S. First Cavalry Division area, the spokesman said.

The name of the wounded G.I. was not released.

U.S. and South Korean troops were searching the south bank of the Imjin River, where the two Communist agents are believed to be hiding, the spokesman said.

He said the three spies were

Publisher

Walter Dear Dead at 85; Was Co-Owner of Journal

Walter M. Dear, a former publisher and co-owner of The Jersey Journal, died today at his home, 34 Bentley Ave.

Mr. Dear, 85, died in his sleep, according to his daughter, Katherine A. Dear. Before he had retired for the night, he had stayed up to await the arrival of another daughter and his two grandsons from North Carolina, she added.

MR. DEAR was the son of the late Joseph A. Dear and Katherine Barbour Dear. He was predeceased by four brothers, Joseph, William, Elmore and Arthur Dear, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Gurney.

He graduated from the Hasbrouck Institute in Jersey City in 1893 and Princeton University in 1897. In 1898 he became a reporter for the Evening Journal, now The Jersey Journal.

WALTER M. DEAR

Kenny Returns To City Hall: Motive, Parking

There is speculation by some over the reason for former Mayor John V. Kenny's appearance at City Hall yesterday for the first time since he resigned as chief executive in 1953.

However, here is the lowdown on his visit: Kenny, after attending mass at St. Anthony's R.C. Church at Sixth and Monmouth Streets, observed that with the clearing of several city-owned lots, much needed parking space would be available for parishioners of nearby St. Anthony's and Holy Rosary Churches on Sunday mornings.

He headed straight for the Mayor's office where he offered the suggestion.

LAUNCH DRIVE—Msgr. Leo Mahoney, pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Greenville, goes over plans for launching fund drive for youth program of parish. Seated with him are Harold J. Ruvoldt, president of United Parish Societies, and Mrs. Frank Laslo, of Sacred Heart League. Standing, from left, are Walter McInerney, Holy Name Society president; Mrs. Edna Wall, of Rosary Society; Jack McCoy of Catholic Youth Organization and Mrs. Frank Laslo, of Sacred Heart League. (Van News Photo.)

TIDE TABLE

	A.M.	P.M.
Sandy Hook	8:23	8:42
Great Kills Harbor	8:30	8:49
Red Bank	10:11	10:30
Long Branch	7:49	8:08
Shark River Inlet	8:05	8:24
Belmar Boat Basin	8:50	9:09
Manasquan Inlet	8:11	8:30
Manasquan River	8:43	9:02
Toms River	1:19	1:00
Barnegat Inlet	8:03	8:22

Abuse of Detective

Costs Hobokenite $25

Bernard J. Hyland, 35, of 208 Park Ave., Hoboken, was fined $25 in Municipal Court yesterday for abusing a detective who questioned him.

Hyland was arrested early yesterday by Detective James Dougherty at Journal Square, after Dougherty questioned Hyland about a theft at a food store in the area.

Sinatra Wows Meg

LONDON (UPI)—Frank Sinatra wowed a capacity crowd of 3,500 Londoners, including Princess Margaret, at a post-midnight benefit performance early today and then threw a party that broke up at dawn with a breakfast of bacon, eggs and champagne.

Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, cheered and laughed as Sinatra sang and joked his way through a 91-minute show for the fund for the Invalid Children's Aid Association.

Shortly before the show started, as latecomers purchased tickets from scalpers at $140 a seat, Princess Margaret and Sinatra met briefly and shook hands.

Royalty Celebrates

The Duke of Windsor, 68, and his duchess, 65, celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary tomorrow with a champagne party on the high seas. They are en route from New York to France.

The marriage of the former King Edward VIII and the former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore on June 3, 1937, climaxed a romance which rocked the world. The King abdicated the British throne to marry "the woman I love," and they became the most talked about couple of the day.

And in London, Queen Elizabeth II, who occupies the throne Windsor abdicated, celebrated her official 36th birthday today with the customary award of honors to hundreds of Britons and the observance of a centuries-old tradition of military pagentry.

The occasion also marked the ninth anniversary of her coronation, 16 months after she actually became queen on the death of her father, King George VI, on Feb. 6, 1952.

Elizabeth actually turned 36 on April 21. Her official birthday is celebrated on the first Saturday in June because, as some Britons put it, "the rain is warmer at that time of year."

Rutgers Men Pick Negress as Queen

IRVINGTON (UPI) — Geneva Streeter, a 19-year-old history major and cheerleader became the first Negro to be chosen queen of Rutgers University's Newark Colleges.

Miss Streeter was crowned here just before midnight.

She was chosen by a student-wide vote in a contest sponsored by the Rutgers Newark student paper, The Observer.

