FOREWORD

THE 1950-1951 school year at Central is highlighted by two anniversaries. Fifty years ago the first issue of THE INTERLUDE was distributed to the students of the South Bend High School and publication has been continuous to date. In addition to THE INTERLUDE's GOLDEN JUBILEE, Central's graduating class of 1951 will be the 100th class to be presented with diplomas.

The first commencement was held in 1872 when two boys, Charles Henry Bartlett and William Mason Green, and two girls, Ida Ellsworth and Lillie Spain, were awarded diplomas. For a period of years, when high enrollment made for crowded conditions in the school and later when added manpower was needed during World War II, classes were graduated twice a year, in January and June.

The smallest graduating class was the first one in 1872 and the largest was graduated in 1941 when 660 boys and girls were honored at commencement. Central graduates, from 1872 through and including 1950, total 16,258. The 1951 class numbers nearly 400.

The members of the 100th graduating class at Central dedicate this yearbook to the members of the preceding 99 classes who have so successfully made their way in the world. They hope that they can meet the problems confronting them with equal success.

DANIEL EYER
South Bend's First
School Superintendent
1867-1869

During the past eighty-four years the South Bend schools have been administered by twelve superintendents. All except two served for more than year. The longest term of service has been rendered by the present superintendent, Frank E. Allen, who has given twenty years of continuous service.

The South Bend High School — renamed Central when it was no longer the only public high school in the city — has had fourteen principals. The longest period of administration was that of James S. McCowan with nineteen years. However, Principal P. D. Pointer, who follows Mr. McCowan as principal of the Central Junior-Senior High School, has now served sixteen years and prior to that was principal of the Central Junior High School for twelve and one-half years. One principal, Charles H. Bartlett, had two terms, one of eleven years and another of two years.

THE ST. JOSEPH COUNTY SEMINARY 1845-1872

THE FIRST HIGH SCHOOL

Plans for the construction of the building shown on the opposite page were started in 1843 under the provisions of the state constitution. Construction was completed late in 1845. The contract price for this two-story brick building, located at the northeast corner of Washington Avenue and Williams Street, was $1572.80 of which amount $844 were donated by subscribing citizens of South Bend. St. Joseph County financed the balance and the structure was called the County Seminary.

After six years the citizens of South Bend purchased the Seminary for $1516, to be paid in ten installments, and it became the first high school in South Bend. In 1872 the Seminary was razed to make way for a larger building needed to care for the increased enrollment. South Bend High School classes were then held temporarily in the old Madison grade school building while a new high school building was being erected on the site of the old seminary. The "new high school," pictured below, was completed in 1873 and was referred to as "one of the handsomest school buildings in this part of the state" by Alfred B. Miller in an editorial in the South Bend Tribune of April 20, 1872.

THE "NEW HIGH SCHOOL" — 1873

A NEW SOUTH BEND HIGH SCHOOL IN 1905

Additions to and subdividing of the classrooms in South Bend's 1873 high school building failed to care for the increasing attendance and in 1905 the structure shown above, viewed from Colfax Avenue, was started.

WILLIAMS STREET ADDITION TO THE 1905 HIGH SCHOOL

The 1905 high school building soon failed to adequately house all of the high school students of South Bend and additional rooms were added to the south as seen from the Williams Street side.

