Miss Gienand Tells Of Trip

Central's personable French and German teacher, Miss Jeanne Gienand, this summer paid a visit to her native France, and has imparted some of her rich experiences to The INTERLUDE.

She sailed from America on the S. S. Waterman, which she termed a "student boat." Most of its passengers were students, professional people, and a very few tourists. Many of the students were going to France to study, and brought sleeping bags and bicycles to simplify their stay.

The trip over was interesting and enjoyable, Miss Gienand relates, and spiced with the anticipation of again being with her relatives in France, whom she had not seen in almost six years' time.

Upon her arrival at Le Havre, she was surprised to find it very nearly rebuilt after World War II's terrible destruction. When she saw it six years ago, the superstructures of sunken ships jutted high above the water; now the harbor has been cleared and new buildings have replaced the ruins of war.

Ex-G.I.'s, returning to study in France, were interesting companions on the train trip through Normandy. Frequently, as they chugged through the countryside, one of these former soldiers would cry out in recognition of landscape which had been a battlefield when he last saw it. Those very battlefields are now green meadows and hills, dotted here and there with thatched roof huts.

"Paris was beautiful this year!" Miss Gienand exclaims. The shop windows were plentifully stocked—a great contrast to the meager selections of six years before—but she confined herself to window shopping only, as the prices are exorbitant.

The creative spirit of Paris has reached new heights in clothes, perfumes, candy, pastry, and restaurants. An American dollar buys an excellent — and different — meal in the small French restaurants, Miss Gienand says. At night the main monuments of Paris are beautifully illuminated by floodlights, which bring out the magnificent architecture.

One of the features of her travel was a bus trip along the Loire River, which is famous for its beautiful Renaissance chateaus built by French kings as summer homes or hunting lodges. The chateaus are in an excellent state of preservation, both inside and out, and Miss Gienand tells us that they looked like fairy castles with their blue slate roofs, accented by intricate stone carvings. This is also the section where the best French is spoken. Miss Gienand remarked, "It was a real pleasure to listen to the honey sweet 'patois' of the natives!"

She spent a short time in Strasborg, which is her home town; then, after what seemed just a few short days "catching up" in France, she crossed the Rhine to Germany to do some brushing up on her German accent.

National Prose and Poetry Contests

This year, as in the past, the students at Central will have an opportunity to have their original works in prose and poetry published in a national magazine. The National Essay Association and the National High School Poetry Association are sponsoring a contest for all students in grades 9 through 12. The poetry contest closes December 5 and the essay contest closes November 5. For further information concerning the contests see Miss Spray in room 305.

Boys expecting to enter college in the fall of 1953 may apply any time between now and November 22 for the preliminary qualification test of the NROTC program. The test will be given at Notre Dame; the date is to be announced later. Interested seniors should contact their counsellor if more information is desired.

JR. T. B. LEAGUE

The Junior Tuberculosis League held its first meeting of the season September 17 at its headquarters, 319 South Main St. Each South Bend, Mishawaka, and county high school sent a junior and a senior representative.

Central is represented in the League by Miss Pfaffman, faculty sponsor, Mary Beth Kasak, senior, who is secretary of the board, and Mike Ledden, junior.

Contrary to popular belief, the League is not connected with the United Fund.

Junior League members make it their responsibility to do all they can for the patients at Healthwin. Books are bought for high school age boys and girls, and every member corresponds with a teen-age pen pal. Discharged patients are also aided. Recently a move was made to pay the book fee of a boy who wants to continue his education.

One of the most important duties of the Junior Leaguers is conducting the sale of the double-barred health cross pins. The money from this sale goes into a fund which provides milk for underprivileged school children. Last year, considered one of the best, over one thousand dollars was the result of the sale; even so, the milk bill amounted to five thousand dollars. This year Centralites are asked to give the League as much support as possible.

College Representative To Be At Central

Raymond Sallach, a representative from the University of Pennsylvania, will be at Central October 21 to interview all seniors interested in that college. Students desiring to talk with Mr. Sallach should contact Mr. Harter as soon as possible.

TRI-HI-Y TEA

The Tri-Hi-Y is planning a tea to welcome all the new girls who might want to join the club. Those who are interested should see Miss Mark in room 116 for details.

CAPTION CORRECTION

Apologies are due Ray Rudynski, sophomore manager, whose name was inadvertently left out of the picture which appeared in last week's INTERLUDE.

G. A. A. NEWS

Miss Mathews has announced that swimming classes will be held only the last three weeks of the regular schedule, because of difficulty with pool machinery.

