Underclassmen pictures for this year's Hoosier Poet will be taken on September 19. Students are advised to wear bright colors since the pictures will be in color.

This year the procedure will be slightly different. A fifty-cent deposit will be collected when the pictures are taken. This will be for those who want the package of pictures. Otherwise the picture will be taken for the yearbook only. Underclassmen editors this year are Dawn Dawson and Roseanne Nagy.

RILEY GIRLS SEE EUROPE

By Judy Brown and June Keresztes

We arrived on June 30 at Bourget airport in Paris. We were traveling under the auspices of the Foreign Language League, and the village we lived in for two and a half weeks was located 30 miles south of Paris.

We lived in Lycee Mixte in Etampes. This is a modern school, and all the girls were lodged in one room on each of two different floors. The boys were on the other side of the building.

Students attended classes from 8:30 to 12:30 o'clock. In the afternoons we visited places of interest.

Our first excursion was to the Chateau de Fontainebleau. We also visited the many chateaux of the Loire valley and traveled to Versailles. We attended mass one Sunday in the Notre Dame cathedral which is very beautiful.

The Montmartre section of Paris which is the artists' section was one of our favorite spots in Paris. We both had our portraits made there. We used the metro (subway) many times, but there weren't many of us who really liked it--it was always so crowded.

One night we had an evening tour of Paris and took a boat ride on the Seine river. At the cathedral of Chartres, we climbed the 365 steps to the top of the bell tower from which we had a magnificent view of the village below.

On July 4, we had our own celebration with sparklers in front of the school. On Bastille Day we had spaces reserved on the Champs Elysees for the parade, and General De Gaulle was seated almost across the street from us.

Lunch was served at 12:30 o'clock and dinner at 8 o'clock. During the first week, we could hardly eat the food because it was so different from what we were used to. One meal consisted of lobster with the eyes still in it. Breakfast was just bread and butter or jam and a cup of chocolate.

We attended a reception at the Mayor's house the first week we were there. Each group presented a gift to the mayor from his home town. Judy made the presentation of our gift, a key to the city of South Bend and a Notre Dame ash tray. One afternoon we had a chance to visit with a French family who

VOLUME XLI, NUMBER 1

J. W. RILEY HIGH SCHOOL, SOUTH BEND, INDIANA

SEPTEMBER 15, 1967

These are Riley's new teachers. In the front row are Mrs. Barbara Hordemann, Miss Lynn Datzman, Mrs. Carol Wroblewski, Mrs. Marcia McConnell, and Mrs. Evelyn Wigent. In the back row are Mr. Joseph Lawecki, Mr. Michael Cesnik, and Mr. James Land. Mr. Lawecki is Riley's new assistant principal who was too busy to be interviewed for this issue.

RILEY WELCOMES SIX NEW TEACHERS

As a word of comfort to the freshmen at Riley this year, there are also six new teachers here who find Riley complicated and intriguing.

Mrs. Barbara Hordemann is the new occupant of room 309, otherwise known as the physics lab. She is a graduate of Wheeling (West Virginia) College and has her master's degree from the University of Notre Dame. At this time Mrs. Hordemann does not know her physics, physical science, or freshman homeroom students well enough to comment on them.

Room 306 has a new tenant this year, too. Mrs. Carol Wroblewski is from Indianapolis and graduated from Ball State University. She teaches freshman and junior English and has a freshman homeroom. Before coming to Riley, she taught at Arsenault Technical High School in Indianapolis. Mrs. Wroblewski is very impressed with Riley, but she says she feels like a little mouse running in a maze.

Mr. James Land is based in room 305. In his dual-role here, Mr. Land teaches welding and electronics and coaches B-team wrestling and baseball. He is a native of Noblesville, Indiana and a graduate of Ball State University. So far, Riley seems fine to him.

Miss Lynn Datzman, room 105, is a new addition to the English staff; she will be teaching freshman and sophomore English. Recently graduated from St. Mary's College, Miss Datzman has begun her graduate studies at the University of Notre Dame. She has taught a semester at Washington. Miss Datzman has found Riley a little more confusing than she had expected.

