Van Natta, Beamer, Rank Second in State Debate Conference

Eloise Van Natta and George Beamer, ranked second in the state in their separate divisions at the Indiana Debaters' Conference at Purdue University last weekend.

Eloise, who gave two extemporaneous three-minute talks on international organization, contested against some three hundred other debaters from all parts of the state. George was chairman of the Committee on Labor in the House of Representatives, a body of about one hundred student legislators.

Also ranking high in the extemporaneous speech contest were David Nowacki and John Riland who placed in the second ten.

Sixteen debaters with their coach, Glen W. Maple and two chaperones, left for Purdue early Friday morning. Arthur From was a member of the student Senate and Tom Bartholomew and Betty McClain participated in the House of Representatives. Entering the extemporaneous speech contest were Mary Ann Goff, Ruth Falk, Shirley Scott, Devon Bates, Ramon Cook, Rita Tanner, Sandra DeVries, and Judy Mellow.

The conference opened at ten o'clock with a meeting in the University Music Hall where the fourteen hundred debaters and their coaches were addressed by university officials and lieutenant-governor of Indiana, John Watkins. The rest of the day was spent in attending lectures by speech professors at Purdue while members of the Senate and House met at committee meetings.

Delegates and coaches from the hundred and four schools represented at the convention attended a banquet Friday night in the Purdue memorial Union. The main speaker, Mr. D. H. Murdock, past president of Kiwanis International, spoke on "Canada and the United States" and the Purdue Men's Glee Club sang requests from the audience. Later, the group was given free admittance to the University Player's production of "The Merchant of Venice."

Lectures continued Saturday morning while members of the House and Senate convened. In the afternoon, the extemporaneous speakers drew their topics and were given forty-five minutes in which to prepare a speech. Each contestant spoke twice, before different judges and different audiences. At three-thirty, the winners were announced in the main ballroom.

Housing Friday night was furnished by Purdue sororities and fraternities.

SENIORS PLAN PARTY

The senior class will hold its annual Christmas party on Friday morning, December 19, from 8:00-9:00 a.m. The party will be held in the school gymnasium.

Classes other than seniors may have a Christmas party on Thursday, the 18th after school or on Friday morning at the same time the seniors will be having their party.

Stepping Stones To Graduation

The mathematics curriculum offered at Central proves to be another group of courses which attracts many students. Now there are pupils enrolled in high school math classes here which are taught by Mr. Wilmore, the head of the mathematics (cont'd page 4, col. 1)

Pictured are members of the Central orchestra which will give its annual concert with the band in the auditorium. ## HELP FIGHT T. B.

Along with Nativity scenes, holiday carols and holly wreaths, the Tuberculosis seal has come to be a part of the Christmas scene.

This year, again, the T. B. Seal Sale is being launched at Central. It is hoped that everyone will participate and help in this campaign if he is at all able to do so. The campaign was opened last Tuesday morning, December 9, 1952.

Even though medical science has been able to decrease the death rate from tuberculosis, and to cure more people of the germ, there are still 8,000 people in Indiana alone who have T. B.

The T. B. Seal this year has a picture of a lighted candle on it. Let us remember how much good one lighted candle can do in the darkness and how much good your purchase of seals will do.

BARNSTORMERS AND GLEE CLUB PREPARE CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

James Lewis Casaday's Barnstormers and Miss Weber's Glee Club will present their annual Christmas program on Central's stage for upper and underclass assemblies Dec. 17 and 18. The performance, which is to be repeated for parents and visitors the evening of Dec. 18, will include "living pictures" depicting the various moods and messages of Christmas as voiced in carols presented by the Glee Club.

The Barnstormer board has designed the settings for these scenes as an expression of their Christmas greetings to faculty, students, and visitors.

