HHS Program Challenges Students

Steadily growing in numbers, ideas, thoughts, and curricula, Haverford High School represents a thriving community of movement where each class faces its own distinct problems and challenges. The sophomore searches for the mysterious basement; the junior turns his attention and hopes towards graduation; and the senior, taking tests and filling out forms, wonders about coming years. But in the end, a new creature emerges, one whose eyes face the future, one who has greatly matured in this community within a community. As a biography, GREYSTONES '65 portrays three invaluable years of learning and studying in the lifelong quest for knowledge and understanding.

Clad in garb of Roman citizens, Junior Classical Leaguers Rob Klugman, Debbie Assel, Mary Sturdivant and Jeff Carter chat in Latin-style garden at banquet.

ALMA MATER

Haverford High, thy praise we'll ever sing,
Long shall thy fame in florid accents ring.
Pinioned in splendor may our banner soar,
Crimson and Gold triumphant evermore.

Soon, all too soon, our school-day joys are gone
Then, with the radiance of the breaking dawn,
Ascends our love in loyalty to thee,
And mem'ry holds us close eternally.

Students arise, shout now with wild acclaim,
Join in the song to Alma Mater's name.
Let not one foe among her ranks be known,
Fealty and love will ever bring us home.

As storm clouds darken at Upper Darby game, lively cheerleaders and loyal fans encourage team against traditional rivals.

Senior Play courtroom presents hectic scene—Lawyer Geoffrey Wells confers with witness Cynthia Marshall; Judy Wagner "cons" her father, Judge Larry Richard, for spending money; and defendant Jeff Carter pleads his case in vain.

Cooperation is the key word to describe the administration of Haverford High School. Working together, department heads plan programs of study which lead the student from the basic courses of junior high school to advanced science, foreign language, and mathematics courses. Administrators, School Board, and teachers plan a course of study which enables students to prepare for the future.

School Board Supervises Educational Plans

SCHOOL BOARD

Problems of finance and administration, of expansion for the township schools, and of educational policy are the primary concerns of the Haverford Township School Board. Nine elected residents of the township form the School Board, which, under the leadership of President Leo P. Moran, meets monthly with the school district administrators.

Responsibility for the solution to the problem of more students and less space falls to Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Paul R. Slater, who acts as a link between individual schools and the School Board. With over forty years of experience in education, Dr. Slater is eminently well-qualified for his exacting assignment of supervising the administrations of eight schools. Ray T. Mentzer, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, supervises the entire secondary school curriculum and maintains contacts with over fifty colleges in search for qualified educators. Assistant Superintendent Mark S. Rice writes specifications for both educational and non-educational projects. In addition, he coordinates bus transportation for students and special groups. John W. Walker, past principal of the Senior High (1953-1964) and present Assistant to the Superintendent, has conducted various surveys and studies for the School Board, including one on the foreign language program of the secondary schools.

Mr. Stinson Successfully Climaxes Career As 1964-65 Acting Principal

Former principal Oscar Granger, who retired in 1953, wishes Mr. Stinson success in his new position.

MR. STINSON

How, in a few lines, can one pay tribute to a man like William "Bill" Stinson, who has given 35 years of his life to Haverford High? With his broad interests and abilities, he has done much to bring Haverford to its present eminence.

For his former history students, European International Relations (EIR) symbolized a new way of thinking and of interpreting European diplomacy. On the field as well as in the classroom, he made that old saying "We're building character" vivid truth for his football and track teams.

So, "So long, Bill"; may you enjoy a long and happy retirement, remembering those hearty laughs in the teachers' lounge and realizing that you will long live in your students' memories as well.

Counselors Guide Students To Successful Futures

Knowing the importance of planning for the future, students make the Guidance Department one of the busiest places in the school. Under the supervision of Director of Guidance Walton B. Hill, counselors guide and direct students. Sophomores turn to Robert Guth and part-time counselor Laura Ulmer for advice in getting adjusted to a new academic environment and for interpretation and evaluation of test scores. In eleventh grade, part-time counselors William Breuninger, J. Fred Hughes, and Thelma Hodgson render aid as the student plans for his senior year and seeks advice on college or employment. Twelfth grade counselors, E. Steele Hauchens, George Leute, and Irene Neff assist students not only in making the important decisions of their senior year but also in arranging college and employment interviews.

Three Years of English Provide Strong Background

ENGLISH

With all the recent emphasis on "modern mathematics" and the "new science outlook," one must not forget the studies being taken in the school's English department. Under the direction of Miss Ott, department head, the entire school system is reorganizing and coordinating the English curriculum.

Upon entering the high school, one is first whisked through a review of grammar principles, which continues throughout the three years of high school. Sophomores devote the year to a study of the rich lore of international literature as students read selections of the world's greatest authors, from Aristophanes to Chekhov. In the junior year, Moliere and Barrie yield to Twain and Sandburg as concentration shifts to American writers. The short story receives prime consideration, and much emphasis is also placed on composition.

Seniors leave the American scene and delve into the works of the finest British authors. They examine English literature since Beowulf and read from Shakespeare, Milton and the Romantics. The graduating class is thereby prepared with an extensive background in the structure and literature of the English language for use in the outside world or in further study.

HISTORY

History is more than a mere study of the past; it is a guidepost to the future. Haverford's history courses clearly mark that road to the future.

World Cultures, required of sophomores, delves into political, cultural, and economic aspects of the world's major countries. This year the department is experimenting with large group instruction, which offers a greater challenge to the teacher's ability than the usual classroom instruction.

While sophomores study foreign cultures, juniors advance their knowledge of American history and government. Juniors may also take World Geography to enlarge their knowledge of the world.

For seniors, Latin American History and Far East History probe the problems and conflicts of Latin America and the Orient. European History emphasizes modern Europe, while Problems of Democracy evaluates current events. The Advanced Senior Seminar class sponsored a school-wide national election to gain better understanding of politics during the 1964 Presidential elections. In these ways, the History Department plays an important part in helping students appreciate the world that was, is, and will be.

Students Explore Intricate World of Numbers

MATHEMATICS

Did you ever lose an Arc tangent in a tetrahedron while trying to find $f(x)$? Although this problem is highly improbable, it does illustrate the diversity of Haverford's math courses. Each course presents a challenge to the student-finding the "why's" as well as the "how's" of mathematics. New math books published by Houghton-Mifflin effectively set this challenge before students.

College bound students begin their study of math with Algebra I and geometry. They next have a choice of Intermediate Math, Algebra II, and Matrix Algebra. Accelerated seniors may advance to math analysis or calculus and analytic geometry. Math I, II, and III provide business-oriented students with basic knowledge of commercial calculations. Those interested in nursing or medical technology can take technical math.

Whatever the student's interest in math, there is a course that will provide him with practical and theoretical experience. Because comprehensive study is geared to the student's capability, the student leaves Haverford with a sound background in mathematics.

SCIENCE

Building upon a mathematical foundation, the three major sciences — biology, chemistry, and physics — challenge students to find the "how" and "why" of natural phenomena. A bullfrog's croak, the hiss of a chemical reaction, and the hum of a transformer testify to the diversity of experiments being done.

The department offers a wide variety of physical and natural science courses. First-year biology courses introduce important concepts of anatomy, biology, and zoology while Biology II laboratory work delves more deeply into life's mysteries. Chemistry I surveys elements, compounds, and chemical reactions; the second-year course explores these topics in greater detail. Physics, likewise a two-year sequence, covers fact and theory on topics of classical physics: energy, matter, and mechanics with theory and mathematics receiving greater stress in the second-year course, which utilizes college texts. Physical science, now in its second year at Haverford, teaches essentials of physics and chemistry with a non-mathematical approach.