Since 1913

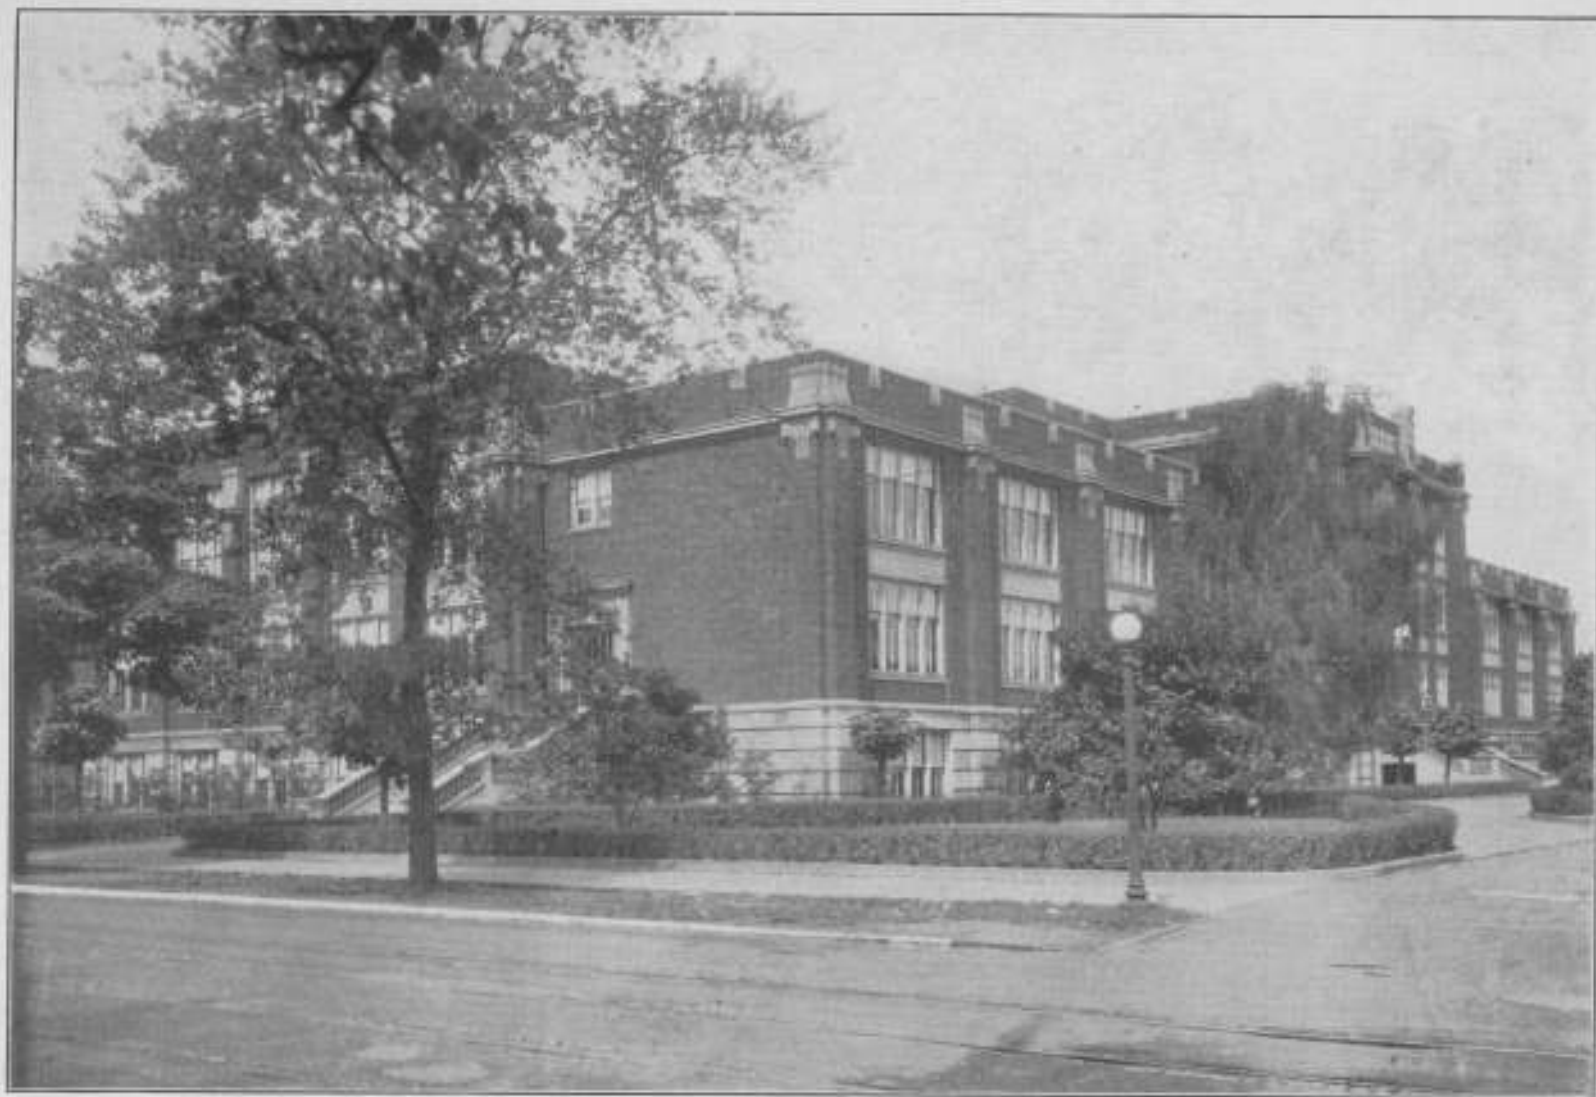

Ever increasing enrollment prompted the school board to acquire additional land adjacent on the east as a site for a new and larger high school building. In 1913 a half million dollar four story red brick structure (shown at the left) was dedicated. For the first time the city high school was now equipped with a swimming pool, a gymnasium, a modern auditorium with a large stage, large study halls, a cafeteria, and improved library and laboratory facilities.

The high school population grew to well over three thousand before additional high schools were established at Riley, Washington, and John Adams. With the establishment of Riley as a public high school about thirty years ago the South Bend High School was renamed Central High School. With the addition of the new high schools Central enrollment, in recent years has seldom exceeded 1800.

After 1913 a two story shop building was erected adjacent to the new high school building and today Central, with an enrollment of approximately 1700, shares the three buildings (shown in the view at the right) with the Indiana University Extension Center.

FACULTY, 1891

Eugene F. Loehr, Charles L. Spain, Charles H. Bartlett, Amoretta Flowers, James Du Shane, Mrs. R. E. Wilklow.

In size, this faculty of the gay nineties, is quite in contrast with the 1950-1951 faculty of over eighty members and four office workers. By 1901, fifty years ago, the faculty had increased to thirteen members.

THE INTERLUDE staff, shown at the left, was the first staff to be photographed. They were managers during the first full year of the publication's existence, 1901-1902. They were, front row, left to right: Winifred E. Mack, assistant-editor; Alice R. Haughton, exchange editor; Charles B. Frank, editor-in-chief; and