The carols to be portrayed on the stage are as follows: Processional—"O Come, O Come Emanuel"—with an illuminated manuscript designed by Mary Ann Fichtner as the setting, "There were Shepherds"—setting devised by Mary Ann Fichtner, "Cradle Hymn"—background designed by Jeanne Martin, "The Three Kings"—setting by Mary Ann Fichtner, "Joy to the World," poinsetta scene arranged by George Petit, "Carol of the Bells," setting designed by Jo Ann Fichtner, "Mexican Shelter Song," with a pinata background by Mary Ann Fichtner, "Candle Light," Jo Ann Fichtner, "Susie Snowflake"—setting effect by Mary Ann Fichtner, "32 feet and 8 Little Tails," rooftop scene by George Petit, "Legend of the Bells"—Gay Wodrich, "By the Yule Log," setting designed by Kevin McCarthy.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EXAMS SCHEDULED

The physical examinations for girls will be held Monday, December 15, 1952. This examination will be for all those girls who are scheduled to take it and for those who must make up a physical. All seniors must have two physical examinations before they can graduate.

"PEP" BAND PERSONNEL

Members of Central's "Pep Band" have recently been named and the list of players reads as follows:

- Clarinets — Felix Antonelli, Pat Bourden.
- Trumpets — Orton Mills, Roger Mathews, Paul Wenstow, Judy Lamb.
- Trombone—Tom Hansen.
- Baritone—Don Glenton.
- Horn—Mimi Bradfield.
- Bass—Larry Lauterbach.
- Drums — Art White, Pete Diamondis.

STUDENT COUNCIL REVIEWS RECORD

The first thirteen weeks of school have brought about a number of helpful changes through the work of the Student Council. Under President Bill Barrett, the council has passed legislation meant to improve the school and its name.

Extensive discussion has been going on in council meetings concerning the stealing problem at Central. Definite action will be voted upon at the next meeting, but the executive board met last week to decide that members of the board will push the sale of locks in the home rooms.

The council took steps to clear Central's name after the disturbances with other schools several months ago. Members have been asked to discourage bad sportsmanship and vandalism, and to report any they know of to the council.

October saw the Mishawaka Day Parade being sponsored by the Student Council who inspected floats, undertook to curb display of club signs, and presented awards to the winners.

Council representatives have been reminded this year to report each week the discussion which takes place in council meetings to their home rooms—a duty usually neglected by councils in the past.

The reprimand court, so long under discussion in meetings was finally abandoned in the interest of practicality and fairness.

Delegates to the Human Relations Institute sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews were chosen and sent largely through the student council.

Identification cards for council members have been ordered and will be done this week. The cards, for the purpose of keeping non-members out of meetings, will have the pupil's

NATIONAL ANTHOLOGY ACCEPTS FIVE ESSAYS FROM CENTRAL

Five Centralites who submitted essays in the National Essay Association Contest received notification last week that their work has been accepted for publication.

The essayists are: Marietta Coble, Judy Mellow, Sandy Miller, Tom Rusinek—who are all students in Miss Edith Spray's Creative Expression Class, and Ellen Frank.

Novelty Number, "Hey, Pedro!" Featured

Confronting the entire student body on bulletin boards school-wide this week and last have been the bold letters—"HEY, PEDRO!" Pedro, who has become a topic of constant conversation lately, will be with us tonight. Making his debut during the annual Linter Concert of Central's band and orchestra tonight at 8:00 in the school auditorium. In reality, "he" is the novelty number to be presented by the band, under the direction of Mr. Arthur J. Singleton.

The band this semester is the largest at Central in many years. There will be sixty-seven members participating in the concert, representing many hours of painstaking work and practice during the autumn months. They will present these numbers: "Apollo March"; "Sequoia," a tone melody; "Christmas Fantasy," a medley of Christmas carols; "Hey, Pedro!," a novelty tune; "Emblem of Unity;" and a "Popular Medley" including "Here in my Heart," "Half as Much," "You Belong to me," "Auf Wiederseh'n Sweetheart," and "Si Trocadero."

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Harold E. Kottlowski, will present the following numbers: Russian Chorale and Overture; Puppet, 'to be played by the strings), Meadowlands, by L. Knijyser; Song of Love, by Sigmund Romberg; and Fiddlers' Contest, by Paul Yoder.

Every winter and spring the band and orchestra present a concert together. Each is a fine example of hard work and budding talent.

Remember, the Winter Concert is tonight at 8:00 in the Central auditorium, admission $.50. Tickets may be purchased from both band and orchestra members.

Ex-Centralites Distinguish Themselves

Central alumni Dave Hager and Walt Schillinger, class of '52, are reported to be doing outstanding work this fall in theatrical productions at their respective colleges.