Such a strong background in the natural and physical sciences enables Haverford students to pursue more specialized fields in later studies.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

"Achtung! Parlez-vous français, monsieur?" "Si señor, pax vobiscum." Although this potpourri is not typical of any single foreign-language course, it is a good sample of what one may hear along the corridor of HHS's foreign language section. Four languages, both spoken and written, widen cultural horizons and help students prepare for possible business contacts, world travel, or reading.

This year, A-L-M (Audio-Lingual Method) teaching, which emphasizes verbal comprehension and better usage of the language, has complimented conventional methods of teaching French and Spanish.

As Romance language departments diversify their teaching techniques, the German department concentrates upon meeting needs of increased enrolment. Now offering freshman German, the department hopes to expand to a four-year program similar to that offered in other language departments in the near future.

Classicists, after studying myths and legends in second-year Latin, delve into Cicero's Orations Against Cataline, Vergil's Aeneid, and Ovid's Metamorphoses, thereby both enriching their vocabulary and gaining an excellent foundation for modern Romance language study.

BUSINESS

Secretarial aspirants busily transcribe Gregg squiggles into recognizable English while executive hopefuls review their investment portfolios. With such typical scenes, the Business Education Department strives to teach the skills necessary for advancement in the business world.

For future secretaries, courses in typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping are essential. A course in office practice gives students an opportunity to practice their skills under conditions similar to those found in a regular office. Business law advances the student's knowledge of his legal rights, General Clerical course delves into the operation of common office machines, and Merchandising and Consumer Education teach the intricacies of buying and selling, affording students an excellent opportunity to prepare for a sales career. With the diversity of courses offered, career-bound students receive excellent preparation for service to their communities.

PRACTICAL ARTS

Emphasizing manual skills, the courses offered by the Practical Arts Department help students to prepare not only for employment after graduation but also for future adult responsibilities. First year Home Economics students concoct a multitude of dishes, including many suited to a gourmet's taste. They also receive instruction in diet planning, budgeting and shopping. Second year Home Economics students study child care and interior decorating.

Industrial Arts aids mechanically skilled boys in learning the proper use of machine shop and carpentry equipment. With this knowledge they create a large assortment of items ranging from gun racks to chisels.

In the photography course, shutterbugs learn how to improvise darkrooms and how to develop, enlarge, and print pictures. For aspiring nurses, the Future Nurses of America, sponsored by the infirmary, provides a deeper insight into opportunities for service in the medical profession.

FINE ARTS

Brilliance of sound, blend of voices, variety of books, and talent of art unite splendidly to form the Fine Arts Department. Each of its four sections offers an exceptional experience to interested participants.

The band finds room 107 the perfect place for practicing its strident marches and graceful ballets. In sharp contrast the softer tones of strings come from the room at other times as the orchestra's musicians practice contemporary music and classic symphonies. Songs ranging from solemn to gay comprise the A Cappella Choir repertoire.

At the end of school and during study halls, the library makes available its 10,000 books and references to inquiring scholars or avid readers.

Art Department provides young creators with a wide range of instruction and facilities. Painting, sculpture, and other media challenge the student to express himself under the guidance of faculty members.

With these facilities, the Fine Arts Department has planned a program that confronts its students with fresh and exciting materials.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

"Oh no, only two minutes left!" This echoes through the locker rooms at the end of every gym class. During these classes, young Atlases develop skills in touch football, soccer, basketball, wrestling, volleyball, apparatus, softball, speedball, tumbling, and track and field. Most boys will never forget the grueling physical fitness tests they labor through twice a year. Fordettes participate in strenuous outdoor games of hockey, soccer, and softball when weather permits. In the winter months, girls concentrate on developing the agility and control needed for dancing, apparatus, and mat work.

All sophomores and seniors take required health courses. In the sophomore course, students discuss family living and dating and learn the fundamentals of first aid. To all students who pass this course, the Red Cross gives special recognition. Seniors receive instruction in social problems in preparation for adult life, both in college and later in marriage.

MAINTENANCE

Students toil from sun to sun, but custodial work is never done. Custodians are forever striving to preserve the sparkling appearance of the school.

Custodial staff, under the management of Mr. William Patton, performs a variety of jobs, ranging from maintenance of heating and lighting systems to cleaning up after lab mishaps. Cleaning the girls' locker room and the offices constitutes the duties of two matrons, Mrs. Anna Hargy and Mary Mullarkey. In addition, four custodians double as bus drivers.

Ordering and preparing lunches for an army of over two thousand students and personnel is a job that might perplex the most efficient chef. For the staff of seventeen women and one man, headed by Mrs. Mary Nicom, this challenge is "all in a day's work."

Obviously, school would be a much less comfortable place were it not for the constant efforts of the maintenance staff.

Non-Professional Staff Provides Services Necessary For Maintaining Efficient School Community

For many of Haverford's students, the bell at 2:10 signifies not the end, but rather the mid-point of the school day. At this time they head for one or more of the multitude of available extracurricular activities. In addition to relaxing and enjoying constructive activities, students gain valuable experience in the operation of clubs, teams, publications, and musical groups. Through these organizations, they learn to work and play harmoniously with others in the school community.

goal of this year's Student Council, under the guidance of Miss Bernice Gilmore, was to develop the knowledge of democratic procedure and to serve as a representative organization for the student body.

The Talent Show, by far Council's foremost activity, provided funds for three scholarships awarded annually by the Stu-

For 22 juniors and 72 seniors, the morning of April 6, 1965 will remain a memorable one for years to come. At that time, the faculty bestowed upon the deserving 99 membership in the National Honor Society, one of the highest honors the school can bestow.

President Rob Klugman opened the assembly with a brief history of the society, whose Haverford chapter was founded in 1925. Other members spoke on scholarship, leadership, character, and service—the four prerequisites of potential members. The list of inductees included slightly less than 5% of the junior class and 15% of the senior class, selected from the top fifth and top third of their respective classes.

Mr. George Montgomery, former principal of West Philadelphia High School, provided the climax of the assembly with his challenging speech. Using humorous quotes, allusions, and anecdotes, he outlined the basic qualities youth should strive for and challenged the Class of 1965 to put them into practice.

The members of the society, sponsored by Mrs. Ball and Mr. Sacchetti, gave a reception for new members and their parents in the library. At Christmastime, NHS invited past members to a tea in the library to help keep old ties with alumni.

Greystones Captures Many Memories

Advisor "Doc" Harter describes proper cropping techniques to Editor-in-Chief Harriet Givens.

In no part of the school did the year pass by more rapidly than in the GREYSTONES' isolated third-floor office. Editors, staff, and typists labored for over a year until at last graduation brought GREYSTONES 1965. Spurred on by the 1964 GREYSTONES' Medalist rating from the Columbia Press, the staff spent countless hours gathering information from the administration, academic departments, sports teams, and activities, writing copy on it; and checking over and choosing appropriate photographs as deadlines constantly loomed in the future.

Of the people who made this school biography possible, no one deserves more thanks than Mr. Gerald C. Harter and Mrs. Barbara S. Markowitz. "Doc" spent innumerable hours taking and developing photographs, helping with layouts, and supervising the general production of the book. Mrs. Markowitz, working with the literary staff, also checked copy and offered many helpful suggestions.

Recreating the hustle and bustle of a great metropolitan daily journal, Haverford's FORDIAN editors read proofs, plan layouts, and supervise production of the paper after school hours, sometimes extending their activities far into the night. Under sponsor John J. Fahey and Editor-in-Chief Betty Frick, staff members produced a paper of award-winning quality. The Columbia School Press Association awarded THE FORDIAN the Coveted Medalist rating.

The staff scored a first this year, publishing their first issue the second day of school, earliest issue in newspaper's history. Along with features and editorial comment, issues carried school news, Club news, sports events, and administration comments. Recent alumni kept students informed of college life on many campuses through the new "Corresponding Collegians" column. In a lighter and more whimsical vein, editors published THE FROGGIAN, a gag issue for the Senior Play. This "scandal sheet" spoofed and satirized school life while explaining the theme of the play.