Nancy Johnson has been elected senior president of G. A. A. She is active in all the activities, but she considers volleyball her favorite sport. After her graduation from Central, Nancy hopes to attend Michigan State College.

Size Up Your 'Measuring Stick'

"Of course I am. My dad is, and his dad was, and his dad before him . . ."

Is this the type of standard on which so many people base their beliefs? Is this the reason they behave as they do, join the organizations they do, vote as they do?

They are human beings, given that power which no other animal has: the power of reasoning. And yet, how many use that power?

As a child grows, he is given a set of values by the people and things about him. He acquires it naturally, without realizing it. But there comes a time when he has become independent enough in his thinking to examine that set of values and place the proper emphasis on it.

A set of values is nothing more than a set of measuring sticks, or a scale, by which we, often unconsciously, weigh and measure everything with which we come in contact.

But most people don't examine those scales, they use the ones they were given, and judge accordingly—often wrongly. Eventually they become stuck to those ideas, and close their minds to anything else. Things might retain their proper value if people would check their scales for accuracy.

It's Not as Funny as You Think

"In Smuggle-town, up on a hill, Lived Morphine Sue and Cocaine Bill . . ."

Narcotics . . . either the word will cause you to stop and think, or you, like countless other high school students, will lightly pass it by, and say, "Those things only happen to other people."

People attempt to console themselves with the self-informed and false belief that the peril of addiction is slight. Students looking for "kicks" have been trapped in the snares of the dope demon.

Today we find nearly everyone scoffing at drugs. There are songs that make it sound like a big joke, it is an overused source of humor, and between the joking and laughing, there is little seriousness concerning this subtle killer.

Many people think that it would be fun to "just try it and see what it's like." But just trying it is all that the racketeers want. Once introduced to narcotics, statistics prove it practically impossible to release one from its influence. The dope peddlers don't care—they have no feeling about the hopeless state in which their victims are left. Yet, young people, in search of something new — a thrill — are falling into the pit.

Our country will soon be in our hands. What we do with it will make or break it. A nation of addicts is weak. A nation of addicts cannot survive.

MY SISTER EILEEN

For a humorous, yet heart-warming story, I recommend "My Sister Eileen" by Ruth McKenney. It is a true account of the lives of two sisters who were inseparable. Each new chapter brings about a different situation. As the girls grow up, their escapades become funnier and more complicated.

The incident I liked best was the description of the silent movies. There are many other such items, such as the time the girls get jobs and rent an apartment with a leaky roof and an unsympathetic landlord. I think the book makes very enjoyable reading.

MYSTERY MR.

Height: 5'-2½"
 Weight: 115 lbs.
 Color of hair: Brown
 Color of eyes: Brown
 Ambition: Accountant
 Activities: Wrestling, Basketball
 Home Room: 122
 Classification: 11B
 Clue: Sometimes called "Shrimp."

This week, we travel to room #3 where we meet the Barnstormer Board. First of all, we have Mr. James Lewis Casaday, who is director and sponsor of the club. He is a graduate of Central, received his A.B. from Williams' College, and his Masters Degree from the University of Iowa. This is his 14th year at Central. His main wish is that the club could have the recognition that the caliber of its productions warrants.

The Board consists of twelve members, each of whom is head of a special committee.

Bob Benson, an 11B, is the chairman of the entire Board and co-production manager. Bob has a big assignment as Board head this year, but with his own ability and the confidence given to him by the club thru voting him chairman—we know he'll succeed.

Mary Ann Fichtner, 12B, is head of sets. This utilizes her art talents, which are quite evident in all the plays on which she works.

Then we have Bernie Pollack, 11B, on stage crew. This is his first semester on the Board. Bernie's acting ability will add a great deal to coming productions.

Jo Ann Fichtner, 12B, is head of costumes. The job of tying all loose ends together is hers. Of the board, she says, "It's hard work, but it's well worth the effort."

Allen Smith, 10A, is already in his third term on the Board, serving as production manager. He may be remembered as Dolphen, the butler, in "Shall We Join the Ladies?"

Tickets are handled very capably by Carolyn Schaphorst. Her job includes obtaining, numbering and distributing tickets. Carolyn has had minor roles in "Lady in the Dark" and "Shall We Join the Ladies?"

Without lights, the play would lose much of its effect. Tom Lininger is hoping for a successful year in this field.

Gay Wodrich, a 12B, is co-chairman of costumes. This is her first try at heading a committee. Gay is an accomplished dancer and teaches ballet classes in her spare time.

