Future Bright For St. Peter's Prep Basketball Program This Year - by John Kelly, Jr. '04

Trevis Wyche, Sean Cummings, and Matt Halchak depart. Juniors Austin White, Vic Jusino, Sean Ryan, and Austin Roche return this year with a bevy of young talent behind them.

Freshman big man Najja Hunter had 18 last year versus Kearny and 8 points in the Marauders opening playoff win over Paramus Catholic. Junior Chris Wright provides defensive toughness and if he can exhibit the savage rebounding ability shown versus Plainfield it will help.

St. Peter's Prep scores with 14-year-old basketball phenom

The basketball team at St. Peter's Prep has scored a slam dunk with 14-year-old Nate Pierre-Louis, who is expected to be one of the most highly pursued players in the country, The Star-Ledger reported.

The Plainfield resident will join the team this fall as a freshman, but Pierre-Louis has been playing basketball since he was a toddler.

Pierre-Louis is also already being scouted by colleges and universities around the country, and the future Prep point guard has received an offer from Rutgers, the report says.

Nate Pierre-Louis of St. Peter's works the ball past M. Lawrence, of Newark Tech, during a J.C. Rec. Summer League game July 10 at Dickinson.

"He's just starting to sniff his potential," St. Peter's Prep head coach Todd Decker said. "This biggest thing is his work ethic. He's always in the gym – he wants this. He's a very talented kid with a high skill level. He has a long way to go, but he's willing to put in the work and effort to get there."

"And the alma mater, St. Peter's Prep, will get another crack at winning the Non-Public Group 4 title after defeating St. Augustine Prep last night. The Marauders haven't won the state title since 2005 and they'll get a chance to rid some demons, facing either Don Bosco Prep or Paramus Catholic in the finals at MetLife Stadium in two weeks. The Marauders haven't won a big game against the Bergen County powers since that win in 2005. Maybe this is the year."