Bob Freed, Jane Stanton, and Paul Wright criticize their latest issue.

Future Robert Frosts and Ernest Hemingways find an appropriate outlet for their creative energies in PEN & INK, Haverford's biannual literary magazine. Sponsored by Mr. Robert Shissler and under the leadership of Editor-in-Chief Sue Boymel, the magazine retained and refined last year's improved format. Editors and literary staff members spent long hours writing and re-writing stories and poems while the art staff designed fitting illustrations, and the typing staff typed all copy.

The Pennsylvania School Press Association, in its recognition of superior high school periodicals, awarded the magazine the only Keystone award bestowed in its field. PEN & INK staff set a new record for Haverford as its individual stories merited five additional keystones. To help maintain the record, PEN & INK renewed the short-story contest instituted two years ago.

Concerts Feature Modern Composers

This year, the 102 philharmonists displayed their talents on contemporary American music, including selections from the shows Victory at Sea and My Fair Lady. Programs also featured classical music including Tchaikovsky's familiar Andante Cantabile. Music of Corelli, Bach, and modern composers provided a challenge for string Orchestra. A smaller chamber orchestra offered additional opportunities to play demanding compositions.

Sixteen orchestra members earned positions in the District Orchestra, Greater Philadelphia area. Of these, six—Jerry Goodman, Maureen Hodgson, Phil Tackett, Larry Teare, Joan White, and Debbie Carter—made the State Orchestra. Jerry Goodman, senior concertmaster and orchestra president, became concertmaster of the State Orchestra as well, a notable "first" for Haverford.

In addition to the traditional Christmas assembly and Spring Concert, the Orchestra performed for each of the three classes and concluded the year with memorable performances at Milton, Pa.

Ensemble girls practice lively song-and-dance routine.

A Cappella Choir, the Madrigales, and the Havertones not only kept music in the air at Haverford this year but also staged a number of performances outside the school. Long hours of practice under the direction of Mr. Paul L. Fink culminated in several special appearances. In December, Choir appeared before an audience of 800 at the Union League in Philadelphia; the Madrigales matched this show with a performance at the Shriners' Club in February. Substituting during the prolonged illness of Mr. Fink, Mr. Clem Smith of the junior high school worked intensively with the choir for one week before presenting an excellent program which included To Thee We Sing, My Shepherd Will Supply My Needs, Blessing, Glory, Wisdom, and Thanks, and two numbers by the Madrigales.

With fanfare and precision marching, the 105 Crimson and Gold bandmen aroused spirit and excitement at football games during the fall.

Meriting distinction as a concert band, it sent five members to the Southeastern District Band Festival April 1-3; in addition, Edith Campbell earned the solo flute position in All-Eastern High School Band.

Mr. John Trainer led the band in compositions ranging from the rich tones of Wagner's Trauersinfonie to spine-tingling jazz from Dixieland and bright, breezy melodies from Mary Poppins.

Away from home the band performed at Cinnaminson, Merchantville, and Upper Darby High Schools. Later, through a concert of Sousa marches, the band raised $225 for construction of the District of Columbia Memorial.

Climaxing the year was the Spring Concert, May 7. Highlighted selections included The Sinfonias, Pageantry, and New World Symphony.

MAJORETTES AND COLOR GUARD

Spirited Majorettes, twirling batons on high, set the pace for the band and sparked enthusiasm during half-time ceremonies. Captain Donna Masters, assisted by Mary Burg, Edie Parker, and Jane Richards, displayed the intricacies of baton routines.

Executing a Queen Anne's salute, Haverford's Color Guard preceded the band at every football game and parade. Guards John Gain, Joe Coughlin, and Regina Mattson performed drills devised by Captain Alan Okon and Co-captain Emilie Miller.

Majorette captain Donna Masters salutes during half-time.

Haverford, Darby-Colwyn, and Radnor teams match wits in final contest before playoff. Scoring highest in the three final contests Haverford won the grand prize of $1,000 for the school's use.

Hi-Q Outscores Neighboring Schools, 'It's Academic' Makes TV Debut

Coch Bennett gives Varsity Hi-Q team last minute instructions.

After winning semi-finalist status, It's Academic team Bob Purvis, Captain Sue Boymel, and Halton Beumer pose with WRCV's Bob Bradley.

Although the "$64,000 Question" is gone, Haverford found ample opportunity to match wits with 20 other Delaware County schools in Scott's Hi-Q, now in its seventeenth year.

The Fords—Captain Sue Boymel, Rob Klugman, Bob Purvis, Lucy Tinkcom, and Halton Beumer, achieved the year's high score by trouncing Chichester and Clifton Heights, 40-23-22. Later, HHS defeated four other schools by scores of 29 and 37 to accumulate 106 points, a higher total than that of any other school.

Three Hi-Q members represented Haverford in another contest, WRCV-TV's program, It's Academic. Finally defeated by Conestoga in the semi-finals, HHS won two sets of Encyclopedia Britannica's Great Books of the Western World, which were presented to township schools.

Mr. Bennett and Hi-Q teams enjoy ice cream party and reception after meet.

WHHS, Spanish and German Clubs Encourage Communications

Alan Morrison emcees an afternoon of music.

From 2:30 to 5:00 P.M. every school day, a section of Haverford High School plunges into silence as signs reading "Quiet Please, On the Air" flash at the studios of WHHS. The station, at 89.3 on the FM dial, broadcasts music, news, plays, and educational programs as well as football and basketball games. This year, the installation of a new master control center, providing more and better broadcast flexibility, greatly increased program quality. Operating both for the enjoyment of the students and residents of Haverford Township and for the instruction of students in broadcasting techniques, WHHS, under the sponsorship of Mr. Charles Shaffert, remains the only radio station in the state operated by high school students.

"Willkommen zum Deutsch Verein!"

This greeting welcomed members of Der Deutsche Verein, 1964-1965. Led by President Jim Womer, the club this year featured original skits by some of the one hundred and ten members. Students also enjoyed slides and films of scenic spots in Germany and Austria. Special trips to see German movies and Der Weihnachtsmann's (Santa's) visit to the Christmas Party provided excitement and with the traditional spring smorgasbord headed the list of annual events enjoyed by all members of the club.

"Good neighbors," or, as Spanish Club members call themselves, Los Buenos Vecinos, have been more active this year than in the past two. Appropriating two hundred dollars through CARE for farm machinery and school equipment for South America, President Mark Young and the club, sponsored by Mr. Salvatore, endeavored to live up to the club's name.

Earlier in the year, guest speakers, using audio-visual aids, entertained and informed club members about Spanish life and customs. Still earlier, Spanish Club had been entertained by Spanish-American music and dances at their Christmas party.

Spanish Executive Committee members June Vandegrift, Gail Marucci, Jim Faust, Herb Sochs, Larry Drake, and Sponsor Mr. Salvatore listen to President Mark Young's suggestions for next club meeting.

Dressed in home-made togas, JCL'ers sample banquet delicacies.

Harriet Givens and Sue Boymel translate passages from Aeneid for interpreters Jeff Carter and Rob Klugman, who predict Paul Shechtman's fortune.

Junior Classical League, under the aegis of Jupiter and sponsorship of Miss Bernice Gilmore, continued this year to celebrate the glories of ancient Rome. Following consul Roy Jacobs, Romans celebrated Saturnalia in classic fashion and assembled Christmas baskets for several needy families in the township. In the spirit of the ancient Roman patricians, Socii enjoyed their fourth annual banquet complete with Roman slaves and delicacies. Club drama enthusiasts presented Euripides' Medea at the February conclave. A picnic at the "ancient battlefields" of Valley Forge brought the year to a close. On a state and national basis, the club sent representatives to the state JCL convention in May and the national JCL convention in both August 1964 and 1965.

