Eternal Commencement

Towards Our Eternal Commencement — through knowledge of self, through knowledge of God.

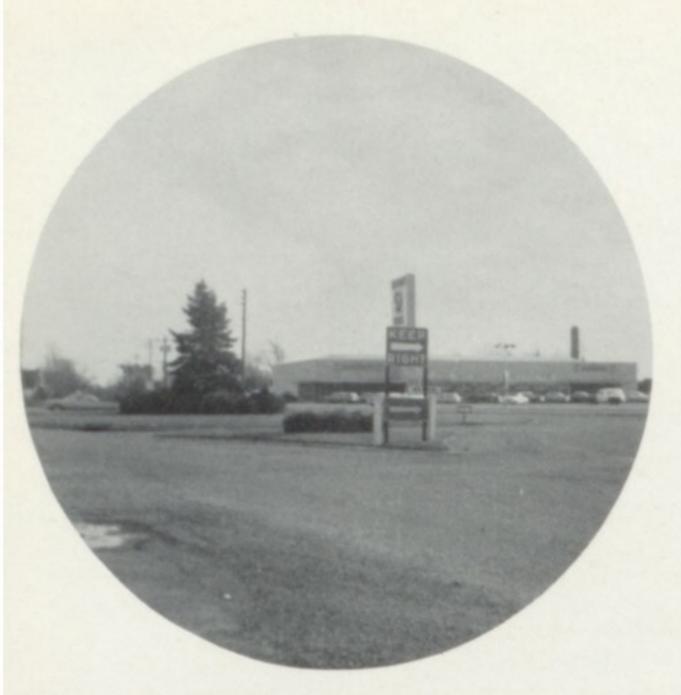

"Lord Jesus, let me know myself
And let me know Thee;
Nor may I desire anything except Thee."

(Prayer of St. Augustine)