Miss Streeter, who lives in Newark, is also the state vice president of the Junior National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

She was sponsored by Tau Delta Phi fraternity.

14

The Journal Pre-Views Tonight's TV

8:30 7 LEAVE IT TO
BEAVER

In tonight's show, four boys make a pact, three chicken out, and there's Beaver (Jerry Mathers) holding the bag. Monster sweatshirts are the issue here, when Beaver and friends all agree to wear the ugly things to school. Even though Beaver's father tells him to put on a shirt, he manages to show up in class with a Martian with three eyes on the front of his shirt.

9:30 2 HAVE GUN, WILL TRAVEL

Paladin's (Richard Boone) client tonight is an arrogant old cripple played by Jay Novello, who endears himself to Paladin no end by calling our hero a "Spiritual assassin." Despite this, Paladin helps the man to track down a young man said to be a murderer and corruptor. The search leads to a mother and son, one of whom is the elusive killer's stooge. There's a twist ending here.

10:00 2 GUNSMOKE

Love comes to Chester (Dennis Weaver) tonight in the person of Sondra Kerr, a young girl with little acting experience, but a "Julie Harris" quality. The special effects department was kept busy here: they constructed a break-away shack, a plow that falls apart when Chester falls over it, and a flooded cave. (Repeat, 1 hour.)

SPORTS

12:55 9 Baseball — San Francisco Giants vs. N. Y. Mets, from the Polo Grounds. (2)

Bishop Sheen

Parenthood Best Learned From Good Kids' Folks

By FULTON J. SHEEN

Just as painting is learned best from the great artists, music from its masters and literature from its inspired poets and dramatists, so too the art of parenthood is best learned from those who have raised good children.

H. Bushnell was once asked, "After all, must not our children answer for themselves?" He responded: "This very often amounts to a negation of the responsibilities of the parental office." Such parents subside into a habit of negligence, like the ostrich. The burden of a father and mother toward children is not diminished, but increased by the personal liberty of the children. It would be far less cruel to be negligent of their bodily wants, for the body will maintain its growth, even when poorly clad and fed upon the coarsest fare; but the mind or soul, born to greater perils than weather, waits to be led into choices and tastes; and finally into habits that are to be its character for eternity.

Bishop Sheen

Hollywood

Jackie Gleason Arrives With Splurge for 'Papa'

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD—Even royalty has seldom arrived in Hollywood with as much of a splurge as marked the advent of Jackie Gleason to start "Papa's Delicate Condition" at Paramount. Jackie wasn't successful in getting a private railroad car to transport his entourage across the country, but he connected with a whole mess of drawing rooms.

Naturally, the retinue alighted at Pasadena — no one goes into Los Angeles, you know. Waiting for Gleason and associates were four limousines, assorted press agents, reporters and a sprinkling of friends. Then, the whole caravan set out for the mansion Jackie has rented in Beverly Hills for the duration.

IN KEEPING with the Hollywood cliché that divorced couples remain "the best of friends," Joan Fontaine is stopping at the home of her ex-husband, Collier Young, while she's in town.

Joan owns an apartment building in Beverly Hills and maintains the penthouse for herself, but she's having it redecorated, and a gal just can't be comfortable in all that confusion. It's much less cluttered moving in with a friendly "ex." Joan's visit isn't long anyway. She returns to New York on Tuesday.

— COMFORTABLY COOL —
Last Complete Show 9:30

NOW LOEW'S JERSEY CITY JOURNAL SQ

DOORS OPEN 11:45

Metro Goldwyn Mayer presents
A CUTE PRODUCTION
CINEMASCOPE
METROCOLOR

JIM HUTTON
PAULA PRENTISS
JACK CARTER

HORIZONTAL LIEUTENANT

and
EDGAR ALLAN POE'S
"The TELL-TALE HEART"

IT'S FUN TIME!
at the PI DELTA

Willie Mays Still 'Owns' New York Fans

JOURNAL SPORTS
OBSERVER

The Jersey Journal, June 2, 1962

5

Baseball Bits

Dallas Seen First In Line For Kansas City Franchise

By JACK LANG

The shift of the Kansas City Athletics to Dallas is so close that the American League already has worked out a tentative schedule for 1963 including the Texas city in its travel plans. Only two things can prevent the move. One is that several A.L. owners feel that any new city in the league should be on the West Coast, thus cutting down travel costs which are prohibitive with Los Angeles the only stop on the long trek West. The other reason is that the owners feel more reprisals from the courts in Washington if they continue to shift franchises around like a floating crap game.