Dior and the Flea Market, Eiffel Tower and Champs Elysees—the romance of these names pervades places in HHS other than French classes. Le Cercle Francais, meeting monthly under the able leadership of President Jill Edelman, spent a fruitful year learning about France, its customs, and its people.

As part of an active program, les eleves, sponsored by Mrs. Swanson, staged a Halloween masquerade and a make-believe tour of Paris. Later, they heard a French exchange student from the University of Pennsylvania speak on everyday life in France and the French educational system; they also performed Alphonse Daudet's La Derniere Classe. The club paper, Le Journal, kept members well-informed on these events. Featuring French cuisine and entertainment, the annual banquet climaxed the year.

Margaret Garrett, Lisa Zankman, Elaine Franchi, Sharon Freeman, Louise Gaul, Janet Ward, Linda De Virgiliis, and Marge Colvin rehearse parts for French Club play.

With the hope of someday wearing their own white uniforms and caps, Future Nurses' Club members, working in the school infirmary under Mrs. Yerger, prepare for the realization of their dreams. In addition to this practical experience, President Judy Eister led Future Nurses Club members in collecting jewelry for Haverford State Hospital and in giving a party for patients of Marple Convalescent Home. Two guest speakers lectured on careers of visiting nurse and army nurse. Money raised during the year went into a nursing scholarship fund for a deserving senior girl.

Career Interests

Geiger counters clicked continually while new compounds brewed in test tubes as Future Scientists of America, led by President Alan Prager, worked on individual projects. In addition, members experimented with radioisotopes and Si_3N_4 (tetra-sulfide tetranitride), a new compound synthesized during the 1964 summer science program. At their monthly meetings, aspiring scientists also heard guest speakers from the Philadelphia area on such topics as "Modern Rockets", "Polymers", "Radiation", and "Space Biology." FSA sponsored a spring assembly program and maintained a bulletin board on the third floor to inform students of the latest developments in science.

After school Judy Parris, Wicky Keating, and Sue Boymel assemble complex molecular models.

Vera Chopourian, Joanne Buchakjian, and Mrs. Eddy sample tempting buffet dishes prepared by members.

Cooking and Lectures Highlight FHA And FTA Year

Cooking, sewing, and other domestic arts provided ideas galore for projects and programs for Future Homemakers of America. Under the leadership of President Emilie Miller and sponsors Miss Melinger and Mrs. Eddy, the club enjoyed such social activities as a Christmas carol sing and a covered-dish supper. Among the outstanding projects of the year was a clothing drive for underprivileged children of Appalachia.

Future Teachers of America, under the leadership of President Joanne Rainey and sponsor Miss Weiser, concentrated on exploring the various levels of elementary and secondary education. The 175 members gave valuable aid to township elementary school teachers by assisting with bulletin boards and working with younger children as well as baby-sitting and marking and correcting homework papers and tests. Members also visited local elementary and secondary schools and heard speakers from educational institutions in the area.

First Carnation Day Makes GSC History.

Surrounded by flowers, June Vandegrift, Bev McLeod, Jane Martindale, Steffi Lusak, Joan Breiner, and Jan Schaffer arrange bouquets of carnations for delivery to homerooms.

Not snow, but red and white carnations, buried Haverford on St. Valentine's Day, 1965 as Girls Service Club, sponsored by Miss Hilbert, conducted its first carnation sale. Not only the sale, but also periodic "Goodie Days," when club members sell brownies and cookies, provide money to fill club coffers and finance charitable projects.

The club, led by President Phyllis Plotnick, began its year with a tea for girls newly arrived at HHS. Later, the girls entertained patients at Haverford Hospital and brought cheer to the Sleighton School for Girls. Sale of lilies provided crippled children with aid. GSC's activities even reached halfway around the world as its profits supported a South Vietnamese war orphan.

WWW Emphasizes Exchange Program

"Exchange" best describes the activities in World Wide Workshop. Guided by President Barbara Cram and sponsor Miss Ott, throughout the year members of the club exchange letters, cards, and scrapbooks with affiliated clubs at Joseph Lec-kie in England and Erica Schule in Germany. At the annual Christmas party, the highlight of the year, excitement ran high as members opened a giant barrel filled with gifts from Erica Schule.

Exchange of ideas is also an important part of World Wide Workshop. At monthly meetings, members learn about the customs of other countries by visiting museums, hearing guest speakers, and eating at foreign restaurants.

Hi-Y, Art and Library Clubs Support Community

Helping the community in various service projects is the main purpose of Hi-Y. This year, under the leadership of President Carl Everett, members raised money for charity by sale of mints and also gave Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to needy families in the township. Affiliated with the Main Line Y.M.C.A., Hi-Y conducted a Saturday afternoon basketball league and sponsored several dances, swimming parties, and the Varsity-Faculty basketball game, which netted $150 for the school's scholarship fund.

Hi-Y's activities this year extended far beyond the local area as the club donated $75 apiece to the Tuberculosis Fund of Delaware County, the Camp Sunshine fund, and CARE. Hi-Y's influence, like that of many other clubs, extended overseas and supported Y.M.C.A. activities in Ecuador.

At Hi-Y sponsored Varsity-Faculty basketball game, Joe Praetto, Kingman Davis, and Tom Horne collect tickets from Gail Marucci and Rick Ruf.

For many students, the 12,000 books, periodicals, and reference collections of the library offer a rich, but often bewildering, array of materials. Helping students to make effective use of library resources, Library Club members direct students' attention to pertinent books in various fields. They also assist in the normal routines of checking out books, reshelfing, and filing. This year, club interests extended overseas as members, inspired by President Lucy Tinkcom, collected money to buy books for the war-devastated library of Pierce College in Athens, Greece.

Learning to appreciate art as it is expressed in different media represents the main goal of Haverford's Art Club. Faculty members and other authorities presented slides, lectures, and demonstrations to the group. Led by President Stuart Goldman and advisor Maurice Chuse, members took part in various workshops. Club services to the school included such activities as making posters and presenting art exhibits. Field trips to museums and art colleges highlighted the year.

Carolyn Cupo, Leslie Seaman, Elaine Franchi, and Margie Ferry put library books back on shelves while Cathy Allen and Sue Staples catalogue new additions to library.

Mr. Schmuckler and Mr. Chuse demonstrate science in art to Art Club members Regina Mattson, Bob Carreon, Linda Jackson, Sandy Gulland, and Jack Wright.

Stage Crew assembles risers for Orchestra performance.

Waitresses Linda Babcock, Pam Gray, Pat McIntyre, and Meg Fisher set tables for sports banquet.

Behind the scenes in every auditorium program, Stage Crew plays an important, although inconspicuous, role. The crew, sponsored by Messrs. Ernest Heegard and Jules Samitz, controls the lighting and curtains on stage and paints and builds the scenery for the Senior Play, All School Show, and Junior Prom.

Banquets held in Haverford's cafeteria would be much less pleasant were it not for the cheerful service of the Banquet Waitresses' Club. Under the guidance of Mrs. Mary Nicom, head of the cafeteria, twenty-five junior and senior girls led by Linda Babcock, Gail Baker, and Betty Fabiani serve sports, Cub Scout, and School Board banquets.

From record players to tape recorders, from overhead projectors to movie screens, the Projector Club provides the school with the major portion of its audio-visual aids. Directing the club's activities, sponsor Mr. Warren Cachion and President Alan Okon, along with a competent staff of students, busy themselves daily with the task of ordering, maintaining, and distributing needed equipment.

Clad in stately crimson, the Assembly Ushers maintain order at the start of assemblies and dismiss students at the end of all auditorium programs. Of the twenty ushers, ten juniors were chosen this year; ten others are seniors serving a second year. Junior ushers have the honor of assisting at Commencement exercises and Baccalaureate in June.

Clubs Pursue Special Interests

FOLK MUSIC CLUB

Serving to encourage student interest in folk music, the Folk Music Club drew over 100 members in its first year. Under president Honey Loring and sponsor Mrs. Laura Ulmer, the club brought in outside speakers and performers to entertain and inform its members. Having gained a greater knowledge of the ethnic background of their music, Folk Music Club held a hootenanny Barn Dance and contributed entertainers to the Student Council Hootenanny.