Mrs. Marcia McConnell, who completed her studies at the University of Wisconsin, has joined Riley's home economics staff. She will be teaching Clothing and Family Living. She is from Wisconsin and has three children in grammar school. She advises students to complete their schooling either through college or special vocational training.

Michael Cesnik is Riley's other newcomer. St. Meinrad College near Evansville is his alma mater. He is also a MAT student at the University of Notre Dame now. His impression of Riley is, "I can't believe it!"

owned the book store in Etampes.

Our moving day was set for July 16. After carefully packing, we began a 12-hour bus trip to Leysin, Switzerland. The hours were spent laughing over a French duck, Sylvester, who was making the trip with us.

The mountains of Switzerland proved to be a very majestic sight. Marveling at their beauty, we began the 14-mile ride toward our accommodations. Tired and hungry, we arrived at the American College (Judy) and the Hotel Universitaire (June). We found delicious food and warm inviting rooms awaiting us.

The first excursion we took was to the Matterhorn. We marveled at the work of nature as we gazed

20 STUDENT COUNCIL POSITIONS OPEN

By Bill Wilson

For the past few years there has been a growing apathy among the students at Riley. There were grumblings that the students had no voice and that the Student Council was actually a social club. Many of these grumblings were well founded.

Last year a group of determined students decided to take action instead of merely grumbling. These students initiated the writing of a new Student Council Constitution. Included in this constitution were the bases for a strong and effective Student Council and for a strong student voice. However, the constitution could only provide these bases. It was up to the students to initiate the changes provided for in this constitution. It was up to the students to build a better Riley.

This is Riley's A.F.S. student for the 1967-1968 school year. Her name is Efrosuni Zeimbekaki, in Greece, but at Riley, Effie is much easier to say.

EFFIE

Riley's A.F.S. student arrived from Greece four and one-half weeks ago. Her name is Efrosyni Zeimbekaki and she is known to her friends as Effie. She will be living with the Johnstons who have two other daughters at Riley, Mary Lou, a senior, and Nancy, a freshman.

Effie is the daughter of Steve and Kleo Zeimbekaki. She has one sister, Catherine, who is fourteen. Her father was a technical clerk in a public office before his retirement and her mother presently works as clerk.

Effie's home is in Canea on the beautiful island of Crete. It may be known to many because one can recognize it as the setting of the movie "The Moonspinners". The town has a population of 45,000. Effie attended public school, First Lyceum for Girls. She completed all but one year of her high school training, and she will receive credit for this year's work at Riley so she may enter a college or university when she returns to Greece.

Effie likes swimming and reading. She can swim all year-round in the sea near her home. The coldest temperature is about 45 degrees so naturally she is looking forward to our winters with all the snow. She already has received a library card and has begun visiting the public library.

Effie exclaimed how different football is here from football in Greece where it is played with the feet. Effie took a weekend trip to Gary and saw their annual Football-O-Rama held there. It turned out to be a rather special but not too unusual afternoon as the spectators were rained out. She was surprised to find that the players continued playing in all that rain. Slumber parties were another experience of the weekend

Last spring a group of students initiated a political party, the first and hopefully not the last change provided for in the new constitution. That was last spring. We, the Student Council officers, are now responsible for the voice of the students at Riley. It is up to us to remedy the failures and weaknesses of previous years. The Student Council, as well as the members of the student body, plays an important role. The home room elections have already taken place. The at-large members are yet to be elected.

According to the constitution there are to be four freshmen, six sophomores, eight juniors, and ten seniors elected. Any student who was not elected in homeroom may obtain a petition from room 211. This petition must be signed by 50 persons and returned to room 211 by Monday, September 18. Campaigning will begin, and the elections will be held Thursday.

