

Colonials Off To Slow Start

After winning the season's opener against Culver Military Academy, Clay's Cagers have dropped four straight, finding it hard to hit the basket. The latest loss came against the Concord Minutemen last Saturday night, 52-47; the night before Adams stopped Clay, 75-52.

The Colonials, it was noted, have had more total shots in each game than their opponents. Leading the team in scoring and rebounds is 6'3" senior, Denny Papczynski.

Clay's Cagers Commence Combat

Clay's varsity and B-team basketball teams travel across town tonight to collide with the Jackson Tigers. Then, tomorrow night Clay entertaining Riley at home followed by North Liberty here on Tuesday.

The Jackson varsity fell victims to the Clay team last year, whereas Riley found Clay to be easy prey. North Liberty was also victorious over Clay in '65.

Jackson has a new gym (seating capacity, 2300-2400), seven returning lettermen, and no personnel losses. Included in their returning lettermen is last year's leading scorer, Bill Kindt.

Joe Whiten, Riley's leading scorer from last year's team is back again, as are most of the other lettermen from that team.

The Shamrocks, who established 20-3 record a year ago have five returning lettermen

INTRAMURAL INCIDENTS

Saturday mornings at 9:00 there are about 80 sleepy-eyed boys playing basketball just for the fun of it. Each intramural team has 10 or 11 boys and after two weeks the Cool Cobras hold down first place with a 2-0 record. The Leaping Lizards, Maddogs, and Tiny Tigers are tied for second with 1-1 records and the Big Bulls, Bad Bears, Lousy Lions and Wildcats are in the cellar with 0-2 records.

Scott Schalliol took high point honors for the first week with 33 points. Pete Jank copped the second week's scoring honors with 33 points also.

Matmen Maul Maroons

Clay's matmen played host to the Mishawaka Maroons on the 22nd last month only to defeat them 27 to 17. The B-team also won 37 to 3, losing only one match and getting a pin at the 180 pound class by Jerry Parker. A forfeit at the 120 pound weight class also added 5 points to the Colonial B-team final tally. Although the varsity's score wasn't as impressive, Gary Nellans, the newly elected wrestling captain, and Ken Jones, along with Rick Patsel, all had pins for the evening. Also winning for the Colonials were Dale Carl, Greg Hamilton, Dave Stogsdill, and Jim Bayer.

Winter Wonderland Features Mac Hall

Mac Hall and his orchestra will provide entertainment for this year's Christmas Dance to be held December 17.

Winter Wonderland is this year's theme, chosen by Phyllis Crandall, decorations chairman, and her committee made up of seniors, Terry Carroll, Jenny Collins, Rick Hall and Chris Johnson, juniors Doug Maike and Dave May, and sophomores, Stephanie Stroud and Debbie Rokely.

Other committees and their chairmen are refreshments and chaperones, Laurie Bridge; tickets, Chris Johnson; clean-up, John Riehl; and band, Sue Kollar. Five to ten people from outside student council will serve on each committee.

The dance will be from 8:30 to 11:30, and the price of tickets is $1.25 per couple.

The Little Old Matchmaker

It is still debatable whether IBM stands for International Business Machines or Indicating Best Matches after Clay's first IBM Computer Dance which was held on November 18. The purpose of the dance was for Clayites to find out who their ideal match was, according to a computer. Some of the matches can still be decided as to their idealness.

Senior, Sue Cress was matched with junior, George Hawblitzel. Fellow juniors composed the couple of Dave Holloway and Lina Heinrich. This was also evident when long time best friends, Charlie Clark and Lucie Ressler found themselves together. Brad Webber and Diane Wisniewski were among those matched in the under classes. Marc Peterson was with Brenda Bejma, while 5'1" Pam Thomas was matched with near 6', Mike Fountain.

Girls older than their prospective matches was often the case, such as Scott Beisel and Noreen Mester, Donn Hartzell and Judy Firestone, Danny Harner and Chris McFaul, Bob Grice and Stephanie Maher, Dennis Duncan and Pam Rose.

Other matches were: Leon Singleton and Tam Heckel, Dave Devon and Linda Wampler, John Reihl and Mary Beth Wright, Larry Graveel and Diane Harney, Bill Reihl and Vicki Bayman, Gary Graul and Lee Howerton, Jim Thrash and Diane Koken, Mark Kulwicki and Gail Lupa, Gregg Kaniewski and Debbie Higgs, Doug Jennings and Martha Ullery, Pat Smith and Donna Rarick, Tom Baker and Sue Davis,

Seal Sellers Seek Support

Fight TB with Christmas seals! It's about that time of year to help support the Christmas seal campaign. The students of Clay High have been having the opportunity to do this by buying Christmas seals from their homeroom chairmen. The chairmen have been selling the seals under the supervision of Mrs. Shidaker who is the head of the campaign. The highlight of the campaign is that each homeroom whose amount of contributions reaches at least $5.00 will receive a bond.