The first INTERLUDE staff, which served from February 1901 to the end of the spring semester of that year were—

Harry E. Wheelock.....	Editor-in-Chief
Charles Frank.....	Assistant-Editor
George H. Myers.....	Class Editor
Alice Coonsadt.....	Critic
Louis Zoehle.....	Athletic Editor
Mamie McInerney.....	Exchange Editor
Orville Barker.....	Business Manager
Henry Morningstar.....	Assistant-Business Manager

For a period of five years before 1901 students at the South Bend High School had been debating the question, "Shall we have a high school paper?" In February, 1901, with the aid of suggestions derived from numerous high school papers and after much careful planning, the first number of The INTERLUDE was printed. The publication was in the form of a monthly literary magazine and was so published until September 17, 1936. On that date the INTERLUDE staff issued the publication in the form of a weekly newspaper and so it has continued to date with 33 issues each year in addition to the yearbook. When the enrollment at Central was at the greatest height an additional yearbook was printed at midyear.

The original number had six departments, Literary, Critic, Athletic, Exchange, and Class. The circulation was approximately three hundred and the local merchants bought sufficient advertising space to reward the efforts of the business staff. A review of the issues of the year 1901 shows that some of the same advertisers appeared in The INTERLUDE as are now carried 30 years later. By the year 1911 the subscriptions had increased to 600. Today approximately 1300 copies are distributed with each issue of which number about 1100 are paid subscriptions. For many years the annual subscription to the regular issues plus the yearbook sold for $1.50. As publication costs increased the price was finally raised to $3.00 per year.