No longer is there any basis for grumbling at Riley. We have a chance to build Riley into the best school in the state. Let's take our opportunity and our responsibility to work for Riley. It is our chance to do something for our school now and for the years to come.

The Imaginary Invalid by Moliere will be presented by the Riley drama club Nov. 9 and 10 at Riley. The price of tickets for the production has been set at 75 cents.

and she enjoys them though they weren't what she expected.

So far, Effie's favorite American foods are hamburgers and popcorn. However, she hasn't yet learned to eat her hamburgers the American way, drowned in ketchup, mustard, onions, pickles and everything else available.

Effie is looking forward to her year here at Riley and to making new friends. When asked what she likes best about the United States she said, "Everything."

Howdy, Janet Johnson. Where did you ever learn to walk so well?

Dear Mark: Someone is out of "Chanel No. 5."

H. H. thinks B. W. 's speech was very impressive.

It seems that Riley's Football Parade was a city-wide project with students from Adams, Central, and LaSalle working on it.

If Batman flies so well, why can't we all do it, too? A Batman sweatshirt and a blue towel don't help any do they, Nancy?

Some Riley juniors are so versatile that they can do anything from playing baseball to changing flat tires and insulting people they don't even know.

Situation Normal-- All Fouled Up. Riley's halls were once more a teeming mass of students as the 1967-68 school year roared to a start. Registration day brought frightened freshman and saucy seniors once more to Riley's hallowed halls.

The school was filled once more with greetings of friends separated by the months of summer too soon over. Everyone found himself suddenly back in the old routine of the familiar 8-3 work day; quite a change from the lazy summer afternoons.

The confusion of reassignments, of recategorization, of missing schedules faced the teachers once more. There were 1700 vacation loving students to be rehabilitated.

The summer had brought about the usual number of imminent schedule changes, a situation which found the waiting counselors with pen in hand; we know that everything soon will be back to normal.

500 NEW TITLES IN RILEY'S LIBRARY

By Sue Swanson

The Riley High School library is bigger and better than ever this year. A new assistant librarian, Mrs. Evelyn Wigent, is assisting Mrs. Elbertine Leatherman, librarian, and more than 500 new books have been placed on the shelves.

New books range from popular novels to supplementary material for science and history courses. Among the new titles are The Murderers Among Us, Famous Negro Heroes of America and Pitcairn's Island.

Mrs. Wigent comes to South Bend from East Orange, N.J. She has two children: a son is stationed with the Army in Korea and a daughter is a freshman at Purdue. Mrs. Wigent did her undergraduate work at Douglass College in New Jersey, and she earned her master's degree from Purdue University. She also holds a master's degree in library science from the Pittsburgh Graduate Library School.

Mrs. Wigent has taught library science at Purdue University and worked in the library there. She also has had a number of years of experience in the public schools of Newark, N. J. and of West Lafayette, Ind. Students who visit the library are encouraged to get acquainted with Mrs. Wigent.

MANY TAKE SUMMER TRIPS

Liz Detterich visited relatives at Chautauqua Lake, New York. Liz had an opportunity to try to water ski. She discovered if you lean forward just a little too much, you fall. If you lean backward just a little too much, you fall. "All in all," Liz said, "this much enjoyed water sport is not as easy as it looks."

Andy Karafa and Joseph Nemeth left for Canada in August to visit their relatives. The two boys had some trouble at the border where they were severely questioned and required to show proof of U.S.A. citizenship. The border guards had been told to stop all youths between the ages of 15-21 because of recent draft dodging incidents.

Linda Cronk traveled West this summer with her family. Linda said, "Our first stop was at the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Certainly everyone has heard of the Grand Canyon, but no matter how immense or beautiful someone tells you it is, you have to see it to believe it. You can't believe the thrill it gives you when you take your first look, it's breath taking."

Rick Varga went out West on a camping trip to Colorado. Rick reports that the Rocky Mountains are so huge they seem unbelievable. In Yellowstone National Park, he saw the geyser "Old Faithful".