CHESS CLUB

Every week battles are won or lost within Haverford's walls by well-planned frontal attacks, risky gambits, and stolid defenses. With interscholastic matches providing the strategists with a chance to exhibit skills, sponsor Mr. Arthur Valenti and club President Bruce Lester also keep members of the Chess Club busy "castling" and "checkmating" each other in a round robin tournament that culminates with the crowning of the high school chess champion in June.

GIRLS BOWLING CLUB

"Strike!" dread call of baseball, sounds a welcoming note for members of the Girls Bowling Club, sponsored by Mmes. Eddy and McClaskey, and Miss Tompkins. This year, over 300 girls took advantage of this opportunity to improve their bowling and enjoy the thrills of competition. Girls unfamiliar with bowling also were given an opportunity to learn the game.

Highlight of this year was a party and presentation of awards. Each girl received a trophy with her high score engraved; outstanding bowlers received special awards.

Folkalists Howard Sachs, Jo Ann Kingston, Margaret Garret and Cindy O'Hara, practice guitar chords.

Fordian Fellowship members discuss Christian values in a modern society.

Discussing the role of Christian ethics in today's world is one of the principal activities of Fordian Fellowship. Under the guidance of Mrs. Virginia Swanson, the club formed committees early in the year to prepare programs utilizing films, books, music, and portions of the Bible. At Christmas the club presented a musical dramatization of the Christmas story as recorded in the New Testament. The discussion of how an individual may serve as a witness to God proved to be a major topic which opposing factions eagerly debated. By providing a forum in which different viewpoints may be expressed, Fordian Fellowship endeavors to gain an increased understanding of Christianity and its place in a modern society.

Toward Self-Improvement

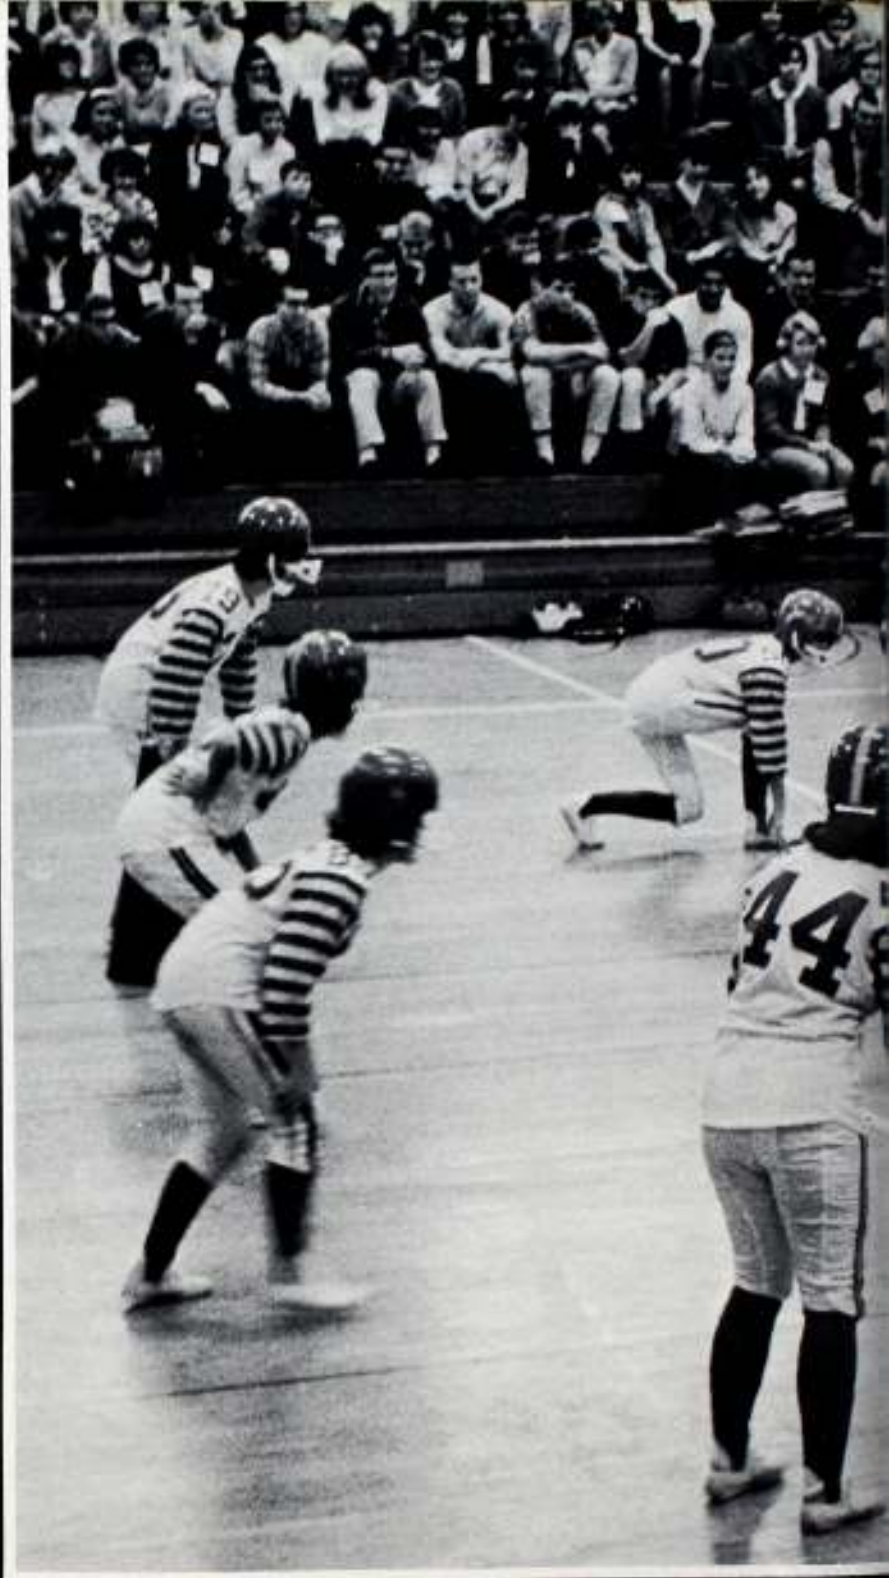

Secretarial Club welcomes girls who have had Typing II and advanced shorthand. Doing truly professional work, these girls mimeograph and type for faculty and clubs. Secretarial Club members gain valuable experience in office practice and perform valuable services for the school.

Debate Club, led by President Jim Flurer under the watchful eye of Mrs. Lund, pitted its abilities against the skills of other teams from all over the East. Matching wits and logic on the question "Resolved: Nuclear Weapons should be controlled by an international organization," debaters argued against the leading teams in the state. During the year, the Fords, competing in extemporaneous speaking, radio announcing, and dramatic reading, participated in the University of Pennsylvania's Liberty Bell Debating Tournaments, the District I Speech Tournaments, and the Temple University contest in April.

Helen Waples, Carol Davis, Sharyn Freilich, Lynn Albertini, and Debbie Sheller help teachers by typing and mimeographing classroom aids.

Soccer, football, or cross country in fall; wrestling, swimming, or basketball in winter; track, lacrosse, baseball, tennis, or golf in spring — competitively or intramurally — sports make up an integral part of Haverford life. Aiding not only physical development, but serving to strengthen character and inject an intense feeling of sportsmanship and spirit, athletics provide a sense of determination and accomplishment to every participant. The school depends much on its teams as a source of vigor and vitality.

Cheerleaders Spark Enthusiasm

Jan Schaffer winds up line cheer with energetic whoop.