Early records do not show that the student publication made use of a faculty adviser. For the past several decades, however, a member of the teaching staff has been assigned to advise the staff. V. C. Cripe, the present faculty adviser, has served in that capacity since September 1929 — twenty-one years. Before 1929 Otis E. Young and George Roop were advisers to The INTERLUDE.

The change in the size of staff during the fifty years past has been marked. Eight students were responsible for publication in 1901. Today each of the 65 home rooms at Central has a room representative on the staff and in addition the number of editors, managers, reporters, typists, and others makes for a staff of nearly one hundred students.

Skimpy records in the files of the school's athletic department indicate that football had its inception in the South Bend High School during the school year of 1891. That year the team played the University of Notre Dame. Notre Dame won, 81-0, and the records infer that this game was the only one played by South Bend that season — well, reason enough. The next year Notre Dame was tackled again and this time the score was only 56-0.

No scores are available for the team of 1893-1894, shown above. During the year 1898-1899 the team won four, lost none, and tied one, scoring 99 points against the opposition's none.

Interesting are these early records of football play for they show such team names among the opponents as Commercial College, Carroll Hall (N. D.), A. C. A. Mishawaka, Ex High School, Ex Juniors, Bronson Hall (N. D.), I. B. C., Wabash College, Valparaiso University, Winona Agricultural College, and Corby Hall (N. D.). In those early days neighboring high schools from Dowagiac, New Carlisle, Niles, Buchanan, Culver, and Warsaw were on the South Bend schedule.

Central was undefeated in 1931 under the direction of Coach Elmer Burnham and was named a mythical state champion. In more recent years Central has always been an outstanding threat in the Northern Indiana High School Conference, has won league titles several times and has won very high standing in the state circles under the coaching of the present mentor, Robert I. Jones.

THEN
NOW

Familiar names of merchants, perhaps, but scarcely a familiar scene, this view of the east side of North Michigan Street between Colfax and Washington. It was near 1870, about the time that South Bend high school students were first reaching for diplomas, that the above downtown street scene was snapped.

SOME HIGHLIGHTS IN CENTRAL'S BASKETBALL FORTUNES

Hoosier Hysteria did not develop so rapidly in Northern Indiana as in the rest of the state but Central (then S. B. H. S.) did make a very strong bid for state honors back in 1913 at the third annual state tourney held at Indiana University. Central has never enjoyed an Indiana high school championship on the hardwood but has knocked on the door a number of times only to be denied admittance. The INTERLUDE wishes to give special recognition to three Bear fives that seem to have been most outstanding teams, those of 1913, 1941, and 1949.

Box scores of the 1912-13 season list such Bear notables as Kirby, Allen, Wolf, Brug, Bacon, and Capt. Mosiman. That team won 12 games of 13 scheduled. A loss was suffered to the Notre Dame varsity, 33-27. On February 1, 1913, at the "Y", Goshen was met for the first time and took home a 109-3 humiliation. On the following Saturday Mishawaka was walloped 44-1. A week later Goshen entertained the South Bend five and absorbed a 110-7 licking.

The April 1913 INTERLUDE describes the third state tourney—"The final game with Wingate was slow throughout and it was some time before either side scored. The grind (the sixth game in two days) was beginning to tell on the men and not much pep was left in any man. The score kept alternating during the game and ended by a tie, 13 to 13. Twelve minutes were required to finish the game when Wingate threw in a basket."

The finals scores for 1913—S. B. 29 - Decatur 2; S. B. 26 - Seymour 6; S. B. 29 - Shortridge 11; S. B. 16 - Gary 8; S. B. 19 - Crawfordsville 11; S. B. 14 - Wingate 15.