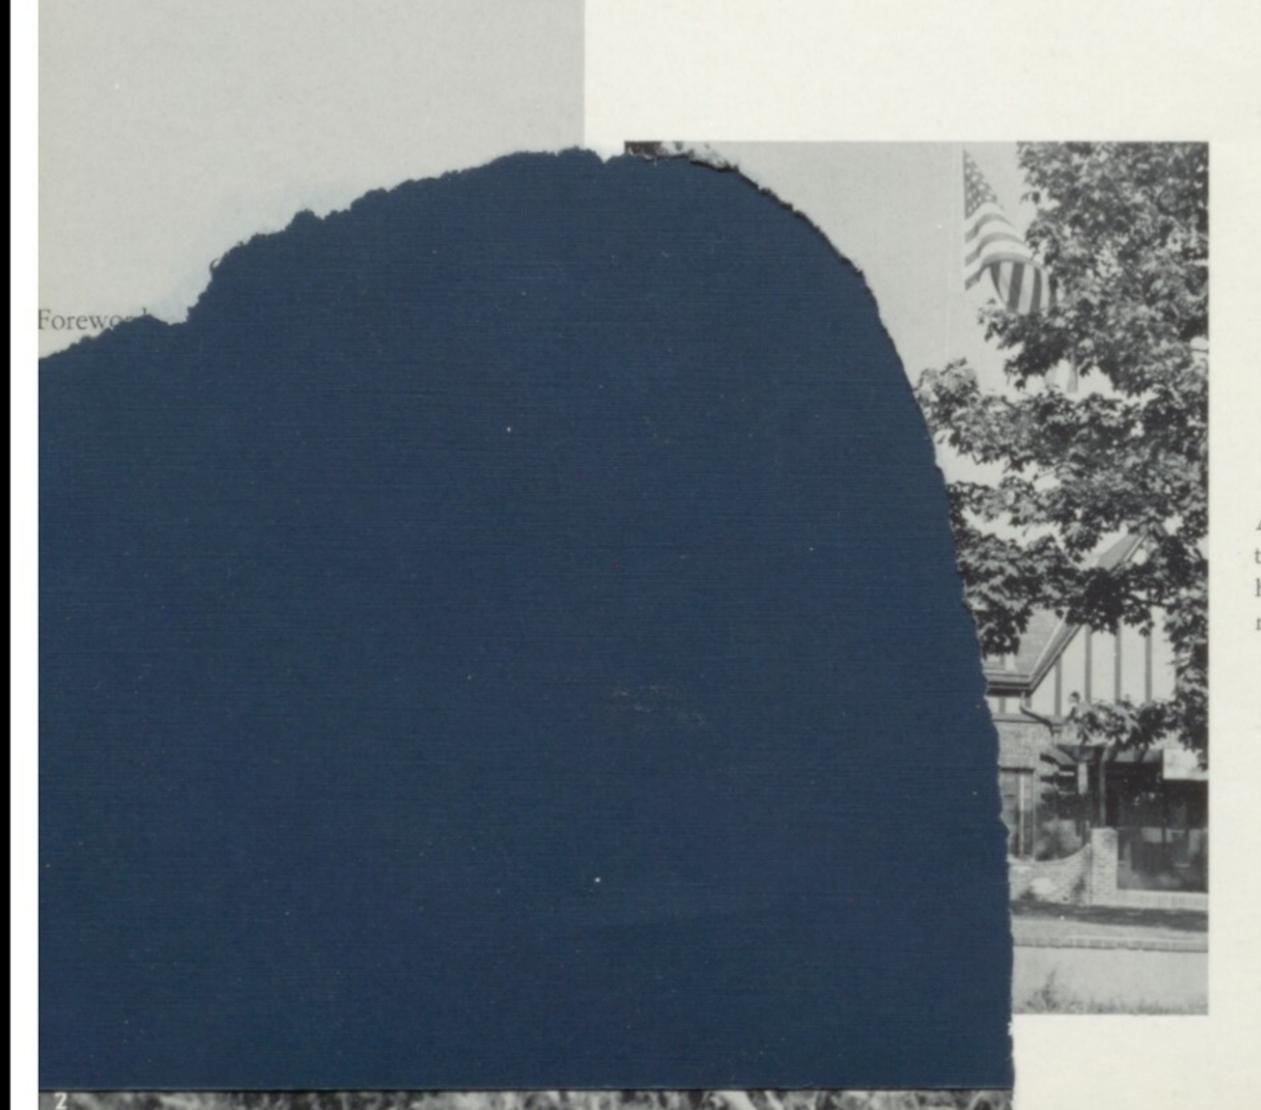

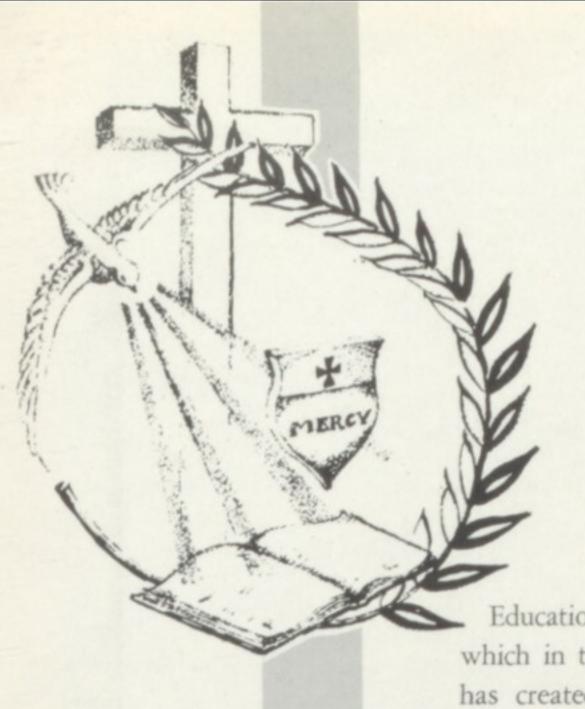

A familiar landmark to Mercyites.

The well-traveled road that leads to Mercy.

Alma Mater, treasure house of memories.

Foreword

Education, if rightly interpreted, brings knowledge and wisdom, which in turn lead to a strengthening and deepening of character. God has created us for one sole purpose, namely, to share the bliss of heaven with Him eternally, and it is, therefore, obvious that education of the mind alone is not sufficient to attain this goal. We must widen our horizons so as to include education and development of the soul.