Although the big "Fords" do not have tigers in their tanks, they do have cheerleaders to provide extra push at football and basketball games. Wildly jumping, yelling, and cheering, the twelve girls give vocal support in ample measure to the "warriors bold" in crimson and gold as they "fight for old Haverford." Sponsored by Miss Barbara Farrow and co-captained by Lynn Goodstein and Becky Truax, cheerleaders sponsored a party for the winning homeroom in the Thanksgiving Day Game homeroom pep contest and also sponsored pep rallies for home games to foster school spirit.

CROSS COUNTRY

Compiling a 10-0 record in dual meets, Haverford's best cross country team of recent years, coached by William Jackson, finished a season which brought it honors throughout the area. The Harriers won the Central Section Suburban League Championship, placed second in the Delaware County meet, and third in the PIAA District I Championship race. Another memorable highlight of the season for Coach Jackson was retention of the Miller-Strange Trophy with a shut-out victory over Upper Darby. Led by junior Bill Waters, who finished sixth in the state meet, and seniors Andy Collins, Terry Hershey, Bob Pattison, and Bob Purvis, the team later went on to place eighth in the Pennsylvania State Championship Meet at State College.

Displaying great depth, JV harriers also triumphed in every dual meet, winning four by shutout scores, and captured the central division Suburban League JV Championship title at Penncrest. Four returning lettermen and a reserve of JV talent will aid the team in its 1965 season.

SOCCER

Varsity soccer team, coached by Mr. Theodore Keyser, captured the Suburban I Southern Division Championship by attaining an undefeated record in league play. Carl Everett, Dan Glatthorn, and Rob Klugman tri-captained the booters as they posted the league's best defensive record for the second consecutive year. The squad finally met defeat as Neshaminy edged them 3-2 after overtime periods in District I playoffs.

Fords highlighted their season by overturning Ridley Township 3-1 and by routing arch-rival Upper Darby 2-0 to secure a point for Haverford toward the Cornog-Milne Trophy.

Center forward Dan Glatthorn, goalie Tim Milligan, and fullbacks John Echterling and John Kemp were selected for All-League honors. Dan Glatthorn was further honored by election to the All-Scholastic team and received the Weisgerber Award as most valuable player. Rich Frazier garnered votes for the Manoa Award, presented to the most improved player. Six junior letter-winners will lead next year's squad.

Jayvees, handicapped by inexperience, began poorly as they took a 4-0 drubbing from Kennett Square and a 2-0 defeat from Harriton. Eventually the Fords blanked Norristown 2-0 for their first win of the season. With stiff league competition, the jayvees eked out a total of 16 goals to their opponents' 24, displaying a final 4 win, 5 loss, and 2 tie record.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Although the varsity squad won only four of its nine games, the team provided the Fords with a thrilling 1964 season. Led by co-captains John Ward and Eddie Green, a nucleus of experienced seniors carried the Crimson and Gold to victory in the first three games of the year. Teamwork and spirit never faltered; these attributes reached a peak October 31, when the Haverford eleven clashed with top-rated Pennsbury. Fords fought hard and took an early lead after a spectacular 65-yard touchdown run by Kingman Davis. In the closing moments of the game, however, Pennsbury finally managed to defeat the Fords with a field goal.

Because of their outstanding performances, three members of the squad achieved positions on the All Suburban I team: Charles Zoll, end; John Ward, tackle; and Rick Taylor, quarterback. With ten returning lettermen, the Fords can look forward to a better record in 1965.

As the final quarter drew to a close, a perfect season became history for junior varsity grid stars. Jayvees defeated all of their opponents by shut-out scores. Coaches Stephen Juenger, Donald Dyke, and Sidney Young were instrumental in achieving these successes as the defensive team effectively contained its rivals.

In the fall opener, the Crimson and Gold thrashed Cheltenham, 26-0. After crushing Chester by a 22-0 tally, the grid-ders played their closest game, a 6-0 squeaker against Lower Merion. Likewise, Marple-Newtown, Norristown, and Abington fell. The jayvees closed out the season by defeating archfoe Upper Darby by a score of 14-0. Bill Lawrence, who led the JV's in TD's, scored the lone touchdown of the Lower Merion game.

This year, team spirit was greatly aided by working out with the varsity. If JV success reflects the prospects of next year's team, 1966 JV and varsity seasons should be very exciting to watch.

HOCKEY

For the first time in Haverford's history, fighting Fordettes smashed all opponents to finish with an 7-0-1 season record. Judy Keers, leading scorer, tallied six goals as Dale Donovan and Phyllis Plotnick scored five each. With Kim Thornhill leading the defense as fullback, Varsity rounded up a total of 21 goals to their opponents' 7.

Upper Darby and Swarthmore games presented the greatest challenges. At half-time, the Haverford-Upper Darby game was tied; but as the play started in the second half, Haverford knocked in four fast goals to defeat the Royals 5-1.

With both teams undefeated, the Swarthmore game was a crucial one. From the very start the game was a struggle with both teams vying for the ball; it reached a deadlock until Fordettes rallied again and edged in two decisive goals.

Miss Fritzson, Varsity coach, credited the winning season to a combination of "past experience and general ability." With nine returning letterwinners, Miss Fritzson looks forward to another winning season next Fall.

Coming from behind to defeat their Upper Darby rivals climaxed 1964's J.V. hockey season at HHS. Triumphs over Swarthmore and Delaware County Christian Day School further contributed to the 10-4-0 record. The fine efforts of Clarissa Pederson and Shirley Harner and the support of the varsity played major roles in achieving these victories.

BASKETBALL

For the second consecutive year, girls' varsity basketball team won every game. Coached by Miss Helen O'Connell, the team functioned as a unit under captain Jane Martindale to defeat all opponents for a 9-0-0 record.

With a well-balanced and fast-breaking offense, four girls averaged double figures for the season. Outstanding back-guard and best rebounder, Gail Baker, led the defense. The traditional game with Upper Darby proved the greatest test of the Fordettes. Behind at the beginning of the fourth quarter, the girls tied the score at 42-42. With 42 seconds left to play, Judy Keers led the girls to victory with four foul shots in the remaining seconds to win 46-42. The hard-working, spirited squad also showed great mettle in the Abington (36-28) and Harrilton (41-30) games—two other close contests.

The JV squad, coached by Miss Betsy Fritzson to a 7-2-0 record, showed much potential. Aided by J.V.'s and returning letterladies, the squad has hopes of repeating their good season next year.

Fords Rout Final Opponent

Varsity Basketball

With only three returning lettermen, Gary Stepler and captains Rick Taylor and John Ward, the Varsity basketball squad, coached by Mr. Stephen Juenger, realized early in the season that building a strong team would be an uphill fight. Although possessing power, the team lacked the speed and coordination which can only come through playing together. Six-foot-six Charles ("Butch") Burns, joining the team midway through the season, boosted both scores and morale and awed spectators by scoring twenty-five points in his first game.

Haverford's best showing, against Maple-Newtown, marked the high point of the season with scores of 60-36 and 58-34. The HHS quintet had their finest hour with League winner Chester. Leading by as much as eleven points, the hoopsters played an exciting game, only to lose by a heartbreaking four baskets at the end.

SWIMMING

Coached by Miss Emilie Pontius, the girls' swimming team completed another successful winter season. Practicing only twice a week presented a formidable handicap to the girls, yet they still were able to win six out of their ten meets. Captain Lynn Talley repeatedly exhibited perfect timing as she swam her specialty, the butterfly stroke. She, along with Olga Johansen, Lynn Frank, and Dale Donovan, participated in a medley quartet which won all but one race during the season.

Displaying the grace of a champion, sophomore Janice Walker emerged as the team's foremost diver. Against Norristown, her first place gave Haverford the one point it needed for victory. At the team's most notable meet, January 19, they drowned Harriton for the first time in over a decade.

Although the varsity squad will lose two graduating seniors, underclassmen Carolyn Familetti, Chris Kiefer, Lynn Cook, and others promise an even brighter season next year.