Dave who is majoring in architecture at the University of Cincinnati, has played the leading role in Tennessee Williams "Summer Smoke", presented by the Cincinnati Mummer Players, and has done all the designs for the Mummer's recent production, "Anything Goes", by Cole Porter. The play "Summer Smoke" will be repeated at Cincinnati during Christmas vacation for 4,500 professors.

Walt Schillinger, in addition to his work on parts in his regular classes at Northwestern, has portrayed three different roles in Christopher Marlowe's tragedy "Dr. Faustus", produced by the University Players of that college.

Both Dave and Walt served on the Barnstormer board at Central, and participated with distinction in many of Central's productions.

The Challenge of Pearl Harbor Is Still with Us

Last Sunday marked the eleventh anniversary of a day "that will live forever in infamy" — Pearl Harbor. Most of us at the time had little comprehension of the incident, the emergency news broadcasts, the bitter rebellion, the sorrow. We only knew that something bad had happened.

Millions of lives and billions of dollars went to strike back at that evil, with the faith and the firm resolution that this was the war to end all wars, that the world would never again know such pain and grief.

Yet today, in that same part of the world, lives are being lost, and this time it is our business, for to us falls the problem of ending that conflict so that we and future generations may know what peace is. Can we meet that challenge?

Aid Asked for Seal Sale

The Tuberculosis Seal Sale is under way at Central.

The sale, carried on every year at Christmas time, asks only for a few cents of our money for its support. In turn, we receive not only Christmas seals and a pin to wear, but something more important and more lasting.

The seals and the pin are merely symbolic of the good which the Anti-Tuberculosis League does for thousands of people. Chest X-rays for students in the schools and help for stricken people come out of the few cents which we donate.

Our contribution may be small, but our gain is large. Certainly we can afford a few cents to support the Anti-Tuberculosis League in its good-will industry.

Tomorrow, or Today?

In coping with the difficulties which face us, most of us are concerned with today's problems, not bothering to worry about the future.

So often we are told to look ahead, show some foresight, and realize what ominous clouds loom on tomorrow's horizon.

It is true that often, while not watching where we are going, we run into something which could have been prevented. The battle-cry is then that we did not look to the future and plan for it.

But perhaps it would be more realistic to say that rather than not planning for the future, we were not taking care of today, for there are times that we neither worry about today nor plan for tomorrow. But one thing is certain: if we solve today's problems wisely, tomorrow's will solve themselves.

Some people just never have enough to do and always seem to be on the job ready to help make a success of another activity. Bill Barrett, Student Council President is certainly proof of the statement. Bill's name can usually be found in the minutes of most any school group no matter what particular activity you are interested in. Already this year Bill has been elected president of his Home Room 223, played varsity football, was chairman of the successful Civitan Halloween Dance, and was on the planning committee for the Youth Human Relations Institute. Last year we saw Bill as Captain of the swim team and state champion swimmer in the 200-yard free style contest, and second ranked in track in the city.

High on Bill's "like list" are hamburgers, sailing, a certain Barbara, and a Mexican dish called "Enchiladas y tortillas." (Note: Sound intriguing to say the least.)

Bill hopes to lead the Student Council to a successful year by carrying out the Pioneer's platform.

Unless you know Bill very well you would never guess his hidden talent. He's a very talented artist and wants to go to college to pursue study in this field. Of course, he comes by this talent naturally from his father.

Bill says, "I've come to like Central better than any other school I've attended and I've gone to quite a few. It offers so many opportunities for a student to take advantage of if he so desires." With many steps already in the right direction he's bound for success!

—MARY DRING.

Have you ever wondered just how good the "good old days" were? I wonder if it's just a sign of old age that starts a person rambling about, "do you remember the good old days when" —. It couldn't possibly be that the yesteryears were so good that the low prices compensated for the LACK of the green stuff . . . Wonder what started the philosophizing? A poem published in The INTERLUDE of 1931 gives us a meaningful picture of those times . . .

TO THE JOBLESS

The frosted windows of the shops
Withhold from him their festive ware.

The stars, like incandescent drops
Add to the ice's mocking glare.
His stiffened fingers reach his throat

And fumble with the threadbare coat.
Broke — on Christmas Eve.