Wardrobe and publicity are the committees on which we find Jeanne Martin. If you saw "Harvey," you'll remember her memorable performance as Veta-Louise. Jeanne is a member of the junior class.

Bob Hamilton, 10B, is co-chairman of sets. His ambition is to be a concert pianist, and judging from past achievements, we think he'll realize it.

On props is Ruth Falk. Ruth is secretary of the Board. She thinks Board (Cont'd on page 4, col. 2)

VERIE SAUER SAYS:

Under the clock conversation centers around . . . the weather; mornings that freeze and afternoons that melt . . . worries about the recent bookings for senior yearbook pictures; "In eight months I'll look like a different person!" . . . democratic functions, like voting for class officers . . . early morning coffee odors that drift through the halls from an unknown source . . . Ike's visit to South Bend; at least it's taken for granted that the waving arm over the bald head belonged to him . . . Mr. Richard sleuthing through the lower halls; the school is becoming escape-proof . . . football; still . . . that tired feeling in first hour class; what can one expect of a morning that starts with getting up . . . the small sum charged for The INTERLUDE; it makes you feel like you're getting something for nothing.

Something new has been added: Sharon Antowick and Terry Riorden.

And then we have Carol Weber wishing she could take a sentimental journey to Michigan State to see her John, who is a student there.

It's lasted for a long time: Norma Jordon and Duane Hays.

Could it be that Judy Mellow's latest interest lies in a Central grad? Verie has heard things to that effect.

One way to look at it: "I don't drink anything stronger than pop—and Pop drinks anything."

A noticeable sophomore; Marcia Milliken.

The patriotic but not too bright young lady responded quickly to the recent appeal for blood donors. At the blood bank the nurse in charge asked her if she knew what type she was. "Oh yes," she replied sweetly, "I'm the sultry type."

Our guess is that Thelma North is on the available list again since Dick left for college.

It's a steady thing; Nancy Morrical and Norman Daniels (Riley grad.).

We'd like to know more about Bill Barrett's steady gal at St. Mary's. Seems her name is Barbara.

A recent report tells us that George Singer has found a new love in the form of the song, "Jenny Kissed Me."

Steady couple of the week; Rosie Gartee and Jay Charon.

The sixty-four-dollar question; is Cil Gartee in the market for a man, or is it still P. J.?

It looks like Carol Cox has deserted Central for a Mishawaka Cavalier.

What is dandruff? Why, it's chips off the old block.

Receiving correspondence from Ball State; Betty Green from Gene Laughlin, Central's ex "toe."

Sorry to hear that Bruce Mock and Terry Gumz are on the football casualty list, and will be out for the rest of the season.

We wonder if Millie's absence from Central will put Paul on the "eligible" list again?

Seems as though Ronnie Bilinski and Carol Marvin have been seeing a lot of each other. What next?

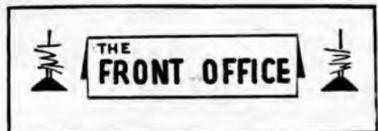

Going steady: Bob Ebbolle-Liz Seritella, Ted Prange-Pat Szabo (South Bend Cath. grad.).

OPINIONS THAT COUNT

Dear Editor,
 Hurray for The INTERLUDE and Aunt Verie! At last we have something new, something different, something to watch for, as well as the reinstatement of something we've all enjoyed. I think most everyone will agree with me in saying that we're glad Aunt Verie has settled down to spying on her favorite couples and has gone back to her old policy. What you don't find out through the grapevine, ask Aunt Verie and she will tell you the very latest.

That new feature, Antiques, is worth looking at. We think we do some crazy things now but, locking into Antiques, beware—! The new Centralites must have gotten a wonderful picture of sports last week in The INTERLUDE. With all those reporters out sleuthing nothing escaped the sports page or the news for that matter.

Looking everything over, it looks like we're going to have an interesting paper this year, considering all the new blood on the staff. Thanks loads for the new column "Opinions That Count." This gives us, the students at Central, a chance to express ourselves. It's fine to know and think something is wrong, but that won't do anyone any good if something isn't done about it. The INTERLUDE is the paper of Central High School and now it can truly be just what we, the Central student body want it to be. Let's all pitch in and take advantage of our opportunities and make this the best year in The INTERLUDE'S history. —MARY DRING.

OUR TEAM

We are in the midst of another football season. With the spirit and determination which our boys displayed in their first games Central is sure to have a successful season. We will not win all our games but we will have a record of which we can be proud. Our team has a splendid attitude and shows a willingness to work—and work hard. They will do their best. Will our student body do as well?