Rich Maxwell swims his way to record 100-yard backstroke.

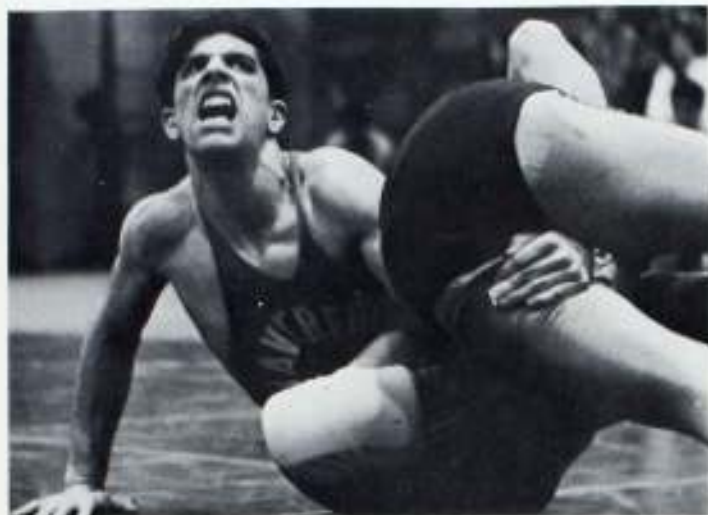

Brilliant individual performances and record-breaking times were the main features of the 1965 boys' swim team. Coached by Mr. Bert Lynch, the mermen, braving stiff competition and able to practice only three times a week at the Main Line "Y", posted a 4-6 record.

The best over-all performance of the squad was at Eddystone H.S., where the Fords demolished their opponents, 64-31. Although they lost to Upper Merion, outstanding junior Rich Maxwell scored two firsts in the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard backstroke. Maxwell later went on to win first place at both the district and state swim meets in the 50-yard free style.

The mermen also broke several school records. Bob Shoemaker, captain, lowered the previous 2:00.3 time for the 200-yard freestyle to 1:59.2. Shoemaker, with Maxwell, Dan Peoples, and Ed Bartle, also set a new school record of 1:38.1 in the 200-yard freestyle; and Bill Frick posted a new low time in the 400-yard freestyle. With a number of good sophomores and juniors on the team, the swimmers look forward to a better season in 1966.

Led by Rick Ruf, one of the most consistent wrestlers, the team showed excellent collective effort throughout the season although it possessed no district champions.

After opening the season with a victory over Harrington and a loss to Upper Darby, the team exploded to shut out Interboro 58-0. A week later, Bill Fantini placed third; and Fred Weaver, second, in the Upper Darby Christmas Tournament. Jim Mastrilli led the team in first-period pins, scoring five during the season. At the winter sports' awards assembly, Rusty Smith received the Joe Ponzo Award for displaying above average ability, leadership, and character. The team looks forward to another good season next year although its ranks will be depleted in the heavier weight classes.

Volleyball Team Clinches District Championship

Completely revamped, volleyball team earned its second consecutive PIAA District I championship by outspiking Souder-ton, 15-5 and 15-8. Coached by Mr. Ted Keyser, the men advanced to the district playoffs as champions of the Southern Division of District I.

Playing in the state championships at Penn State, Haverford captured fifth place. With teamwork and skill, the spikers beat Washington Vocational H. S., fourth place finishers, 15-9 and 15-10. However, lack of height proved fatal as the team lost to Meadville H.S., second place winners, 9-15, 12-15, and to the 1965 state champion, Penn Hills, 11-15, 15-11, 10-15.

With only two seniors graduating, prospects are bright for a third championship team next year.

BOYS' BOWLING

Showing the surge in the popularity of bowling, Boys' Bowling this year became a letter sport for the first time. Haverford's keggers, coached by Mr. Gwinn, bowled many strikes and spares. Led by Bill Winkler, Larry Yates, and Dennis Ward, the Fords won the Suburban I Championship for the second straight year. Spurred by the tenth-place performances of Dave Allen and Larry Yates, the team captured second place in the city's championship tournament. Bill Winkler and Dave Allen knocked down the most pins during the regular season as the Fords won 71 and lost 9 of their matches.

Golfers Open Season With Victory

GOLF

After spring rains brought back green to the fairways, the golf team teed off for the 1965 season. With three returning lettermen—Carl Everett, Brian Dorfman, and John Bear, and new starters, Dave Yerger and Walter Hays—Haverford golfers rolled over Lower Merion 9-6 in the first match of the season and followed this win with a second 8-7 victory over Radnor. A number of promising underclassmen should form a strong base for next year's team.

Trackmen Meet Stiff Competition

TRACK

With the return of a strong nucleus of six lettermen, Track Coach William Jackson transformed speed, skill, and stamina into points and victories.

Fords scored their greatest successes in field events. For the first time in years, the triple jump was added to provide additional challenge for field-events men. In the shot put, Tim Milligan and Pete Lorenz tallied many points against other schools. High jumpers Larry Drake and Bill Pomeroy not only brought in many firsts and seconds but also added occasional points in broad and triple jumping while Fred Weaver stood pre-eminent in pole vaulting.

Senior Andy Collins and junior Bill Waters, best distance men, scored consistently in the two mile and mile, also bringing in points as part of distance medley team. With several other returning juniors, the team looks forward to 1966.

BASEBALL

In baseball, success depends to a large extent on strong pitching. However, only two returning pitchers, Rick Taylor, and Gary Stepler, manned the mound corps at the beginning of the season. To strengthen the team, Coach John Edelman, a former major leaguer, used underclassmen Tom Waddell, Jan Sachs, and Phillip Israel.

Catcher Bob Keyser and 1964 All-Suburban third baseman John Ward led the team as co-captains. Another returning letterman, Nick Settanni, guarded second base.

Haverford opened the Suburban I season with an 8-5 victory over Chester. However, the Red and Gold was unable to maintain their good start as they lost to Lower Merion 3-8, Marple-Newton 2-4, and Norristown 2-9.

Lacrosse Is No Game For Sissies

LACROSSE

Built around All-State lacrosse men Rick Ruf and Gerry Curtin, and five other lettermen, the varsity lacrosse team derived satisfaction and competition from a schedule which included teams from Swarthmore, Penn, and Drexel.

Coaches Robert Shapley and John Scott blended the defensive talents of Rich Koshgerian and the scoring talents of Rick Ruf, Tom Truax, John Callender, and John Echterling into early season victories over Lower Merion, 6-1, and Harriton, 11-4, although they later dropped a game to Hill School, 4-2. With many lettermen graduating, the team faces a strong challenge in rebuilding the squad next year.

"Cradle!" and "check!"—familiar cries to members of the girls' lacrosse team—once again echoed across the field as practice began with drills, wind sprints, and calisthenics.

Coached by Misses Eleanor Harrison and Betty Lou Murphy, the team followed co-captains Martha Berry and Marlene Zoellner to an 8-5 triumph after a trying battle with Harriton.

In the Upper Darby contest, Judy Keers and Jane Martindale, along with teammates Sharon Freilich and Cheryl Stewart, formed an extremely strong attack squad. While goalie Terry Lee valiantly defended the Haverford net and foiled Purple and Gold scoring, the offense drove in goal after goal to smash Upper Darby, 14-2, in another step towards their successful season. Returning varsity underclass players should contribute to a fine team next year.

Boys Take League Tennis Title

Three experienced lettermen led this year's tennis team, coached by Mr. George Leute and Mr. Raymond Ozehoski, to an enviable position in suburban tennis competition. Terry Hershey and Barry Hart, along with underclassmen Steve Papp and Mike Pierce, played singles as the top four on the team. Milt Jenkinson and Mike O'Connell, doubles players, completed the sextet. Hopes for next year are bright with four underclassmen in the first six.