Jim Bargarus drove with his family to Washington, D.C. to visit his uncle and aunt. Jim said the monuments, the White House, and the Capitol are unbelievable structures because they are so beautiful.

Tom Nowak went with a group of Explorer Scouts on a canoe trip for one week down the Pine river. The group started on August 7 and headed for the Manistee National forest which was about 70 miles away.

Tom reports that the river is very fast moving and contains many rapids. There were three canoe tip overs, but everyone was able to dry his clothes and sleeping bag when the group reached its destination. "We had good meals every day, and this is one of the best trips I've been on," Tom said.

Luci Cass spent three days at the Indiana State Fair. She went with four other girls who had been saving their money for the past six months to make the trip. While attending the fair, the girls saw all the entries and went on almost every ride.

Beckie Rice attended the Living Waters youth camp from Sept. 1 to Sept. 5. The main speaker was a minister home on furlough from

DEAR ORVILLE

Dear Fans and/or Readers:

To all of the incoming freshmen, my name is "Dear Orville," and I dispense advice and information. To be the receiver of the knowledge I joyously bestow, just scribble out a friendly little note and slide it under the door of room 216.

My first message of the year is that here we are again. We are eager and ready to experience a new school year. I am sure that you all have been counting the weeks, days, hours, minutes, and seconds for the school to throw open its welcoming doors.

I know you just suffered through all of those horrible dances, beach parties, picnics, softball games, sun baths, and fairs. Now that drudgery is over; SCHOOL IS HERE AT LAST!

Just think of all the marvelous things which are planned for us, starting now to continue for the next nine months (May 29, you Seniors). There will be time spent reading books, writing themes, declining infinitives, reciting in class, performing experiments, taking tests, flunking pop quizzes, and most of all doing homework. Ah, fans and/or readers, what would we do without the spice of life (homework) to sustain us.

Now, it is time for my personal plea to all of Riley's teachers. If you want to make your students contented and forever grateful, present them with lots and lots of homework. In the event of insufficient homework, we shall go on strike!

Unreservedly yours,
Orville

up at the Matterhorn and down at a gigantic glacier. Le Chateau du Chillion, scene of Lord Byron's famous poem, was the scene of our next excursion. We learned to ski on the Diableret glacier and saw candy being made at a Nestle's factory.

Our greatest experience was viewing the celebration of Swiss Independence day on Aug. 1. There were splendid fireworks, and in the village there were yodlers and an alphorn player. One evening we had cheese fondue high in the mountains. This dish is a mixture of cheese and wine and is eaten with a piece of bread on a fork which is dipped into the fondue.

While in Geneva, we had a chance to go swimming in Lake Geneva. Other sporting facilities included: horse back riding, miniature golf, tennis and hiking. There were two ski lifts in Leysin, but the chair lift was the most exciting. Once we had a picnic in the mountains, and the view was simply fabulous. Our last week in Switzerland we were lodged at a hotel run by nuns.

We spent three days in Rome, the Eternal City. We had a night tour of Rome the first day we were there, and several of our coins made it into Trevi Fountain. The following evening we attended the Italian Opera "Aida" which was given in an open theater in the old part of the city. On Sunday we went to the Pope's summer residence and received his blessing from the window. Other places we visited in Rome included the forum, the coliseum, the parthenon, St. Peter's Basilica, and the Sistine Chapel.

The night before we left, we had graduation ceremonies and received our report cards. Farewell speeches were given, and at 2:30 A.M. on Aug. 9, we left for Geneva to return to the United States.

"The board walks are a riot. It's like a huge fair that lasts all summer long. It was fun to watch the surfers, too."

Tom Lykowski, junior, went to Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, last month to visit his brother Jim who is taking his basic training there for the U.S. Army.

Bonnie Hostetler, junior, went out West to Nebraska this summer to take part in a quiz contest sponsored by a church group. Bonnie was second quizzier on her team which won the state trophy. Bonnie's first quiz was against Canadian Northwest.