Junior Achievers Learn Big Business

Modco, Jaski, and Jamco are just three of the 31 companies that students are responsible for running in South Bend and Mishawaka.

Clay's juniors and seniors are owning and operating businesses under the leadership of Junior Achievement.

"Business and Youth--Partners in Progress," is the motto of Junior Achievement. It has been in existence since 1919. Started in New England as a trade school, it has now broadened to an international organization. Although it wasn't until 1953 that the South Bend Chapter was started, much progress has been made.

Stockholders, customers, contributors, counseling firms, and advisors make up a complete company.

Place mats, memo pads, safety lights, and a television show are some of the accomplishments of Clay's achievers.

Recently, Greg Bechtold, Jan Rose, and Jay Farquhar attended the Junior Achievement management conference; the convention lasted two days and was held in Elkhart. 250 students participated and received ideas in business.

Achievers meet regularly to go over mechanical or financial problems.

Draftsmen Plan Dream Houses

Strange things have been going on in Room 104. Two of Mr. Wiseman's Drafting II classes are building projects. About seventeen boys at Clay are planning, drawing, and building their own houses.

This new class, a combination of mechanical and architectural drafting, came into being last fall when Mr. Wiseman found that 50% of his two Drafting II classes were interested in mechanical drafting and 50% were interested in architectural drawing. Students interested in architectural drawing are designing and building their own houses. They will spend the first semester and part of the second working on these. The most popular types of houses turned out to be ranch and split level.

Each house will be drawn in complete detail, including four elevations. The models must include at least one room in full detail. Each house plan must stay within a $20,000 range.

The students have also learned about the history of architecture, especially Roman and Egyptian. The course will include all the aspects of planning and building an actual house, trying to give the students an idea on how to arrange rooms, knowledge of new techniques, materials and a consumers education.

Mary Salyers and Debbie Nosko were honored by the Colonial staff at a meeting November 30. The two were awarded trophies for dependability and versatility, respectively.

Don't Worry, Love!!

Scene: Mythical Organization, at Clay, one week before a dance.

Sam: Let's get organized.

Jane: OK--who's got the sponsor?

Peggy: Do we need a sponsor?

Jane: Yeah, I guess so.

Peggy: If I cry--Miss Sucker will do it.

Dick: Are we going to have refreshments?

Voice: My mom will bake brownies.

Dick: Good--is it semi-formal or formal?

Jane: Huh?

Dick: Are they going to wear long dresses or short?

Jane: Oh--well they'll decide in the office.

Peggy: I've got to get home.

Sam: But we haven't got anything done. Who took the notes?

Voice: I told you my mom would make brownies.

Jane: Good--I move we adjourn.

Sam: (he's trampled as the group runs out the door) But, but----what are we going to do about decorations? (He looks around the empty room)

***

Poor Sam runs around the next morning during homeroom trying to get volunteers for decorations. He can only make it to four homes--but he is swamped with volunteers. Scene: In front of the gym. 9:00 a.m.--Day of the dance.

Sam: Everyone should be here soon.

Jane: Good--then we can start putting up the decorations. By the way what's the theme?

Sam: I don't know, Jim decided last night.

Jane: But he can't come till 11:00. He's got basketball practice.

Sam: Well, you'd better call him and find out.

(a few minutes later)

Jane: Sam, they couldn't figure one out. Do anything you want.

Sam: Well, we'd better start. It's already 9:30. The rest of the kids can help when they come.

Jane: If they come.

Scene: Gym one week after the dance.

Sam: The guy from the variety store called. I've got to get his decorations back pronto. He was pretty nice to lend them to us, at the last minute.

Jane: Yeah--it was a pretty good dance wasn't it?

Sam: Sure was, and it only took us till 4:30 to decorate. Not bad considering the two of us to decorate the whole gym.

Jane: Yeah--it was simple--but nice.

Things always seem to get done some how don't they?

Live Wire Runs Shop

Short, squat, and candid, Mr. Richard Fullhart, power mechanics teacher at Clay, makes an interesting and informative subject for an interview, as the students of Miss O'Brien's journalism class discovered Monday, October 17.

A man of many facets, his hobbies include cars, leather tooling, silversmithing, his two boys, and flowers (?). "Just because I work with cars is no reason to be a clod," was his reply to why he likes flowers. "My wife and I raise 'em," he continued, "and our boys tromp 'em."