GIRLS' TENNIS

With Phyllis Plotnick the only returning letter-winner, first-year coach Miss Paula Edwards faced the difficult task of rebuilding girls' tennis. Kathy Slott, Lynn Talley, Ineke Hoogendoorn, Stephanie Lusak, Lynne Goodstein, Carole Udin, and Dulcie Fineberg, strong J.V. "raquetteers" of 1964, quickly filled the remaining seven varsity positions. Although losing to strong Norristown and Lower Merion teams in the first two matches, the squad steadily improved skills, teamwork, and scoring as the season progressed. With four juniors on the varsity, the team looks forward to improving greatly in 1966.

After six hours of academic work, late afternoon finds school citizens devoting their attention and creative energy toward the establishment of a lively social community. Students busily exercise their creative talents as they transform the stage into a city for the Senior Play, sing in the Hootenanny, and perform in the All-School Show and Music Night. Other social highlights — Junior Prom, Senior Prom, and Christmas Ball — further illustrate the social activities of HHS.

"Magic Mill"

Enchants Juniors

After weeks of feverish planning, Junior Prom finally became reality on the night of May 24, 1964. Inspired decorators transformed the gym into a Dutch country scene, using a tulip-bedecked windmill to portray the "Magic Mill" theme. Under streamers of red and pink crepe paper, formally-dressed couples danced 'til midnight to music by Eddie Stewart's band. Crowning of Prom Queen Joanne Buchakjian, surrounded by court members Sara Bent, Rita Calvy, Jan Shaffer, and Marlene Zoellner, climaxed the evening, a memorable one in the social life of Class of 1965.

"Beggar On Horseback" Gallops to Success

Consistently popular since its 1924 premiere, Beggar on Horseback, 1965 Senior Class play, became the first senior play to run three paying performances. Written by the dynamic duo of George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly, Beggar is a rollicking and sprightly comedy about struggling composer Neil McCrea, portrayed by Jeff Carter, who is faced with the choice of marrying for love or for money. Bobbi Borisch played Cynthia Mason, whom Neil loved; and Judy Wagner acted the part of Gladys Cady whose rich family would provide financial support for Neil's musical career. Dream sequences illustrating the consequences of each decision give the play its title from the nursery rhyme "If wishes were horses, then beggars would ride . . ." Audiences witnessed a satire full of innovations and barbed shafts aimed at typical tycoons and American Big Business. Production, ably handled by Director H. Robert Shisler and Assistant Ann Curvan, assisted by Stage Crew, featured music, dancing, and its own newspaper, The Froggion, a parody of the school newspaper.

"Old-Fashioned Christmas" Provides Theme

December 29, 1964

"An Old-Fashioned Christmas," highlight of the winter social season at Haverford, provided Fords and alumni with an excellent chance for socializing and renewing old acquaintances. The SC Social Committee, directed by Mr. William Wiley, erected the glittering Yuletide tree and other decorations which dominated the gym. Students and alumnae danced away the evening to the music of "an old grad," George Young, and his band. Christmas Ball, owing partly to good weather, drew a near-record crowd of over five hundred people.

ALL SCHOOL SHOW

Take Time Out, Haverford's 1965 All School Show, scored a hit with students and parents in two sellout performances, March 12 and 13. Directed by Terry Lee and Jeff Carter and sponsored by Mrs. Ulmer, Miss Gilbert, and Mr. Scott, the show grossed over $1800 for the school's John F. Kennedy Memorial Scholarship Fund. While hundreds of happy Fords enjoyed the production, seventy-five performers were having an equally good time preparing a memorable evening of entertainment. A few of the highlights of the show were songs by Alan Corona, Barbara Findeison and Janis Stewart; a comedy routine by Bill Paul and Gary Bullock; and an unusual, energetic rendition of "The Jolly Green Giant" by a group of seniors.

Emerald Ball Climaxes Social Season

SENIOR BALL

Following the "yellow brick road," seniors passed into the enchanted land of Oz for the "Emerald Ball" April 3, 1965. Upon entering the gym, upperclassmen were transported to the Emerald City, created by "wizard" Bill Cantwell and "sorceress" Gail Baker, co-chairmen of the decorations committee, and of other enthusiastic "sorcerer's apprentices."

Crossing the threshold, couples were greeted by the prom committee chairmen and class officers. Green, blue, and lavender streamers formed a canopy whose center was a colorful cluster of large balloons. Formally-dressed couples spent a crowded, sociable evening dancing to the music of Mike Pedicin's band, and talking with friends and returning alumni. Many also had their pictures taken in color as a lasting token of their visit to Oz. All too soon, though, the magic spell of Oz lifted and couples left the Emerald Ball, taking with them many pleasant recollections of a memorable evening.

Norman Manno, Gail Baker, and Bruce Konze greet Linda Babcock and Steve Baker.

Underclass years of a student, a period of adjustment to high-school life and work, serve also as preparation for future careers. Drexel Tests, scholarship qualifying tests, and medical examinations measure students mentally and physically while a wide choice of curriculum expands student horizons. Most important, these two years in the school community provide underclassmen with the knowledge and experience necessary to become successful, responsible seniors.

Making the transition from junior to senior high, sophomores quickly adapt to demands placed upon them and become an integral part of their school community.

After initial amazement over the greenhouse, student-operated radio station, and melange of cryptic club abbreviations (FSA, WWW, FNC, NHS), the Class of '67 began to participate actively in various phases of school life.

Academically, sophomores find an increased freedom in choice of curriculum. Choosing from a wide variety of majors and minors, they lay the foundation for future careers. World history and literature broaden tenth grade horizons while splint, bandage, and other first aid instruction teach them to help themselves and others. Whatever sophomores do socially, academically, and extra-curricularly forms the first step on the three-year trail to graduation.

Juniors Develop Initiative

Bill Waters paces far ahead of field in cross-country meet.

As senior members of the community retire, citizens turn to their younger members for leadership. Thus, Haverford surveys its junior class members for potential senior leaders. This year is one of growing responsibility and participation. Juniors are well prepared for their future roles by many organizations and clubs for students with special interests.

Many members of the Class of '66 participated in the All School Show. On a memorable May evening, juniors entered a new and enchanting world of social life at their Prom. They also found a more puzzling and demanding world in College Boards, PSAT, and the Drexel Aptitude Tests.

Juniors willingly accepted their increased responsibility as they began the long, hard search for the ideal college and career.

"Now turn it to the left past the first number," suggests Bob Slawter to Australian exchange student David Irvine.

Richard Diradourian displays originally designed airport which won first prize in the 1965 Model Building Competition sponsored by the General Building Contractors' Association.

To Foresee A Memorable Senior Year

Jim Ward purchases nourishment from World Wide Workshop girls between halves of grueling basketball rooting session.

Students flood outdoors on warm February day for monthly fire drill.

Upon graduation, equipped with a sound education, the members of the class of '65 set forth on divergent paths. Some will continue their formal education, others may seek employment or become members of the Armed forces. For all, participation in the high school community will have played an important part in making them better citizens, prepared for whatever the future may offer.

"Soon all too soon, our school-day joys are gone for Commencement exercises."

"Graduating Seniors march into gym"

Graduation— A Goal and A Gateway

As members of the Class of 1965 march forward to strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," they think back to conquered frontiers, solved problems, numerous friendships, and the many unforgettable experiences which they have had. GREY-STONES 1965, the biography of three invaluable years, ends, but the story it tells does not. These pages are only a beginning, an introduction to a gigantic book with all its pages yet to be filled. As these students leave, better prepared and more matured, they take with them this introduction as a lasting memory of Haverford Senior High School.

Attentive seniors ponder thoughts of valedictory address on Commencement Night.

Junior ushers view themselves a year hence.

Loraine Berardi views the symbol of twelve years of learning — her diploma.

"Honor, truth . . ." Presented by the Class of '64, this bronze replica of the school seal imbedded in the lobby floor serves as a farewell emblem to the class of '65.