Hottest rumor in baseball is that Lou Perini will eventually sell out to local interests in Milwaukee. The once flourishing franchise is dying on the vine and isn't likely to improve under Perini's ownership. . . . Whitey Ford, watching a Met game on TV the other night, spotted several flaws in Ken Mackenzie's motion. He passed them along to his old pal Casey Stengel, who can use all the help he can get these days. . . . Sam Mele the current No. 1 candidate for manager of the year in the A.L. . . . Did you notice the skin tight pants Maury Wills wears? He looks like a zoot suiter. No baggy pants for the thief of Walter O'Malley's bagdad. They'd only slow him down.

DUKE SNIDER

Bayonne, Snyder Go At It Again Today; Memorial Backs Into North Hudson Title

Bees Win In Game Of Errors

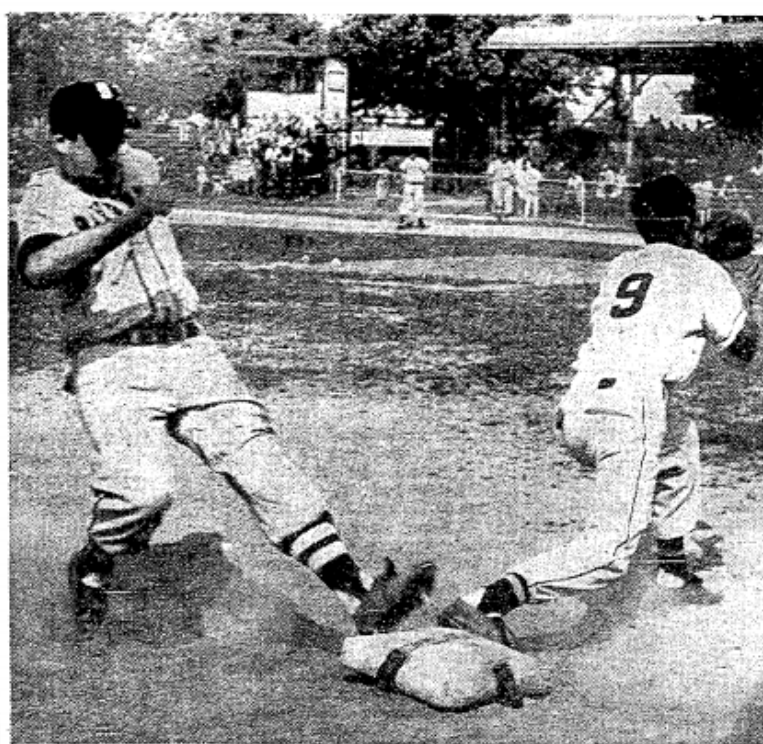

By CAS RAKOWSKI

After watching Snyder and Bayonne set scholastic baseball back 10 years with shoddy play, you could see why Coach Jerry MacKinney of Snyder and Ed Skeuse of Bayonne were looking forward to today's vital clash at Jersey City High School Field.

Every kind of error — mental, omission and commission — was committed. When it was all over Bayonne took first place in the South Hudson Baseball League, with a 5-4 win in a very loosely played game at Bayonne City Park Stadium.

BUT IT WAS a different story at Old Colony Field where Jack O'Dea of St. Peter's hurled perfect baseball for six and a third innings before Nick Simonetti stroked a single. O'Dea still managed to gain a shutout with a 6-0 triumph over St. Michael's that closed St. Peter's League record at 9-5 and overall mark at 11-7.

The mental errors were the ones that cost Snyder the game and possibly the South Hudson title yesterday. Believing the count was full instead of 2-2 Tiger Pete Duma "walked" to second base in the sixth and was thrown out. Snyder went on to tie the score

REACHING FOR THE BAG—Bayonne's Dan Nelson lunges at third base as he reaches it safely in the fourth inning of yesterday's game. Waiting for a late throw is Snyder's Jim LeFante. Bayonne won, 6-4. (Van News Photo.)

St. Joseph's Loses Chance To Tie Mems

By LARR YBABICH

Ah, the sweet smell of success.

And to Memorial's Hal Otis the scent is just as strong even if his Tigers had to back into the North Hudson title.

"We'll take it anyway it comes," exclaimed Otis after St. Michael's eliminated St. Joseph's from the race with a stunning 4-0 whitewash job last night under the lights at Union City's Roosevelt Stadium. "It would have been nice to win the championship hip on the field, but it feels just as good to back into the title."

MEMORIAL came close to wrapping up the tiara yesterday afternoon, but Marty Seglio's Blue Jays scored two runs in the fifth inning to overtake the Tigers, 3-2, at North Hudson County Park.

To say that Memorial was the Cinderella club this season is like saying that Liz Taylor dislikes men. The West New Yorkers dropped five of their first seven games, but bounced back to win 13 of 16 league games, including eight of their last nine.