The necessity for this well-rounded and complete concept of education is beautifully realized by the Catholic Church. A Catholic education develops and strengthens the mind. It gives us a knowledge of the world, its peoples, our relations to them. It helps us to understand their actions and to see things from other viewpoints than our own, narrow personal ones. It helps us to understand ourselves, our own actions, our words, our hopes and aspirations. A Catholic education trains and guides our souls so that we may know God that

Dedication

In sincere appreciation and gratitude we, the first graduating class of Mercy High School, dedicate this initial issue of "Misericordia" to Reverend Mother Mary Euphrasia, Superior of the Sisters of Mercy.

Reverend Mother has exerted a truly tremendous effort in behalf of our Alma Mater, and it is due to her courageous faith and diligent work that the idea of a Catholic High School in Riverhead has at last become a reality.

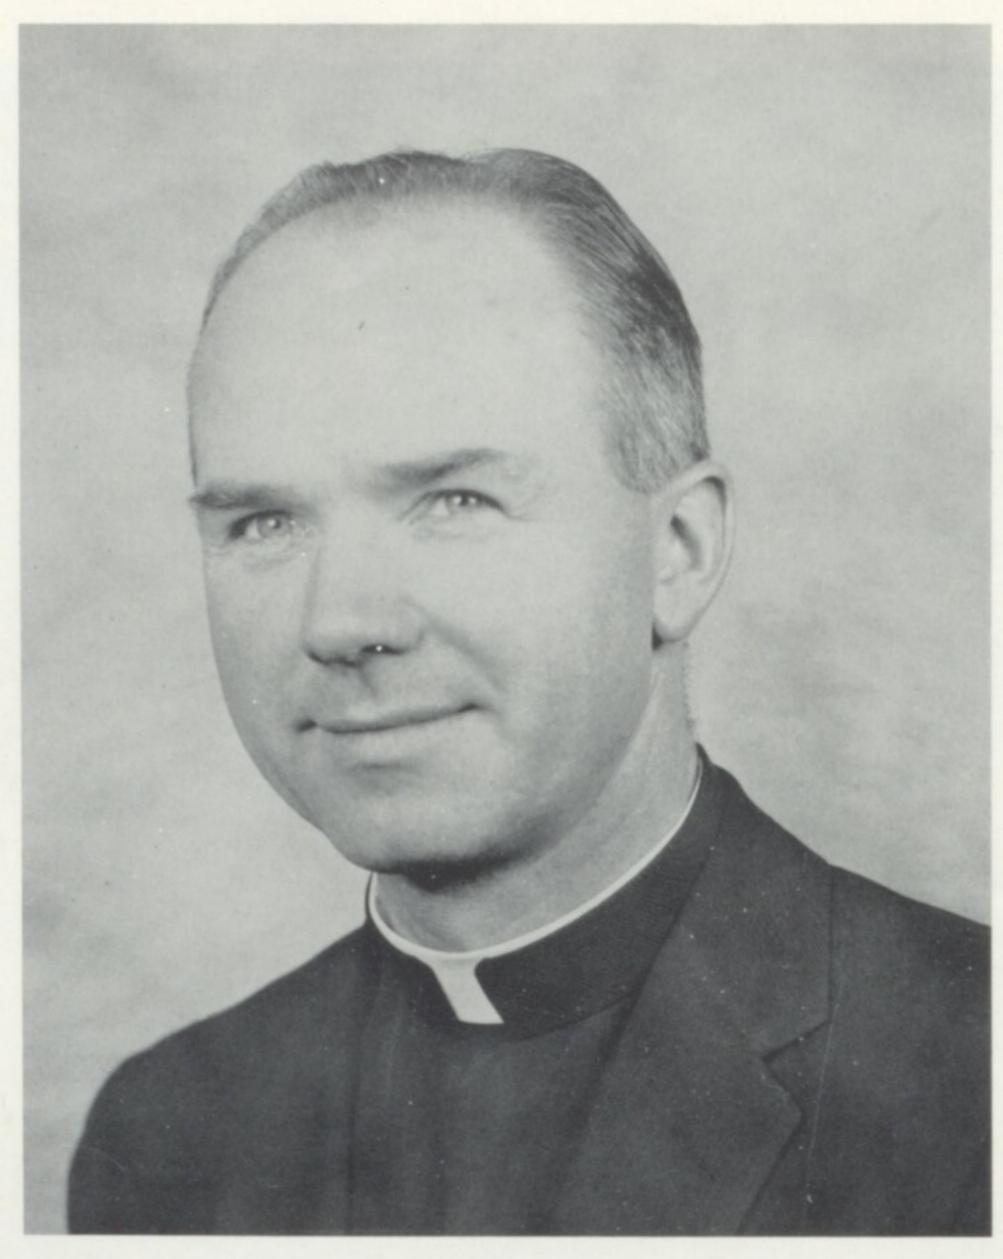

To Mother Mary Euphrasia we extend a sincere and heartfelt "Thank you" in our own behalf and in the name of all the students of Mercy High School. We are happy to have this opportunity of publicly expressing our deep gratitude to her.

A good friend to all at Mercy

SISTER MARY THEOPHANE, S.M.
Principal of Mercy High School

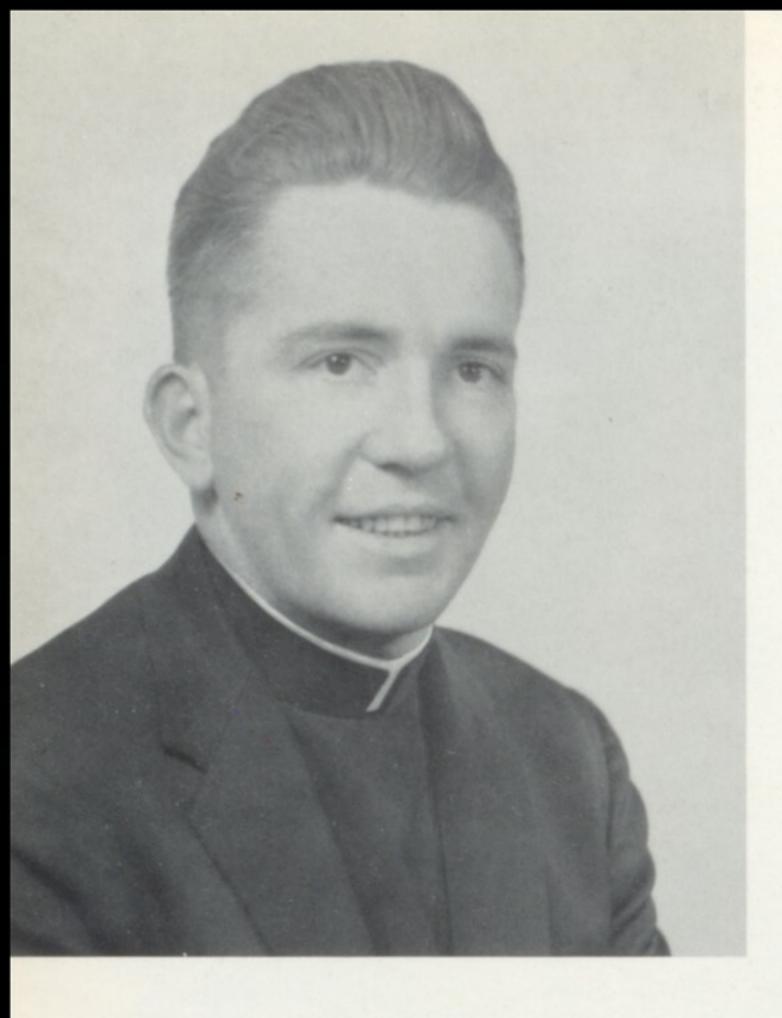

Students at Mercy know that Sister Mary Theophane is available at all times during the busy school day for scholastic assistance and individual guidance.

Stanley Cowan and Irene Crohan display with pride the records they won at the Yearbook Hop.

