Johnathan Lewis threw four touchdown passes and ran for two TDs as St. Peter's Prep, No. 8 in the NJ.com Top 20, defeated Eastern Christian of Maryland, 52-44 at Caven Point's Cochrane Field in Jersey City.

Lewis, who completed 16-of-21 passes for 301 yards, put St. Peter's Prep in front for good at 7-6 with a 6-yard TD pass to Miles Strickland. The junior quarterback added second quarter TD passes to Kolton Huber (27 yards) and KJ Gray (38 yards). Lewis and Gray would team up for an 83-yard TD pass in the fourth quarter to make it 52-38.

Gray, a Boston College commit, finished with four receptions for 175 yards while Huber, a Pennsylvania commit, added five catches for 47 yards. Jorge Portorreal had five receptions for 64 yards and also returned an interception 45 yards for a TD.

On defense, Huber recovered a fumble and had an interception.

Football playoffs, 2015: Non-Public, Group 4 preview and predictions

By Patrick Lanni | NJ Advance Media for NJ.com

NON-PUBLIC, GROUP 4

The favorite: It's been an 11-year title drought for Bergen Catholic, but the Crusaders are full steam ahead on Mission 17.

There are a lot of question marks surrounding the return of quarterback Jarrett Guarantano, but if the Tennessee-bound senior is fully-healthy, he'll suit up, and that makes Bergen Catholic the most dangerous team in the section. In his absence, coach Nunzio Campanile has relied on the ground game and defense to get by, but with Guarantano behind center, the Crusaders will try to out-gun the field en route to their 17th state title in school history.

The contenders: St. Augustine, the No. 1 seed, wanted a shot against a North Jersey parochial power, and the Hermits got what they asked for. The last three seasons, the Hermits have lost to Don Bosco Prep twice in the first round and to St. Peter's Prep in the semifinals by a combined score of 116-35. Have the Hermits closed the gap? We'll find out when they host eighth-seeded St. Joseph (Mont.) Friday night.

As for the Green Knights, defense has been their IO all season long, and in their return to Group 4, coach Augie Hoffmann will rely on stuffing the run and winning low-scoring games to get back to MetLife.

To get to the final, St. Joe's will likely have to get past fourth-seeded St. Peter's Prep. The Marauders are playing their usual high-level football but lack a signature win and a 47-14 loss to Bergen Catholic in Week 1 remains a black mark on Prep's resumé. Still, Rich Hansen's team has the playmakers and offensive fire power to compete with any team in the section.

On the other side of the bracket, second-seeded Don Bosco is likely awaiting a colossal semifinal showdown with rival Bergen Catholic if both teams advance to the semifinals. Two weeks ago, the Ironmen outlasted the Crusaders, 24-19, and will try to do it again to get back to the final for the first time since 2011.

The dark horse: St. Joe's has a chance to be the lowest-seeded team to make it to the final. The eighth-seeded Green Knights have the defense to beat any team in the bracket, but the offense has struggled at times and that has to be concerning for the school from Montvale.

Best first-round game: Brothers Nunzio and Vito Campanile will coach against each other for the first time in their careers Friday night when Bergen Catholic and Seton Hall Prep square off, but the Nunzio-led Crusaders will be a heavy favorite to advance. That's why the best the best first-round game will be in Richland where St. Augustine and St. Joseph (Mont.) square off at 7 p.m.

Game we'd like to see: A Bergen Catholic-Don Bosco Prep semifinal will be massive for so many reasons, but add in the fact that it might be the return of Jarrett Guarantano, and this could be one of the best in the 66-year history of this rivalry.

Players to watch

It's officially playoff time for the 2015 high school football season in New Jersey, and before the teams take the field

Oddly enough, in a season where the Top 20 rankings have changed drastically week to week, the Week 10 Top 20 features some stability, with 17 teams holding on to their previous rankings, and only one new team entering the fold.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL GAME TO BE STAGED IN IRELAND IN 2016

Boston College will be making its second football visit to Ireland; in 1988 Boston College played and defeated Army 38-24 in front of a 42,000 crowd in the old Lansdowne Road. Speaking about the 2016 Aer Lingus College Football Classic, Fr. William P Leahy expressed his delight at the opportunity for Boston College to return to Ireland for another College Football game “Our history and our connections with Ireland are well known, we are very proud of our campus on Dublin’s St. Stephen’s Green. 2016 is a very special year in Ireland’s history and we are particularly pleased that we will be travelling with hopefully tens of thousands Boston College supporters to share in those celebrations and enjoy this important conference game with Georgia Tech”.

BOSTON COLLEGE EAGLES

Boston College was founded in 1863 by the Society of Jesus to serve the sons of Boston's Irish immigrants and was the first institution of higher education to be founded in the city of Boston. Today, it is one of the foremost universities in the nation, with a coeducational enrollment of nearly 14,700 undergraduate and graduate students. BC boasts a rich American football tradition that includes 24 postseason bowl games, a Heisman Trophy winner (Doug Flutie) and nine members of the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame. The Eagles are coached by Steve Addazio, who has led the team to two consecutive postseason bowl games since becoming head coach in 2013. BC has, in fact, participated in a postseason bowl game in 14 of the last 16 seasons. We Are BC