He peers into the passing crowd
And sees the joyous faces there.
His blue lips mumble, half aloud
A sort of awkward, halting prayer
That they whom, passing, he may see,

May never find themselves to be
Broke — on Christmas eve.
Broke — on Christmas Eve.

He walks the streets alone tonight,
And watches those who hurry by.
He stops, beneath a blink light,
And slowly rubs a snow-bleared eye.

He finds himself unwanted; hurled
Upon the sidelines of the world;
Broke — on Christmas Eve.

—MARVIN KAHN.

YOUR LABEL

We are approaching the end of the first semester. Only a few more weeks remain. The grades you make will be recorded on Central's permanent records. They will remain there forever as mute evidence of your work in the subjects you are now taking.

Many are going to fail. Why, because they have decided that, that is the easiest way out. This is very shortsighted, but no one has been able to tell them that they are fooling no one but themselves. Some day they will realize they have made a mistake, but not now.

Many boys and girls are doing their best and are making excellent grades. They want to succeed and are doing so. They, without doubt, will be our future leaders, not only in college but in industry and business as well.

You and you only are putting a success or failure label on your future. It is too bad that all students do not have a desire to succeed.

Principal.

Bears Tackle Red Devils Friday

BEAR FACTS CUB TEAM

ELSTON HIGH IS NEXT FOE OF CENTRAL'S

Central's whiz kids under Coach Elmer McCall journey to Michigan City to face Elston High's Red Devils in a conference tilt this Friday.

Michigan City like Central has a new coach this year, Dick Osborn from Dugger, Illinois. He has a lot of basketball background and his teams of the past have been outstanding.

Osborne has five boys back from last year's squad, but unfortunately only one stands over 6 ft. These boys form the team with only three reserves seeing much action at all. At the forwards are seniors Dick Korn 6'1" and Ken Schreiber. Schreiber played halfback on the Devil grid and threw the pass that beat Central 6-0. Korn has 36 points to date. At guards City has George Gondek, the boy who caught Schreiber's pass and Bill Wright, the only junior on the squad. Gondek has 35 points and Wright leads a well-balanced offense with 41 tallies. In reserve is Ron Searcy whose brother Meryl plays first string defensive tackle at Northwestern University.

The Red Devils won their first two games beating Valparaiso 46-43 and edging Frankfort in an overtime 66-61, but then lost last Friday to Culver 61-81.

Central should rate the favorite role but Michigan City has a lot of potential.

Probable Starting Lineup

Korn 6'1"	F	Schafer 6'2"
Schreiber 5'7"	F	Molnar 6'1"
Donaldson 5'10"	C	Quiggle 6'3"
Gondek 5'7"	G	Harvey 5'10"
Wright 5'9"	G	Harmon 6'1"

Grapplers Gain A Win and Tie

With Coach Bob Jones back to take over the reins, the Central matmen were tied by Howe Military Academy. The Bears took a quick 23 to 5 lead, but Howe came back with 3 falls and a decision to tie the score up.

This is one of the most inexperienced teams that Central has had in quite a while. Out of the first 14 men there are only 3 seniors.

BEARS BURY BERRIES, 64-53

Coach Elmer McCall's speed merchants caught up with the Logansport Berries and left them in a cloud of dust, 64-53, at the Berry Bowl last Saturday, before a jam-packed assemblage. Keith Showater's Berries, hitting 1,000, jumped to a 7-0 lead, and increased it to 13-5 with two minutes left in the first frame. At that point Central's Paul Harvey, Jack Quiggle, and Tom Schafer took over and brought Central back to only a one-point deficit, 13-12. Logansport, with Bill Jargstorf and Jay Byers pouring them in, raced off to a 23-18 lead midway in the second period and the Bears found themselves down by six at the intermission. Late in the third quarter Emery Molnar, Billie Harmon, and Jack Quiggle combined to put the Bears out front, 44 to 40, by the start of the fourth quarter. Junior Paul Harvey tossed in 18 points for scoring honors and played a magnificent floor game. Emery Molnar had 12, Quiggle and Schafer 11, and Billie Harmon 10.

Bill Jargstorf and Jay Byers led the losers with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Logan won the "B" contest.