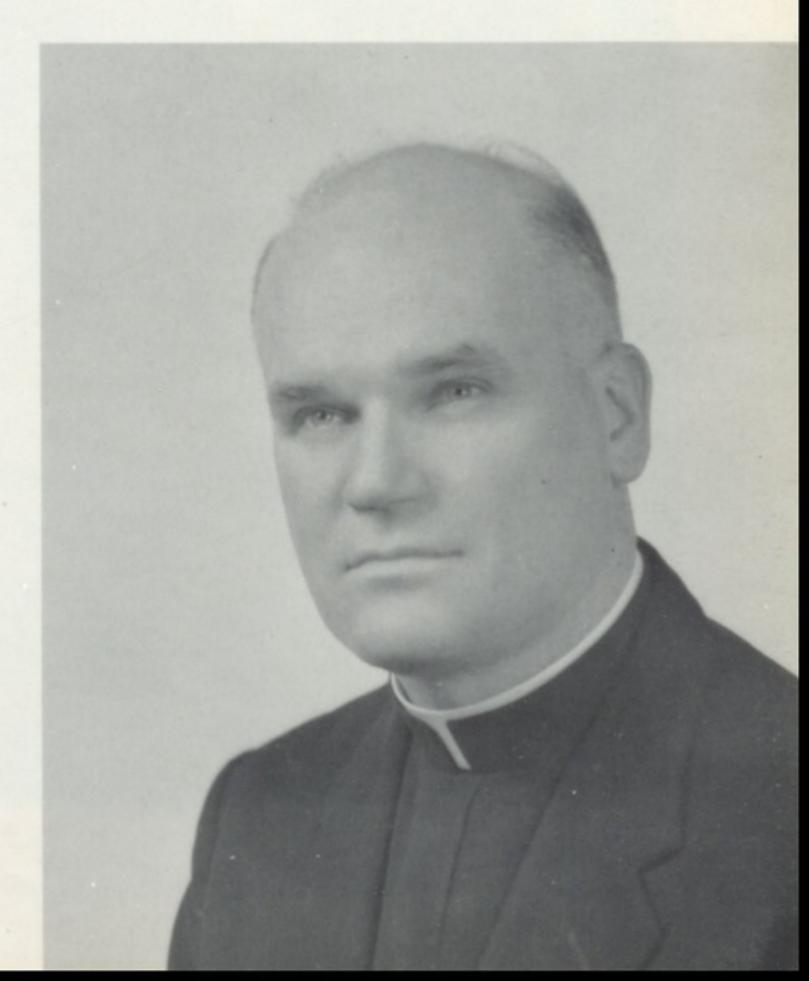

REVEREND KENNETH NEE

Father Nee has been a good friend, a dynamic religion teacher and an unfailing spiritual guide to us throughout our years at Mercy.

REVEREND CHARLES MOCKEVICIUS

Christ-like patience and understanding have made Father Charles a beloved teacher and an enthusiastic companion in all our sports endeavors.

Sister Mary Hugh has made the library one of the most popular places in the school. She is always at her desk to welcome and encourage the literary-minded.

Very often history assignments are correlated with English. Can it be that Sister Mary Isidore and Sister Mary Stephen are mixing the ingredients for a literary A-bomb?

Sister Mary Bernarda is evidently trying to convince Sister Mary Aquinas that art is the most important subject in the curriculum. Is she succeeding?