Linda Coder attended the State Fair August 27 in Indianapolis. Linda said, "It has always been my dream to go there because I have heard people praise the fair and tell how huge it is. I found out how huge it is because after spending the time from 9:30 a.m. until 9:30 p.m. at the fair, we had only had time to see a part of it."

Pam Stobaugh spent a busy summer traveling to California, Arizona and Michigan. In California Pam saw the Hippies on Sunset Strip standing on the corners or eating in the sidewalk cafes. What Pam enjoyed most was swimming in the Pacific Ocean and surfing on a rubber raft.

MARY LOU LIKES FRANCE

By Mary Lou Johnston

This summer I spent nine of the most rewarding and exciting weeks of my life. These nine weeks were spent with thirty other students from all over Indiana in St. Brieuc, France.

St. Brieuc is a town in Brittany of about fifty thousand people. It is right on the channel so the people receive the benefits of all the delicious seafood. The town is both old and modern. Two of the best known buildings are the remains of the ancient Tower of Cesson and the modern, new nineteen story apartment building.

The cathedral is one of the few which was fortified to ward off attackers. The streets are typically French, narrow, cobblestoned, and lined with numerous pastry shops, butcher shops, and other small stores. St. Brieuc has only three "department" stores, and one even has a "super marker", an idea borrowed from the Americans.

The outdoor market was one of the most fascinating aspects of the town. Each Saturday the people would set out their products. Fruits, vegetables, and flowers were in the plaza across from the post office, and cheese, meat, crepes, pastry, clothes, souvenirs, live ducks, chickens, and rabbits were by the cathedral. All of us enjoyed being jostled by the crowds who were fighting to get near the stalls.

For the program I stayed with a family for five weeks and at the school, with the other students, in dormitories for three weeks. My family was wonderful. There were five of us: my mother, my father, my sister Yveline, 15, my brother Jean-Pierre, 9, and myself. I enjoyed my family very much. Each Sunday we would pack a picnic lunch and they would show me some more of Brittany. Nearly every trip would take us to the sea, my favorite place to go. Although I only swam in the sea three times, I think I enjoyed it the most on our family excursions.

I also profited quite well from the food, especially my mother's cooking. Everything was delicious. I really enjoyed the seafood as I discovered crab, lobster, and mussels.

Living with a family gave me an experience that I wish everyone

Lori Simpson spent one day a week this summer serving in a unique service program sponsored by the Christian Service Center of South Bend. Lori helped to take 15 to 20 underprivileged children on day-long trips to the country for a picnic, stories, fun, and games. The purpose of the trips was to acquaint the children with urban and farm life and to give the children, some of whom had never been to a farm, a chance to see different surroundings. Lori, along with two other volunteers, served as a counselor for the group and prepared games.

Angela Chapman traveled with her family through Canada this summer. Angela discovered that many people there speak French, and she said, "It is something to try to communicate with them when you know very little about French. The surroundings are beautiful; the country is so green, and it is all-could have who goes abroad. That is the best way to get to know and to understand the people of another country.

Of course, this summer wasn't all fun and traveling. Each day we went to school for five hours: three in the morning and two in the afternoon. We studied grammar, phonetics, and conversation in the morning. After a two hour lunch break, we returned to classes for songs, games, plays (written by us), or conferences.

We also made special trips as a group. Our July 4th was spent visiting the Normandy beaches, Ste. Mere Eglise, and the German and American cemeteries. On another trip we experienced a folk festival with costumes, bagpipes, parades, and folk dancing.

We were allowed to speak no English for the entire nine weeks; this was difficult at first, but in the end we gained a great deal. It's a thrilling experience to return to the United States and one's family and to have difficulty speaking English.

The trip was a wonderful experience and as the twenty-nine other students are probably saying right now, with me, "I wish I could return next summer".

ways kept very clean."

