Blondes Have Fun

Is it true blondes have more fun?

Lynn Borud: I think it is definitely true blondes have more fun — because . . .

Debbie Cornelius: It all depends on what you call fun.

Ann Skurdal: Boys with blonde hair maybe — but girls??

Carol Jensen: I don't know about more fun, but . . .

Debby Fougner: It all depends on who the blonde is.

Mrs. Heinert: Until the roots grow out . . .

Mr. Heinert: Not really. (This is one of his slower days).

Laurie Knutson: Fun is for little kids. Yeh, I'd say it was true.

Sherman DuRose: You better believe it!!!

Chuck Stearman: NO!!!!

Laurie Huss: Not from my point of view.

Pam Ritter: No, but it's true redheads have more fun with blondes.

Mike Hughes: Especially blondes going with redheads!!

Jeanne Palmer: Definitely not!!

Kathie Brunelle: Only your hair dresser knows for sure.

Kim Ross: Is he a bleached blonde?

Joan Nygaard: It depends, doesn't it!

Cynthia LeTourneau: Well . . . Bill would know better than I would.

Bill Walters: Blondes! Are you crazy?

Val Johnson: It depends on what you call fun.

Mr. Thue: I know it's true . . .

Jan Falstad: Only with certain people.

Bill Johnson: They have just about as much fun as the rest of us do.

TEST ADDRESS

By SHARON LANGERUD

Three hours and four minutes ago, our Mr. Haag brought forth upon 7B a literature test, conceived in questions and dedicated to the proposition that all shall flunk. Now we are possessed with desperation wondering whether that test, or any test, so hard and so tough, can be passed. We are met together with fear. We have come to dedicate a portion of our hearts as a final resting place for those who received an "F" that their parents won't raise the roof. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense, can we succeed, can we pass, can we endure this test? The brave kids, grounded and not grounded, who struggled here with pen and paper, have flunked them too often, far above our poor power to get a lower mark. Junior high will little note nor long remember that it was lit that brought us down, but they can always refer to their records. It is for us, the ungrounded rather, to here get an "A" on that test which contains titles, authors, and vocabulary. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us — that somehow or other we will get to eighth grade — that we here highly resolve that those grounded shall not have done so in vain, that us kids will get a new birth of good marks and receive an "A."

Is Chivalry Dead

A few days ago I was sitting in one of my classes when suddenly one of my books fell. The noise of its hitting the floor was shocking but it was even more shocking when the boy across the aisle picked it up for me. It set me to thinking. What would the girls do if all of a sudden the boys held open the door for them, carried their books, picked up the things they dropped, or even smiled and said "Hi" as they passed us in the halls?

I realize that some of the boys are now protesting, "But if I do that, the girl will say I like her!" Maybe so, but if you treat all the girls nice, they'll all like you. Now tell me, wouldn't you like that?

MUSIC '67

Did you attend the concert (on Band Day) of the University of Minnesota Band and special guest Doc Severinsen? If you didn't, you missed a lot; his trumpet playing was beyond words!

Now back to our own bands here at JHS. Both the Symphonic and Concert bands did a good job with their spring concerts and Band Day. The real test, however, was May 20 when the Symphonic Band marched in Minot's parade.

I don't know exactly what the bands will be like next year, but I know they will be missing a certain enthusiastic band director. Mr. Eckroth has acquired a new job in Grand Forks at the St. James High School. I think everyone in band agrees that he has done and is doing a wonderful job of teaching and I'm sure his new students in Grand Forks will feel the same way.

Good luck, Mr. Eckroth!!

UFO of Room 5

It was third period when suddenly amidst the usual rumble of hungry stomachs there came a sudden gasp. Bruce Bekkedahl white with fear, sat with his arm outstretched and finger pointing to the window. Quickly I turned and there behind the drawn window shade it was. A large circular object floating in mid-air right outside the window.

Fearless Karen Herberg called from inside of the desk in which she was hiding, "It's a flying saucer!!"

Brave Kathy Strom daringly grabbed the drawstring. Just then Mr. Beyer came in. Everyone was wailing in despair, "Now, we'll never know what it is."

Kind-hearted Mr. Beyer helped Kathy lower the shade. There it was in full view. It was a balloon. Or was it? Balloons don't usually stay in one place like that.

What held it up? No one could even think science with that outside. So with the help of a piece of wire and chalk tray Mr. Beyer rescued it.

So now I ask, "What held it up?" I know; everyone in 8B knows, Mr. Beyer knows, but do you?

Letter To Friend

Calliwood, Holly Fornia
United States and Part of Colorado
Same day of the same year

Dear Friend,

As I have time cause I ain't so busy, I thought I would write you a few lines eight or nine pages long, and tell you up-to-date news about nine months old. We are all feeling fine except for the shape we're in. Aunt Martha is dead. I hope this finds you the same way.

I suppose you will want to know about us moving to Holly Fornia from Colorado. We never started moving till we left, never turned off till we came to a crossroad that went there. So it never took any longer from the time we left till the time we got here. The trip was the best part of all. If you ever come out here don't miss that. They didn't expect to see us till we arrived, and most of the people we didn't know looked like strangers. John says he thinks we will stay here till we move or go somewhere else.