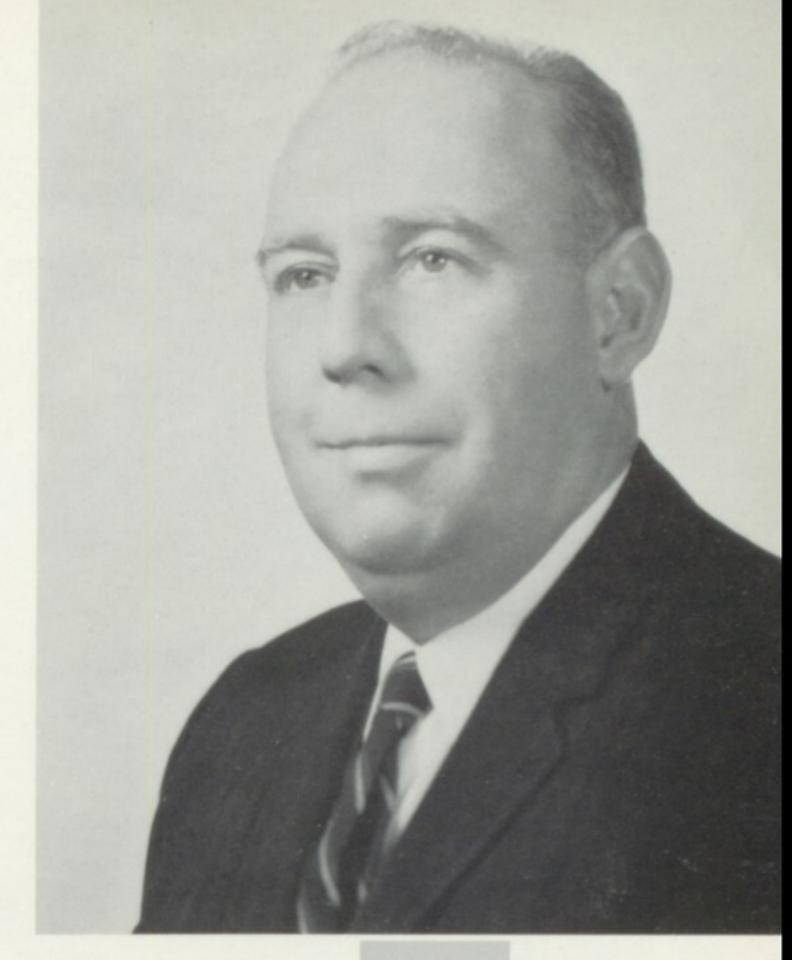

The latest acquisition of the Commercial Department is examined with pride by Sister Mary Laurence and Sister Mary Thomasina.

In that first year of Mercy's foundation when Mr. Murray offered his services to us, facilities were few and ability was untried. Intense training and untiring practice under Coach Murray have carried victory with them to Mercy in baseball, basketball and bowling and have also been the means of a character build-up and personality improvement in the individual members of the teams.

Listening to Monsignor Feeney explain the symbolism of the ring.

The ceremony was followed by a party in the cafeteria.

Richard Hajek, Bill Leonard, Bill Polvent and Francis Mainetty make sure their rings are visible.

Bill Leonard, Ann Henderson, John Shields arrive at Brentwood where Bill and Ann as Simeon and Anna participate in the pageant, the Living Rosary.

Ardent fans of Simeon and Anna

Brentwood Trip

The prophetess Anna beholds Simeon in priestly garb.

Rockville Center Trip

The art poster that won two prizes for Stephen Maggipinto, best in high school and best in sophomore divisions, is admired by the artist and his teacher, Sister Mary Bernarda.

The four top salesmen in the yearbook drive are Richard Hajek, Bill Leonard, Bob Hoag and Joe Barauskas. Their order of rating is self-evident.

Alex Mazeski, Richard Hajey and Walter Gevinski are a prize-winning bowling trio.

Honors Come to Mercy

Sister Mary Theophane and Katherine Dowling read the letter informing Katherine that she has won a State Scholarship.

Anne Lynch and John Shields congratulate each other on their Bohack awards.