His main interest, however, lies in cars. At the present time, he is rebuilding a 1936 Ford Convertible Coupe which he has been working on since 1957. "The body parts are hard to find," he stated. "Although there are millions of parts available for Model T's and A's." Not many people today can say that their car has a '58 Corvette engine and a '37 Packard transmission. Mr. Fullhart boldly asserted however, that, "One day, I'm gonna drive it."

Another hobby that occupies much of his spare time is leather tooling, a skill he learned in high school. "It takes a little skill and some time, but," he added, "it sure saves money on Christmas presents."

As stated before, he and his wife have two boys, Larry, who is three, and Jeffery, who is nine months. "Right now, they're at the interesting age," was the comment he made on his boys. When asked how his wife felt about all of his activities, he replied, "At the end of ten years she has begun to live with it."

Mr. Fullhart developed his mechanical interest and ability as a lad. "My father was a general handyman and we had a completely equipped shop in the basement." He went to Ball State on an academic scholarship and is "happy" that he stuck with industrial arts and the teaching field. He also left a word of advice for college-bound students. "It's no party." Mr. Fullhart started his teaching career eight years ago at Concord, where he started the shop, and has spent the past six years at Clay.

Along with his many hobbies, the multi-talented teacher also has a frank philosophy on people and members of groups. "Nobody is willing to get behind the ideas, sweat, and push them through," he said. "Nobody wants to be a worker which is the trouble with most clubs. You get no more out of life than you put into it unless," he jokingly asserted, "you were one of the gang that held up Tiffany's."

Jacques' Highlights French Club Trip

Making their annual pilgrimage to Chicago tomorrow, the French Club will spend the day in Chicago.

During the forenoon, a trip will be made to the Museum of Science and Industry, where a selection of Christmas trees from around the world is on display.

Highlighting the afternoon is a luncheon at Jacques' French Restaurant. For the most part, the remainder of the day is left to the whimsey of the group.

A.F.S. Sends Good Tidings

Christmas is not very far away, and what would fit the season better than a sale of Christmas Greeting Cards. The A.F.S. (American Field Service) is selling these cards as special service to support Clay's Chapter of foreign students. The money received from the sales will be used to pay for the students school fees.

The A.F.S. just concluded a potluck given so that Foreign students from other schools in our area could get acquainted with each other and each others country.

For the first time in Clay's history a standard School Ring has been adopted. As shown in the picture they are dome topped instead of the traditional square topped class rings.

THE FROZEN NOSE

This is the year for reunions. First on the list are Chuck Schoffner and Stephanie Maher. It seems that they went to the same Jr. High School in Lima, Ohio, and found, to their common delight, that they are together again this year. Next there are Gail Huckins and Rex Rakow, they went to the same grade school across town. Then comes the most amusing one of all. If you went to the B-team game with Culver last Friday, you will remember a tall, sandy haired, red faced boy with glasses, on the Culver B-team, went to grade school and played on the same basketball team together. What does it feel like, Steve, playing against John (John Crimmins, a sophomore at Culver)?

Dorien de Lusignan, please hire yourself a cook the next time you try to warm up doughnuts in the oven. You won't burn as many if you do. By the way, Dorien got a return engagement to sing for Mr. Matson. You must sing magnificently!

The Glee Club can stand up and take a bow. Mrs. Powers thanks you for not laughing when she fell. She writes "Now, where else could you find students that helpful and nice?" Then she wonders, "On the other hand, where else could you find teachers on the floor?"

In contrast, Jerry Fallat likes to hit fellow students in the stomach lightly with a metal tray and then dump the water in the tray on the head of the victim. We all know you didn't mean to do it Jerry, even if you were laughing as hard as you could.

Someone had better tell Diane Wagner that she is not a bird. It seems that she was doing bird calls during Sociology and Biology class. You had better stick to Biology class, Diane, it sounds better there.

Are English classes all alike? One wonders when, discovering that Vic Singleton, 6th hr., Jack Singleton, 1st hr., and Linda Singleton, 5th hr., all sit in the same desk. The only difference is that Jack has Mr. Dreeves, and Vic and Linda have Mr. Matson.

Jerry Cook, why do you like to take out library books and return them within 5 or 10 minutes? Jerry does this regularly, about every day during study hall.

"NO EXERCISING ALLOWED!" Will be the new sign placed in Mr. Garrett's room. It seems that Gail Wooley and Mr. Garrett challenge each other to a balancing tests on the back of chairs.

What did you do during the last fire drill? Obey the bell? Charlie Clark didn't, Charlie had to sit still because he was in the whirlpool in the boy's locker room. Mr. King told Charlie "I dare you!"