We are busy farming. We have two cows but we are going to sell one because we can't milk HIM. Eggs are a good price; that's why they're so high. I hope we can get a lot of them. We just bought 25 roosters and one old hen.

Some of the ground is so poor you can't even raise an umbrella on it. But we have a fine crop of potatoes. Some the size of peas and a bunch of little ones.

Mary was taking the cows to water and when they were going across the bridge, one of the cows fell in and strained her milk. Now she gets hiccups once a week and churns her own butter. The dog died last week. John said he swallowed the tape measure as he died by the inch. Mary said he went up the back alley and died by the yard. Jane said he crawled under the bed and died by the foot. Mother is sick and near death's door. We hope the doctor can pull her through it.

Jane fell off the back porch. It bruised her somewhat and skinned her elsewhere. Alice got the mumps and is having a SWELL time. Mary had a goiter in her stomach. The doctor said she had been drinking too much NEHI pop and it moved up on her. Every time grandpa gets a toothache his foot starts hurting and it doesn't stop until it quits.

I would have sent you the money I owe you, but I already had this letter sealed before I thought of it. I sent your overcoat, but cut off the buttons so it wouldn't be so heavy. You will find them in the left hand pocket on the right side. I put the address on the inside of the envelope so it wouldn't rub off. If you can't read my writing make a copy and read your own. It took me three days to write this because you are a slow reader. Write me if it is nothing but a check.

Love, someone you know and don't know

MRS. MAUD

Dear Ma Maud,
This guy Red had been shooting at me! What'll I do?

Snoopy

Dear Snoopy,
Don't look now but Red's Baron down on you!

Dear Ma Maud,
My girl Rosie says I look like a Mid Summer's Night scream. What's your opinion.

Jules

Dear Jules,
Eeeeeeeekkkkkkkkkkkkkk.

Dear Ma Maud,
Roland my ex boy friend said I look like a door. Is he right?

Tess

Dear Tess,
Don't knock it!

Dear Ma Maud,
I like my hair long — my mother doesn't. She said I look like a dog; do I?

Murray

Dear Murray,
What's your pedigree?
Rockhoud!

Dear Ma Maud,
I've recorded my first record. I think it's sensational, what would you call it?

David

Dear David,
A slipped disc!

Dear Ma Maud,
Everyone calls me dino — how come?

Dino

Dear Dino,
Is your last name Sour? (Dinosaur)
That's all for now.

Ma Maud

National FHA
Week Observed

On April 3 it was National FHA Week. During the week the girls did several things. On Tuesday it was color day and all FHA girls were supposed to wear red and white, which are the FHA colors. On Wednesday we held a tea in honor of the secretary and janitors, and we gave Mrs. Witt a dozen red roses. On Thursday we had a tea for the eighth grade girls. Special invitations were sent to each girl. Here they learned what we have been doing this year. On Friday, to conclude FHA Week, we had apple day. We gave all the teachers bright red apples. We feel that our FHA Week was a success.

At our last meeting the girl who attended the state convention in Fargo gave us a complete run-down on it. It sounded as though they had a lot of fun and also learned a lot.

This is our last school paper and it's been fun writing articles on FHA. I urge all you future freshmen to join next year, for it will be a very memorable experience. I hope to see a lot of you next year.

Spring Was Here

Spring came early this year.
And I was glad;
For the winter had been very long;

It gradually warmed up,
Until it became warm enough
To fly kites in the park.

Then came the rains;
The winds blew and the water fell,
The weather grew colder and colder,
Then — it snowed!

Spring Fashions

KAREN and LAURIE

In a sidewalk cafe, the home ec girls gave their spring style show on Monday, April 17. Each girl modeled the garment she had made in class. The narrators, Diane Stromme, Sandye Slocum, and Debby Fougner, described each outfit as it was modeled.

The stage was decorated as a sidewalk cafe with tables, chairs, signs, and cokes. A song was performed by Pat Laqua, Joan Heller, Geri Johnson and Barb Trogstad, who were accompanied by Sally Johnson, who played for the entire show.

CANTEEN

By CARLA LYNN BERGSTROM

The junior high canteen held their Twirp Dance on April 7. Many of the girls invited boys and I guess several of the girls were disappointed because they couldn't attend.

Say! Did you hear about the Grub Dance? The Invaders played for us and nobody dressed up. A prize was given to Dave Hilling for the most grubby clothes. I'm sure everyone had fun, thanks to the planning of Neil Amsbaugh, our latest member of Canteen Council. It was the first dance he planned and he did a fantabulous job of it.

Now for our May schedule. There is only one dance left this year. A dance was held on Band Day. Guess who played? The Strangers! It was for all eighth and ninth graders, including out-of-town students of that age.

Our last dance will be on May 26. It is not dressup. Admission will be 10 cents. There will be no junior high canteen this summer so I hope I will see you all at our last dance.

Some of my fellow canteeners have been wondering what it will be like next year. I have been told that canteen will be held similar to this year, eighth and ninth grades at one canteen and sophs, juniors and seniors at the other.

This will be my last canteen column so I just want to tell you how much fun I've had writing. I also have enjoyed watching you at canteen. Have a good summer. (If it ever gets here!)