Trip to Our Lady of Mercy Novitiate

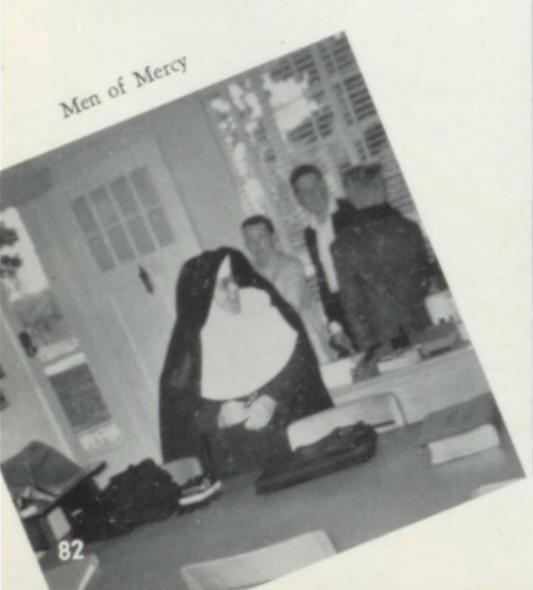

Stop-off at Sunken Meadow en route to

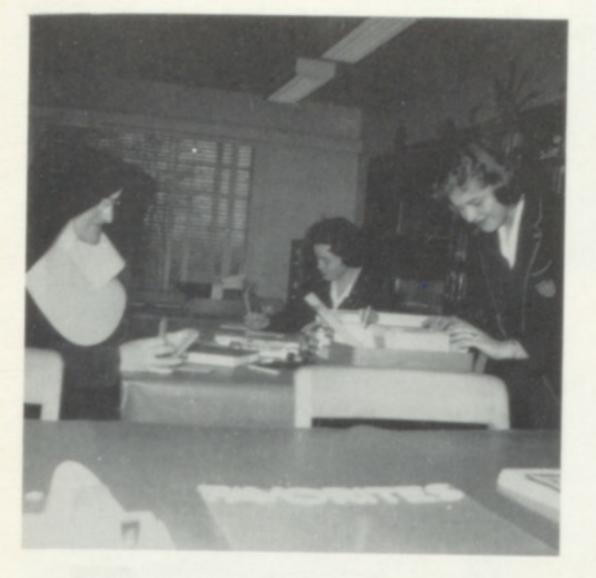

Mike Kelly

Card catalogues, dictionaries and, of course, consultations with Sister Mary Hugh help students in their title hunts.

Literary sleuth-hounds busily at work.

Two veteran prize winners are Bill and Richard.

Book Week

Frequent daily visits to the library pay off well during the week in February known as Catholic Book Week.

Faculty and students alike fall captive to the lure of literary crostics.

A group of Freshman girls are ready for a pleasant evening.

Mercy Likes

John Shields and Mary Ann Musnicki are two old-timers at the school dances.

John Mensch steers his partner skillfully through the maze.

Gail Welpe and Clifford Polvent wait to catch the beat.

The camera man seizes a rare opportunity to catch Richy Hajek on the dance floor.

to Dance

"They dance real cool!"

Lou Morro—the man who ran the show.

Everyone likes to cha-cha-cha.

R. Spanburgh and P. Siedlecki, Mercy's "Marge and Gower Champion," win another contest and display their prizes.

Weeks ahead of time students were busy getting ready.

The Book Fair

This is always a big event at Mercy and draws a big crowd of book lovers. Although books are the big inducement, they are not the only items for sale.

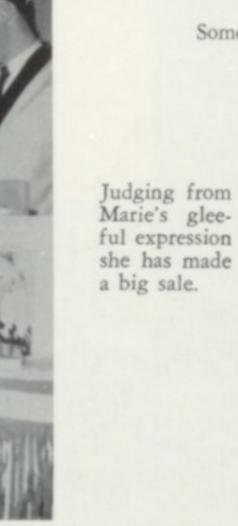

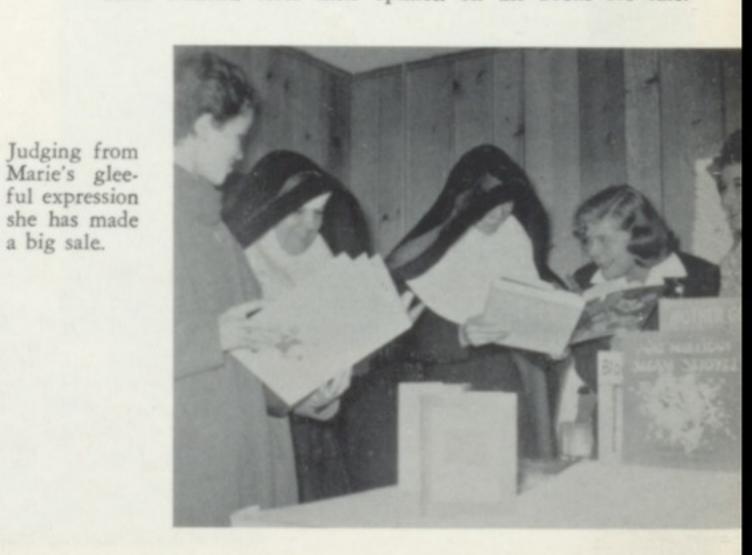

One of the many beautiful booths on display.

Some students offer their opinion on the books for sale.

"That I may deserve to be guarded by Thee"