Coach Ross Stevenson and his assistant, Coach Ed Szucs, are doing a splendid coaching job. It is true that we do not have the depth of former years but much of this is offset by the enthusiasm of all our boys. Many difficult games have yet to be played. Our schedule has just begun. Let us all show our loyalty and back our team to the limit. They are worthy of all the support we can give them.

LaPorte Downs Bears 21-20

BEAR FACTS CUBSKIN

Last Half Rally Fails

With Bucky Haag and Co., LaPorte scored three quick touchdowns in the first quarter to hand the Bears their second straight defeat.

One minute and 26 seconds is all it took for LaPorte to score after she received the kickoff. Bucky Haag broke loose around his left end and scampers 52 yards for paydirt. Jim Levandoski split the uprights for the first of three extra points. It was through his foot that the Slicers spelled their victory.

The Bears then got a chance to work offensively. Jim Dulcet's pass was intercepted by Levandoski, who returned it 11 yards before he was hit hard by Capt. Ten Ringer.

2:32 was gone when Haag tore off 37 yards for his second tally of the evening. Levandoski's kick was good.

After receiving the next kickoff the Bears started moving. They went 64 yards in 10 plays before Dulcet hit Molnar with a pass. Bob Cobb's kick was no good. This kick could have clinched a tie.

LaPorte started to move again, for the third time in the first quarter. Ed Broeker hit Haag with a pass that netted 27 yards. From this point Broeker pulled a sneak and went the remaining four yards for a score. Levandoski's kick was good—21-6.

In the third quarter neither team could roll. Central was shy a tally by nine yards before the half ended.

Coming into the second half with lots of fight, Central gave a tremendous showing.

Jim Dulcet hit Bob Scannell for 42 yards. LaPorte's defense was ripped by the running of Kindt and Coleman. With the ball resting on the two-yard line, Dulcet went over. Bob Scannell, who called the plays in this game, kicked the P.A.T.—21-13.

LaPorte came back fighting, only to have Molnar intercept a pass.

Dave Kindt, who for his size may be one of the roughest backs in the city, tallied on the last series of the scoring for both teams. Bob Scannell's kick was good. Final score—21-20, LaPorte.

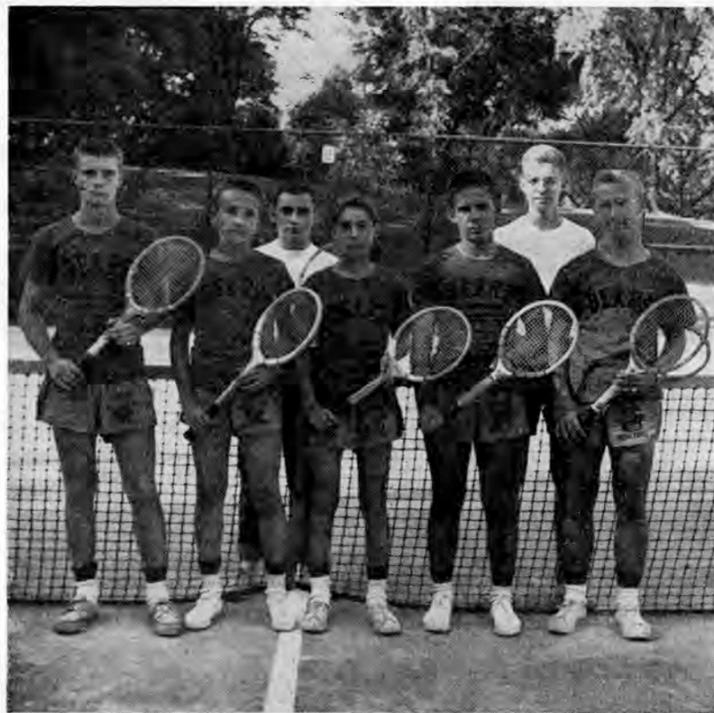

Central found itself in another scoring position, but surrendered the ball on the 13-yard line.

Lineups:

CENTRAL:
End—Molnar, Greer
Tackle—Pauszek, Kajzer, Braunsdorf
Guard—Taylor, Eichorst, Kovacs

NETMEN LOSE CONFERENCE MATCH

Coach Bob Turnock's tennis team lost their second straight conference match to the LaPorte Slicers, 4-1. The only match won by the Bears was the second doubles match in which Garlough and Wortham downed Ubele and Birch of LaPorte. The Central team was composed of Ron Kroll, Don Denning, Bob Wortham and Don Garlough.