For Otis, the championship is his sixth in 12 years of coaching and his first since 1958. There's no doubt that this was his finest

Crowd Reacts Wildly

Helps Giants Defeat Mets

By JACK LANG

The Polo Grounds is still Willie Mays' ball park and the Mets notwithstanding, he's still the darling of the fanatics who inhabit it.

They let loose cheers they hadn't used yet when Willie returned "home" last night. There were only 43,742 of them on hand — some 12,000 less than showed up to welcome back the Dodgers on Wednesday — but they made as much noise as the huge holiday throng.

MOST OF THE enthusiasm was reserved for Willie. The moment he stepped on the field at 6:40 the few thousand early arrivals let go with a round of applause.

Each time Willie stepped in the cage in batting practice the cheers grew louder because the park was beginning to fill.

And then, at 7:55, when the Giants, one by one, were called to the plate to be introduced, the applause was mild until Mays — the last to be announced by Ralph Kiner — trotted out to stand with his teammates along the foul line.

THE NITE was deafening and it lasted for fully a minute. Willie acknowledged the cheers by doffing his cap and waving it to the crowd.

He was "home" and he knew it. Willie admitted later that the crowd reaction gave him goose bumps.

"That's only the second time I ever felt that way," he said with a big grin. "The other time was

Yanks Top Angels

Harrington

"That's only the second time I ever felt that way," he said with a big grin. "The other time was at Yankee Stadium last year in the exhibition game. I thought there was a little more enthusiasm that night but this was great."

"I WAS NERVOUS before the game because the fans were treating me like I never left. I was afraid I'd disappoint them."

But he didn't.

In five official trips he ripped a line drive homer into the lower right field seats and a single, flied out, grounded out and almost decapitated Felix Mantilla with a line drive which the third baseman somehow managed to hold on to.

"It's always great to hit a homer," he concluded, "but what was so different about this one? I've hit plenty here before. Just playing in New York again was a thrill enough for me."

IT WAS A THRILL enough for the fans, too, because this was Willie's crowd. No player ever had a more captive audience. This wasn't the usual Met crowd. There were enough of the new club's fans on hand to get excited when the Mets battled back from a 9-1 deficit to almost tie it in the ninth. But these were mostly Willie's fans.

Diamond Digging

Yankee Yarn...

A limping Mickey Mantle reported, donned a uniform and took batting practice. Batting righthanded, Mick slugged two into the seats. His limp indicates he will be sidelined for a long time. But he says hopefully: "I hope to be able to play in two weeks." . . . Bo Belinsky says he telephoned Mantle when he was in the hospital. "He's supposed to be a nice guy," Bo said, "so I wished him a speedy recovery. I didn't say I'd strike him out when I face him as someone wrote." . . . Bo is now 6-2 . . . With the signing of 17-year-old Ronnie Boyer to a "modest" bonus contract yesterday, the Yankees now have one Boyer to go. But they must wait two years until 15-year-old Lenny Boyer graduates from high school. Lenny is a lefthanded hitter and if you listen to the Boyer clan he's the "best player in the family." Ronnie will be assigned to a Yank farm club in a week or so. He is a third-baseman but the Yanks may switch him to shortstop in the minor leagues . . . Hal Reniff, a help as a reliever last season, will join Yankees Tuesday. He completes his six-month tour of Army duty Monday and he begins working out with Yanks. The Yankees will wait a couple of weeks before adding the chunky righthander to the active list.

By NAT BERG

Political Whirl

WHIPPLE ON BENCH BY MONDAY NIGHT

Lawrence A. Whipple will be a Superior Court Judge by Monday night, a reliable source in Trenton tells The Jersey Journal.

This is how it will be worked out on Monday:

The State Senate's Judiciary Committee, of which Sen. Charles Sandman is chairman, will give its unqualified approval of Whipple. Then the Senate meeting for the last time until after the Nov. 6 general election, will confirm him. Whipple will be sworn in the same day.

THAT WILL leave Whipple's post as Hudson County Prosecutor vacant. Immediate steps will be taken to fill the vacancy. With Gov. Richard J. Hughes's blessings, Attorney General Arthur J. Sills will name James A. Tumulty Jr., Jersey City City Clerk, deputy attorney general, and assign him to Hudson in the absence of a Prosecutor.

It is also expected that the Senate, when it reconvenes in November will have before it for confirmation Tumulty's name for appointment as prosecutor to complete Whipple's unexpired five-year term, scheduled to end March 12, 1963.

The Prosecutor's salary is $17,000 a year.

Tumulty will request of the mayor—and be granted—a leave of absence from the City Clerk's $15,000 a-year-position. Tumulty's deputy is Bernard Rosengard, a career man in the office who has been mentioned as successor in an acting capacity. However, there are a few powerful forces bucking hard for the job.

HITCH-HIKER