Varsity Players Honored At Football Banquet

The 1952 Central football season was officially closed a week ago Wednesday with a banquet that feted the twenty-eight varsity players. Also present were the "B" and Freshmen teams.

Toastmaster ceremonies were ably performed by Major Robert Jones, who returned from military service just a few weeks ago. The principal speaker was Chris Dal Sasso, assistant coach at Indiana University. Other speakers on the program were Ross Stephenson, Ed Szucs, and Frank Allen. Dal Sasso stated that the coaching staff at I. U. has "instilled the will to win and the desire to accomplish something in the players. That," he said, "has been lacking the past few years." He also spoke on the requirements of a college football player.

Coach Stephenson, while introducing the players, announced that the co-captains for next season will be Emery Molnar, end and Jim Kovatch, guard.

Neal Welch presented the Kiwanis Award to Joe Taylor, senior guard. Requirements for the award are leadership, scholarship, ambition, and loyalty. Taylor has a scholastic average of 95.

The Gold Award, presented by Principal P. D. Pointer, was given to Bob Scannell and Capt. Ted Ringer. (Cont'd next column)

This was the first time in the history of the award that two players have received the honor.

Monogram winners were—Seniors: Bill Barrett, Warren Braunsdorf, Ray Demski, John Eichorst, Tom Kajzer, Ken Krempec, Bob Loy, Ted Ringer, Bob Scannell, Dale Sigris, Joe Taylor, Lonnie Woods. Juniors: Jim Dulcet, Bob Greer, Bill Harmon, Dick Kovacs, Jim Kovatch, Dave Kindt, Dick Laughlin, Emery Molnar, and Bob Pauszek. Senior Assistant Manager Carl Grant was awarded a monogram and Head Manager Jerry Klein received a medal.

The banquet was sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association of Central.

"C" Team Wins Fourth Straight Victory

Coach James Powers' "C" basketball team extended their winning streak to four straight by defeating Adams 40-37 last Saturday.

The Cubs, led by Archie Simmons, pulled away from the Adams frosh in the final quarter after a nip-and-tuck ball game all the way.

Simmons was high point man with 11 points, while Bill Smith was second with 9. Tom Angus was high for Adams with 12.

The Cubs play Mishawaka this Friday on Mishawaka's Court.

department, Miss Pfaffman, Miss Se-mortier, Mr. Kindy, Mr. Hawkins, Miss Kitson, and Mr. Blanchard.

We live in an age when questions of quantity, size and speed, must often be answered. While the questions remain simple, counting and arithmetic suffice the need. As these questions become more complex, however, algebra, involving negative numbers, formulas, and equations is essential. Then with questions requiring thought and exactness in size and construction, the answers require a knowledge of geometry and trigonometry, the more advanced high school mathematics courses. In geometry you study the size, shape, and relationship of geometrical figures to one another, while the latter course involves the basic information necessary for indirect and complicated, measurement problems. Designed, especially for boys taking shop course, trade mathematics is another of the classes taught in this field which proves an asset.

The regular sequence of mathematics courses taken by a math major is as follows: Algebra I and II in the ninth grade, Geometry I and II in the second year of high school, Algebra II and Solid Geometry in the junior year, and to finish the course Trigonometry and college Algebra in the senior year. Each year the superior senior who has taken these courses is awarded the John Nelson Mills medal for excellence in mathematics. Every year the math department enters outstanding pupils in the state contest in the three divisions—Algebra, Geometry, and Comprehensive Mathematics.

When the caveman started to count his sheep, he first used his fingers but when the cattle outnumbered his fingers he needed a system to count them, and so "fingurin" evolved. When people started separating their property, and began doing business with one another, mathematics became more important. Even the pyramids, built so long ago show that a great deal of mathematics was then known. In fact, some of the most important logic, and geometrical theorms were first discovered before the Common Era.

The qualities vital to a person entering mathematics courses are a desire to learn and a willingness to put forth a little effort. When high school is over these courses will prove valuable to the student for they help to develop a capacity to think, necessary in every walk of life.

—LUCY SIMON.

Kids need more than "readin', writin' and 'rithmetic" in this day and age if they are to be successful in their adult years. It calls for a real education. Many a boy — and girl — has gone to college because a savings account eased the financial strain.