Summaries:

Luther (L) defeated Kroll (C) 6-1, 6-2

Wendt (L) defeated Denning (C) 6-1, 6-1

Unger (L) defeated Wortham (C) 7-5, 7-5

JR. HIGH FOOTBALL

Forty candidates turned out for Junior High football when school opened. The squad has been tapered down to twenty-six boys since then. Twelve of them are seventh graders.

The new Junior High coach is Jim Early, who formerly was line coach at Anderson High.

Last week the Cubs beat Jefferson 6-0 in a practice game. They have another practice tilt scheduled against Muessel Friday.

The Cubs face a fine game schedule which includes Muessel, Harrison, Oliver, Jefferson, and Washington (Cont'd next column)

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM OPENS SEASON

Central's cross country team under Coach Devon Phelps defeated the Adams Eagles in its opening meet of the year by the score of 27-28. Jones of Adams won the meet with a time of 11:45. George Rohrbach finished second for the Bears. The meet was held at the Pottawatomie course.

In their first conference meet of the season Central's runners met Riley and Adams at the Erskine Golf Course. The powerful Wildcats won the meet, defeating the Bears 20-33 and the Eagles 18-40. Central placed second, defeating Adams 20-38. The best time of the meet was posted by McGeath of Riley, a very fast 10:30. Central's best were Bill O'Dell, who copped first, Jack Ogden, sixth, and (Cont'd on page 4, col. 2)

"B" TEAM DEFEATED

"B" TEAM

The Central "B" football team was beaten by Michigan City last week by the same score as was the varsity, 6-0.

Michigan City, playing on her home field, made most of her yardage through the line. The lone score came when City was given a break on a pass interference penalty which put the ball on Central's two-yard line. Central tallied on a two-yard drive up the middle. The try for the point-after was wide.

The game was played on even terms with both teams engineering scoring threats. Central had the ball within City's ten-yard line as the half ended. They also displayed a goal-line stand which deserves credit.

The summary: Ends—Reed, Rems, Mock; Tackles—West, Eichorst, Kambol; Guards—Hague, Hager, Turner; Center—Dickens, Swartz; Backs—Zielinski, Matthews, Ieraci, Lake, Kaminski, Eieslik.

Later in the week the squad received some bad news when end Bruce Mock fractured his wrist during the practice session. He will be out for the rest of the season.

The next game is with LaPorte, Monday, on School Field.

"C" TEAM

The Central "C" football team traveled to Elkhart, Thursday, to play the freshmen of that school and came back with a 7-6 victory.

As soon as the Bears got the ball they put on a touchdown drive which featured a fifty-two yard pass from the forty-yard line. Phillips then went (Cont'd on page 4, col. 2)

As you all know, Central returns home this Friday to battle a supposedly tough Riley eleven. The Wildcats had wins over hapless Adams and Mishawaka previous to the Washington encounter.

After viewing the Riley-Washington clash Cubskin hopes for Central against those two powers were on the uprise. It could be that Washington had an "off" night, but the Panthers though in control most of the way were far from impressive in victory. Joe Brazier stood out as a very good runner, but certainly no better if as good as boys like Gondek, Schreiber, Pipkins, and Haag; a few fleet speedsters the Bears have met on past weekends. At times the Panthers' pass defense left a lot to be desired and the game might have been reversed if Riley had had a better thrower than Bill Danney. Sammy Wegner's signal callers called their plays slightly off, and if Brazier hadn't been out there things might have been different. Spike Kelly's Wildcats showed a line that was good on defense, but their offense didn't quite get rolling.

Although Cubskin didn't see the game, he came to the conclusion that coming from behind to beat Goshen. That very same evening the Bruins' defense was taken by surprise in the first couple of minutes by Bucky Haag and his LaPorte teammates who scored the deciding tallies in that stunning first quarter. Although the Bears, who were without the services of Don Bankowski who had been barred from action by the referee, were in control the rest of the game, the damage had been done. In that last half the Bears had the winning touchdown rolled back by the officials. The Bears return home with were in. The Bears return home with their over-confidence gone, ready to (Cont'd on page 4, col. 3)

Central to Participate In Radio Program

Principal P. D. Pointer has announced that Central will participate in a series of radio programs to be broadcast by WSBT. During these programs, in which the various city schools will take part, Central will present five dramatic skits, music by the band and orchestra, and the debating team. The broadcasts are a part of a city-wide visual aid program.