Judy Ginter, junior, is one of the cheerleaders on the varsity cheer squad. To help out this year's cheering, Judy attended Camp All American for cheerleaders from June 22 to 26. The camp is located near Lansing, Mich. Judy reports that new ideas, cheers, and other helpful hints were given to those present by college cheerleaders who were on the camp's staff.

Claudia Gray and her family visited Expo 67 this summer. They camped the first night in a lovely park in London, Ontario. The only thing that was wrong was that the temperature dropped to 30 degrees and it was necessary for the family to get in the car to get warm. They spent two days touring the fair.

RILEY HOSTS A. F. S. ers

The week-end of July 7-8-9 was quite an exciting one for a number of Riley students and their families. A busload of A.F.S. students arrived that Friday afternoon, and the young foreign ambassadors made their homes with the Riley students during their stay in South Bend. The A.F.S. students had just completed a year of studies in California and were touring the country before returning to their homes.

The evening the students arrived they spent with the family they had been assigned to stay with. They got to know their host family as well as could be expected in such a short time, and in some instances the families had some activities planned.

Saturday morning, the A.F.S. students and their host families were given a guided tour of the Notre Dame Campus. The afternoon was then free, with the whole group gathering again at Riley for a splash party and supper. The supper was followed by a program put on by the A.F.S.'ers, a combination of their many and varied talents. Many spots on the globe were represented by the students: United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, Finland, Ivory Coast, Republic of South Africa, Ethiopia, New Zealand, Argentina, Brazil and Peru to name a few.

ROCK 'N ROLL BEAT FELT

By John Gergacz

September is here again as the three shortest months of the year draw to a close. The doors of Riley reopen to the dismay of approximately 1700 students and 100 faculty members.

This year the Riley music scene looks the most promising since the days of the old Teen Tones and Phantom Five. Although Riley has always been known for the quality musical talent it produces, the Riley bands always seem to lack an unknown quality which would make them appealing to the masses. For example: Riley grad Stu Monsuma, drummer, tried many different groups before settling with that city-wide conglomeration of exceptional musical talent called the MRQ. Also Riley grads Rick Medich and Ted Poulos entered a ND group called the Shaggs. During the summer they played in Chicago at a concert with the Dave Clark 5 and cut Wink, an album of standard rock tunes and a few Medich-Poulos originals.

But this year looks different. The scores of Riley bands which began during the previous school year and before have gained valuable experience and many of them have advanced past the days of rushed practices and few songs to a level of musical finesse and appealing excitement. The groups have gained a summer packed with fun and style. Most of them have gained a sound which is uniquely theirs and which is their trademark. The "in" thing now for rock bands is to do nearly all the material findable by a single big name group--Young Rascals, Hollies, etc. Some groups do this well; others do not.

We believe that these groups, The Lord Chamberlains, The Mass Confusion, The Intruders, and even the Lads, may be heard and talked about in the same tone of voice which is used to describe the top area groups such as The MRQ, the Shaggs, and the Cambridge Five. Each of these groups has developed greatly during the summer although some lack basic talent and drive.

Of course, many things contribute to the success or failure of a group. To us these groups have some of the virtues of a successful band, but only the members of the band know how they stand.

BAND SCORES HIGH AT RIVERVIEW FESTIVAL

The Riley Band received a 97.7 score at the Riverview Festival on September 4. Riley has competed in this contest previously, but this is the highest score the band has ever received. The band was graded in nine divisions: tone, intonation, technique, precision, interpretation, general effect, alignment, discipline, and appearance. Mr. Habbager believed that a great deal of the credit should go to the drum majors: Mike Bennet and Mike McCord.

Band officers for the 1967-1968 school year are: president, Mark Arsenault; vice-president, Sandy Stauffer; secretary, Mike Bennet; treasurer, Mike McCord.

MIAMI ST. PARADE OPENS RILEY FOOTBALL SEASON

The tenth annual Riley Football Parade took place on Miami Street and other Southside roadways on Wednesday, September 6. Those responsible for it were the Miami Street Merchants and the Riley Student Booster Club.

