Prep Bids Farewell to Visiting Students from Peru

As Prep heads into the long Presidents' Day weekend, we say goodbye to ten students and two faculty members from Colegio de La Inmaculada in Lima, Peru, who have been with us for the past two weeks. In addition to time at Prep and off-campus activities with their Prep hosts, the Peruvian students also had the opportunity to visit several other Jesuit institutions – Cristo Rey High School, Fordham University and Fordham Prep, and Xavier High School.

As Prep heads into the long Presidents' Day weekend, we say goodbye to ten students and two faculty members from Colegio de La Inmaculada in Lima, Peru, who have been with us for the past two weeks. In addition to time at Prep and off-campus activities with their Prep hosts, the Peruvian students also had the opportunity to visit several other Jesuit institutions – Cristo Rey High School, Fordham University and Fordham Prep, and Xavier High School.

On Monday (pictured above), our visitors and their hosts met for lunch with Prep's president, Fr. Ken Boller, S.J. The group discussed the similarities and differences between the Jesuit high school experience in Peru and in the United States.