THE 1940-1941 VARSITY

THE 1941 TEAM

Nearly thirty years passed after the 1913 team before another Bear five could get near enough to a championship to smell the crown. An outstanding net squad under the expert coaching of the highly successful "Johnny" Wooden in 1941 missed the finals by one point. It was at the Hammond Civic Center that Central met Gary Froebel in the evening game of the semi-finals and lost a big lead and the game, 37-36. Prior to this game the Bears had lost only two contests.

THE 1949 TEAM

Most students at Central remember the 1949 team that edged out Mishawaka in the sectionals, 42-41, and then breezed through until they met Lafayette Jeff in the semi-finals who were tough but fell in a great game 59-55. It was Central against Madison and their great Dee Monroe in the first game of the finals and the Bears' victory string was ended 53-40.

THE HICKORY STICK SERIES

An interesting series of football games were played between the Bears and Mishawaka's Cavemen over the years from 1928 to 1947. In 1928 the Indiana Lumber and Mfg. Company, prompted by the outstanding interest over Central-Maroon games, provided a large hickory stick (like the one shown at the left) to go to the team which could win three or more games in the five game series following. Central took this first stick, symbolic of the unexcelled spirit and sportsmanship of America. Three more sticks were donated and the Bears have two of these three trophies also. The awards were discontinued in 1947.

This team (photographed at the Main Street entrance to the court house — and there was no Associates building) played a season of four games. They defeated Elkhart 19-2 and 9-2; and split with Goshen 11-10 and 7-10.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION
SOUTH BEND PUBLIC SCHOOLS

In South Bend the school trustees, who make up what is commonly called the Board of Education, are five citizens named by the mayor of the city and serve for a term of four years. Their appointments are staggered so that at no time will there be an entirely new board. The law requires that there be two members from one major political party and three from the other. Board members are paid $500 per year for their services. President Helmen is a bank vice-president, Mr. Walker heads his transportation company, Mr. Russell is president of a savings and loan company, Mr. Deahl heads a law firm, and Mrs. Hodson is a former teacher.

The Board governs an $18,000,000 business if one considers the evaluation placed on the 25 school buildings in the city system. It may be of interest to INTERLUDE readers to know that the oldest school building in South Bend is school administration building which was used originally as a school building for classes and was built in 1865. Appraisals have been made recently of the public school property in South Bend and an evaluation of $2,998,000 has been placed on the Central senior establishment. Central Junior High School property is estimated as having a value of $655,000 and the vocational building $185,000. Approximately four million dollars of physical property then is to be found on the Central square.

South Bend's first school board was named in 1865 and was made up of three members — Almond Bugbee, president; Rev. C. A. Evans, secretary; and Dwight Deming, treasurer. As one reads over the listed membership of early South Bend school boards many names of members of prominent pioneer families appear, such as Phillip Wagner, John Klingel, John M. Studebaker, Marvin Campbell, Henry Elbel, Myron Campbell, John Hibberd, William O. Davies, James N. Thumm, George A. Knoblock and many others.

P. D. POINTER

To the Graduating Class of 1951

You who are members of the graduating class of 1951, are signally honored because you are members of the one-hundredth graduating class of Central High School.

The first class consisting of two boys and two girls, was graduated in 1872. At that time the student body numbered less than one hundred students. Our records show that with the present class, sixteen thousand six hundred twenty-five boys and girls have received diplomas from what was formerly known as the South Bend High School, but more recently the Central Senior High School.

It would be interesting to know how many of these boys and girls attended higher institutions of learning and how many graduated from colleges and universities. We do know that many of these graduates from Central have held positions of trust and influence in industry and in the business and professional life of our country. Many men and women have gained distinction in various fields of activity.

Many of you will have the privilege of attending higher institutions of learning. We rejoice with you in this experience. As you leave Central and find your place in society — wherever you may be, we are confident that your life will be one of service and that you will be determined to build a better world than the one at present. We know that you will meet the problems that await you with courage and integrity. We want you to do well and we hope that you will keep faith with the best in Central traditions.

P. D. Pointer
Principal.