Honored guests were Mayor Lloyd M. Allen, Dr. Charles Holt, Mr. John Frick, Mr. Ray Dobbs, Parade Marshall, and Mr. Roy Burch, president of the Miami Street Merchants. Riley's tremendous coaching staff, its Top-Cat football team, and its enthusiastic cheerleaders were also recognized by special cars and floats.

Riley organizations participating were the Student Council led by Bill Wilson and Vickie Hendricks, the Girls' Athletic Association under the direction of Sharon Toth, the Booster Club directed by Mark Allen, and the Language Clubs headed by Jan Hildebrand, Judy Brown, Judy Earhart and Krista Kottowski. The Band also put in its first local appearance of the school year since its rewarding trip to Riverview.

Miami businesses supporting floats in the parade were Crown Studios, Lehman's Pharmacy, Miami Bakery, Roy's Barber Shop, Hertel's Restaurant, Barany Hardware and Gift Shop, Frame Plumbing and Heating, Frick Electric, Miami Florist, Brant's Ben Franklin Store, and the Shell and Citgo Service Stations.

Publicity for the stores was handled by Fran Reaves and Sue Boyce. Other students helping with the parade were Debbie Bucher, Dawn Dawson, Judy Ginter, Kathy Gruelich, and Helen Little.

CAVEMEN TO TEST WILDCAT FURY

WHITE SOX CAMP GIVES THRILLS TO PARSONS

By Pete Lakatos

Welcome freshmen; to set you straight, you're not in just any average high school. You are now a member of Riley High, the city's finest, and you have been given rights and privileges: the right to go to a football game and be certain to go home a winner, to bask in the sunshine of victory while the opponents of the Wildcats shiver in the shadow of defeat, and most of all proudly to announce, "We're number one," and not be bragging, just repeating what you read in the papers.

As with all rights and privileges, you also are expected to do something. First support the athletic program by being a member of the Riley Booster Club, which allows reductions in the cost of various athletic tickets. Then back up the teams by attending all the Riley sports; football, basketball, baseball, swimming, wrestling, cross-country, track, golf, tennis, and girls synchronettes. This, freshmen, is not as hard as it seems; all you have to do is to follow the good example given to you by the classes of '68, '69, and '70.

So now that we've straightened out the incoming freshmen, we must remind the sophomores, juniors and seniors of their responsibility to back the team and to show the freshmen and the other schools that we're #1 and we're proud of it.

TRADITION RUNNING HIGH AT RILEY

Riley's tradition of having the hardest hitting and running football team will be maintained this year. Summer practices were held for three weeks, and the B-team Wildcats feel ready for any opponent on their schedule. The opening game is against Michigan City.--Randy Bibler.

Gary Shafer who plays triple A ball for the White Sox at Indianapolis. Shafer was at the camp because he is required to rest following an arm operation.

LARGE SQUAD GIVES DEPTH TO RILEY TEAM

By Jim Ruth

Tonight our Riley Wildcats will try to take another game from sister city rival Mishawaka. Mishawaka, who started off with a loss to city rival Marian, will try to redeem themselves by defeating Riley, one of the powers of the Northern Indiana Conference.

This is the second game for the 'Cats who opened against Central and the third for Mishawaka who led off against Marian. Let's give the team all our support and go to the game.

This year the varsity football team has had lots of experience. However, along with the experienced players come many sophomores and juniors. Many of the juniors also earned monograms and are on the starting line-up, but it's a young team. If we are young and experienced, it means that we are ready this year and also for the years to come.

Right now in this issue, we would like to salute all of the eight seniors. These boys have been out for three years of varsity ball. They are Kevin Powers, John Parsons, Jerry Crawley, Maurice Woods, Tom Uzelac, Rich Coffey, Hugh MacDonald and Bob Fuerbringer.

We would also like to salute the fine coaching staff here at Riley. They are head coach Jim Whitmer; Athletic Director Horvath, and Coaches Mondovich, Pieniazkiewicz, Mihail, and Connelly.