Enrollment 2081

The increase since last year in the number of students at Central has put the enrollment at a high of 2081. The number of students in the junior and senior high groups is as follows:

	Jr. High	Sr. High	Total
Boys	414	624	1077
Girls	376	580	1004
Total	790	1204	2081

Included in the entire student body are approximately 225 boys and girls who live outside the city limits.

Seems as though Ronnie Bilinski and Carol Marvin have been seeing a lot of each other. What next?

teaches self reliance. In "Tobias and the Angel," Ruth played the part of a harem-singer.

Last but by no means least we meet Dick Hauck, head of boys' wardrobe and co-chairman of lights. Dick has been in many plays and had a leading role in "Lady in the Dark." (Remember?)

The Barnstormer Club has a full schedule this year. First comes their major production, "Under the Gaslight," an old-fashioned melodrama by Augustine Daly. It will be given October 10 and 11. They are also planning an open house program called "The Fisherman and His Soul," a Christmas Program with the Glee Club, an opera, and the senior play. To our own "best of all" drama club The INTERLUDE says thanks for your efforts and best wishes for a very successful season.

off-tackle for the remaining eight yards and the score. Ross converted and it was 7-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Elkhart featured a passing attack, throwing about thirty times and completing about twice. They scored on an eight-yard run during the second period.

Central had six fumbles as a result of the rain which continued for the whole game. We lost three scoring chances because of fumbles and a penalty. Neither team found it necessary to punt.

When asked who starred, Coach Joe Mackowiak said, "The entire team played good ball."

The summary: Ends—Nitsos, Millar; Tackles—Krulowitch, Drajer; Guards—Levy, Matura; Center—Ross; Quarterback—Strozewski; Halfbacks—Phillips, Janowczyk; Fullback—Simmons.

spring a few so-called upsets on the other South Bend teams.

We noticed that Ball State, a team well stocked with former Central players, held mighty Hanover to a tie in their opening tilt.

It's official now, Joe Sexson, Indianapolis Tech's all state grid and basketball star, has decided on Purdue. Such schools as Michigan, Northwestern, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan State, and Oklahoma were after him, but Purdue picked him up. Sad news for Stu Holcomb, Joe is not going out for football, but instead confining all his efforts on roundball.

How about looking over a "not too antique" INTERLUDE of 1948? No doubt we will be able to recall many faces to match the names we find; those of the high and haughty upperclassmen who "ruled" while many of us were still in the junior high school, or there about. . . . First of all let's look over the football lineup: our first string consisted of Shine, Barnes, Solander, Seach, Hesler, Barnhart, Nesser, Shindler, Redding, Morrical and Wisniewski. November 6 was a big night for our team — they were aiming for their fifth conference victory and a possible championship. Riley was our target (and we hit the bull's-eye; we won!) . . . Now let's peek and see who was up for Football Queen that year. They were Janis Frish, Pat Cox, Marianne Borges, Ginny Fraib, Rosemary Wozniak and Barbara Molnar. . . . That was a national election year too! In a poll conducted by The INTERLUDE for the Institute of Student Opinion 46% of the students favored Dewey and 38% were for Truman. . . . Some new sophs: Madisonites Alice Frith, Jim Freeman and Eleanor Kaskey and Muessel alumni Marsha Freedman and Rosie Toth. . . . We couldn't close the record without recalling some of the top '48 song hits. Such as "It's Magic", "A Tree in the Meadow" and "You Call Everybody Darlin'!"

"JUST CAN'T GET TO SLEEP" BY THE HALL CLOCK

Tonight I'm all wound up and just can't get to sleep. But my memories are pleasant companions. Don't rightly know how long ago I came to Central, but I do date back to the "roaring twenties." Oh! Do I remember (Cont'd next column) those wild Charleston dances and the short skirts. I nearly cracked my paint laughing at their antics!

Hard years came, too. Depression years, you know. There were lines on young faces but courage in their hearts. I was proud of them and would have sold the hands off my face to help them.

War years, and my boys went to serve and save our country. I'm proud of them, too. When the smoke cleared Central and I were together and still ticking.

Times aren't all that I've seen either. A boy taking his best gal to a play. Friends waiting for others. Graduates with stars in their eyes and happy parents with perhaps a tear in theirs. A crop of freshmen eager to learn.

Yes, I'm proud of all of you. May I only serve you many years longer. At last my sleep is coming. Good-night to you all. tick, tock, tick, tock, tick —CYNTHIA DARRAGH.
